Detectives In Bunco Report Put In Uniform

PLAINCLOTHES MEN TO WATCH RESIDENCES

Mayor and Council Are Asked by Police Board Not to Abolish the Detective Department.

The greatest shakeup in the history of the detective department came last night when eight of its members, headed by Lieutenant R. L. Waggoner, were transferred to the uniformed force, and the chief of the police department was given authority to put in plain clothes as many men as he pleased, who are now doing patrol duty in the residential sections.

Included in the list of men who will be returned to the uniformed ranks are four who were charged in the majority report of the special councilmanic bunco committee with incompetency—Lieutenant R. L. Waggoner, E. L. Arthur, R. E. Whatley and O. R. Jones. The other four men transferred were not mentioned in the report. They are: W. F. Harper, L. D. Cody, J. O. Moseley and C. E. Ford.

The action was taken following a report of a special investigating committee of the board, which met in the afternoon, and prepared eight recommendations for the good of the department, all of which were adopted.

Try to Save Department.

Chief among those recommendations was one addressed to the mayor and council asking that the proposed plan to abolish the detective department be abandoned.

In addition to this recommendation, which was passed, others adopted follow:

That a sergeant be placed in charge of traffic patrolmen, and have their selection in his own hands, although at all times he will be under the supervision of the chief of police.

That detectives be furnished with free car tickets, and not have to pay, as they do at present, from their own pockets, and collect from the department later.

That patrolmen in residential sections be allowed to wear plain clothes, at the discretion of the chief, during the evening and morning watches.

That municipal cars in the service of the police and detective departments be unmarked. All city cars are now marked "City of Atlanta."

That a private branch telephone exchange be established for the detective department.

Abolish Day Lieutenant.

Another recommendation, which was adopted, called for the abolishment of the office of day lieutenant of the detective department, a position held by T. D. Shaw, who is now under suspension, following his indictment by the grand jury as the result of the bunco probe.

As for Lieutenant Waggoner, he was taken off regular duty as lieutenant of the detective force several days ago and put in charge of a special squad of plain-clothes men who have been working at night in an effort to round up burglars and liquor peddlers.

There was strong opposition to the plan to transfer the eight detectives. Commissioner Barrett asked, "Why reduce Moseley and Cody, whom I know are as good as any detectives in the department? Look at their records and see if they will not compare with those of any other member of the department."

Commissioner Stradley contended that such a resolution was interfering with the authority of the heads of the departments. "Do we know more about the ability of individual detectives than their own bosses?" he inquired. "I don't believe we are as well qualified to deal with the qualities of individual detectives as are the chiefs. I think it fit that we should let the chiefs handle this matter."

Matter Is Settled.

Commissioner McClelland, however, ended the discussion by declaring that the special committee had conferred with the heads of the departments in making its choice of the men to be transferred. "They will not be reduced," he stated, "they will merely be transferred and will draw the same pay."

Commissioner Vaughn, chairmen of the commission and a member of the investigating committee, declared during the argument that "we did the best we could. We

MOVIE EXHIBITORS ARE ASKEDTO BAR ARBUCKLE FILMS

Exhibitors in Atlanta will be requested not to show pictures of "Fatty," Roscoe Arbuckle, until the case now pending against him for his alleged part in the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress, in San Francisco, has been settled, according to resolutions passed Tuesday by the board of review, a committee from the trustees of the Carnegie library.

The resolutions request that they hold such picturs as they have under contract in abeyance until after the courts of California have made a decision on the situation. Announcement of this action was made Tuesday afternoon after a meeting of the board, E. L. Harling, local real estate man, heads the body.

Leading exhibitors have already announced that they would not show these pictures, taking this action without waiting for outside suggestion.

SCHOOLS TO FACE DISASTER IF BONDS FAIL, SAYS SUTTON

WILL HAVE HARD TIME DURING PRESENT YEAR

Attendance Gains 14,000 in Eight Years, With Only Five New Buildings Erected, Says Sutton.

Unless the bond issue of $8,850,000 is validated by supreme court action and a building program is begun immediately, the Atlanta school system faces disaster in 1922, since the present attendance of more than 34,000, with a certain prospect of 36,000 by Christmas, has taxed every possible inch of accommodations and will force hard sledding during the coming year to avoid double sessions.

This is the opinion voiced Tuesday by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, who says that every effort is still being put forth to present the necessity of double sessions in the grade schools. He believes that the extra sessions may be avoided by hard work and care, but states that more portable additions can be used if the finance committee of council sees fit to provide them.

Must Have More Facilities.

"Atlanta can not possibly get through another year with the present school facilities," declared Mr. Sutton Tuesday afternoon after viewing the reports from principals, showing the manner in which the attendance is already mounting above that of last year. "Eight years ago there were 20,000 pupils in the Atlanta schools and at the present time there are more than 34,000 with 36,000 inevitable by Christmas. During the eight years

Howling of Wolf Disturbs Slumber Of Panthersville

Beast Takes Toll of Eleven Hogs Before Meeting His Fate.

Cash and carry, roll your own, and automobile storage, are some of the methods used in effete Atlanta for keeping the wolf from the door, but at Panthersville, just 12 miles away from the safe and pacific network of Five Points, they have to do it with shotguns.

That may sound fishy to you older skeptics, and it may serve to make the blood of fine little children and awful little tea-hounds to curdle, but it's facts. You've heard of Panthersville before, but not in this wise.

You didn't know that the farmers hearkened at night to the baleful moan of wolves. You didn't know that ten full-size, greasy hogs had been felled by the weight of one of these howling monsters and torn to sausage by his long and pointed fangs.

A farmer from that section put away his shotgun for a few hours Tuesday and came into Atlanta to tell about it. They're hunting

WITNESSES DIFFER ON WRECK CAUSE AT LONG HEARING

SAW FLASH, FIREMAN TELLS INVESTIGATORS

Hearing of the probe into the cause of the freight wreck on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, 8 miles from Atlanta, last Wednesday, was recessed at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon until 9 o'clock Wedensday morning by the joint state and federal commission, after witnesses offered by the railroad had testified that the wreck was unquestionably caused by an explosion, while witnesses offered by organized labor unions testified that the wreck was caused by a loose wheel on the forward truck of the engine.

The session lasted nearly eight hours, with Chairman C. M. Candler presiding. The state commission appointed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick consisted of Chairman Candler, William P. Turner, machinist of the Georgia railroad shops, and Woods Hudson, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Car Locomotive company. By agreement, W. J. Patterson, representing the interstate commerce commission, and his assistants sat with the state commission.

Score of Witnesses.

More than a score of witnesses were offered by the railroad to prove the contention that dynamite or other high explosive was the cause of the wreck. Representatives of the machinists' union and other labor organizations, headed by Attorney Carl Hutcheson, offered five witnesses late Tuesday afternoon and, at the conclusion of the Tuesday session, announced that twenty or thirty witnesses would appear at the hearing when it is resumed at 9 o'clock Wednesday in the senate chamber at the capitol.

Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, chief counsel representing the railroad, announced that he was ready to rest his case with the exception of the testimony of one important witness whom he did not name, but who, he said, would be present at the session Wednesday. He said that the railroad might introduce other witnesses Wednesday.

Direct testimony of eyewitnesses was introduced by the railroad to snow that the wreck was caused by an explosion. A negro brakeman, Adam Wilson, and Sonny Powers, fireman on the wrecked train, swore that an explosion was the cause of the wreck. Both testified they heard the explosion. Powers, the fireman, who is just out of the hospital, testified he saw the flash of the explosion underneath the front truck of the train.

State Chemist Testifies.

Dr. W. C. Dumas, former state chemist, testified he made an examination of bits of earth he found at the scene of the explosion and his analysis showed that the explosion was caused by chlorate of potassium and sugar fired by a dynamite detonator. Dr. Dumas testified he found a piece of copper wire and specimens of paraffin paper and tin foil in alternate layers and other evidence to show that an explosion caused the wreck.

Attorney Hutcheson, representing the unions, offered witnesses who said they had examined the wreck and were firm in the belief that a loose wheel on the front truck had left the train. They declared it would have been impossible for an explosion to have blown this wheel off without hurting or destroying the cylinder head of the engine. Witnesses who testified to this belief were W. T. Tipman, machinist; J. S. Price, car repairer; W. A. Love, instructor of machinists at Camp Jessup; J. W. Fretwell, former machinist, and Alden Bruce, car repairer.

All of the witnesses were questioned by Inspector Patterson, representing the interstate commerce commission, while many were questioned also by the three members of the state commission. A large crowd of railroad employees and members of the Machinists' union were present.

Mechanical Testimony.

Nearly all of the testimony introduced by both sides was of a technical nature relating to various parts of a locomotive, to methods used in railroad shops in making repairs, to methods used in track repairs and inspections, to tests applied to materials, to inspections of trains and engines, to effects of explosives on trucks, axles and other parts of locomotives, and to the explosive velocity necessary to cause a wreck like the one that occurred Wednesday.

"Sonny" Powers, negro fireman on train 102, was the only witness to testify that he actually saw the

DeKalb Jurors Act in Role of Solomon And Then Raise Purse for Baby's Parents

They had a fine Solomonical row out in Decatur yesterday. Wails and cpos of embattled infantile litigants were heard through the DeKalb county courthouse until smothered into silence by the fervency of the oratory of William Schley Howard, who spoke so learnedly on eugenics and baby culture that a jury not only acquitted his clients charged with cruelty to children, but gave them $9 to boot to aid in the future care of the infant in quea-tion.

Here is the story: John R. Lewis and his wife, Helen Lewis, late last year adopted a baby 3 weeks old and weighing four and a half pounds. The statistics are important. Don't overlook them. The infant is now 9 months old. Lewis was a soldier in France and until recently a sergeant at Camp Gordon. He and his wife and his progeny by adoption continue to live on the abandoned reservation.

There also abides Sergeant Roy Bennett and his wife, Mrs. Janie Bennett, and it would seem that something like internicine strife broke out between these soldierly families. The Bennetts accussed the Lewises of maltreating the child, or rather of not treating the child at all. They asserted that, when the Lewises went out motoring, they would always take their dog, but would leave the infant to his own devices.

This charge was repeated to Ordinary George, of DeKalb, after the Bennetts had taken charge of the child during the absence of his foster parents. The Bennetts were told to continue to keep the child and furthermore both the Lewises were indicted by the DeKalb grand jury. The case was tried Tuesday.

To show just how the child had suffered from lack of care, the attorneys for the Bennetts introduced in evidence a 7-months-old baby, much larger and huskier than the 9-months-old infant in question. This drew voluble protests from William Schley Howard. He quoted authorities on eugenics. "Suppose this second baby's father and mother are large and powerful people?" asked Schley. "What would this baby prove? Nothing."

He demanded that the father and mother be introduced in evidence. They proved to be Sergeant John Pounds, who is excellently named, he weighing 256 pounds avoidupois, while Mrs. Pounds is near the 200 mark herself.

This exhibit seemed to impress the jurors, for shortly thereafter they returned a verdict of acquittal and took up a collection for the Bennetts, and $9 is $9, even in this day and time.

Babies who were compared before Judge John B. Hutcheson, in court at Decatur, Tuesday, to prove that a seven-months'-old baby, properly nourished, is larger than a nine-months'-old baby who is neglected. The unique comparison arose in a case charging Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lewis with cruelty to children. The baby was taken from the Lewis' and given in the custody of Mrs. Roy Bennett, of Camp Gordon. In the picture, left to right, are Mrs. John H. Pound, and her seven-months'-old baby, Frances Marie Pound, and the nine-months'-old baby, formerly in possession of the Lewis', in the arms of its adopted mother, Mrs. Roy Bennett, The husky man underneath is Sergeant John H. Atlanta Expeditionary Forces Of 1921 Return From Europe

Bring Startling Raiment From Fashion Fields

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.

Every member of the A. E. F. of 1921 is back home, more or less dizzy after finding Peachtree street to be just about the same, after having tripped over the Boulevard des Italianes, Piccadilly Circus and Via Appia and way points for the past three months. Incidentally, the A. E. F. of 1921 has interesting things to relate about Europe in general and something startling in the way of raiment to show Atlanta about Paris in particular.

If you don't happen to understand military terminology, let it be here recorded that the A. E. F of 1921 is the abbreviation for the Atlanta Expeditionary Forces of the current year, and was marshaled by Mrs. John T. North, as the first contingent of Atlanta girls to brave the boulevards since it was fashionable to cross the seas in cattle boats and Red Cross uniforms. The members of the expedition were Marion Stearns, Alice Stearns, Nellie Dodd, Dorothy Dodd, Nell Sims, Wilmotine Perdue and Francis Tschopik. Then Harry Stearns, Jr., and Harry Bewick made the trip and saw the sights and maybe saw more sights than the girls, but if they tell of what they saw it is for private and intimate conversation and has no place in this narrative.

The girls began drifting back last week and when the Misses Stearns arrived Monday the whole contingent was back safely and all the members could begin talking, which it is needless to record—they did.

Like the members of that other A. E. F., these girls are a bit leary about relating the incidents of their journey. "Oh, just the usual round of churches, and castles, and ruins, and lakes, and montains, and shops, and battlefields," they'll tell you, accompanied by the very pertinent question, "but how could anything thrilling happen to just a group of sight-seeing girls being carried about under the watchful and instructive guidance of Cook?"

Spectacular Dash by Air.

And then in the same breath, they'll modestly admit that there was a rather spectacular dash, from Amsterdam to London in a Fokker plane, piloted by a Dutchman, with a gallant Spanish cabalerro as an escort, and a rather interesting interview with a lady who had violated Parisian convention by spending six weeks in the harem of the maharajah of Somethingerother, just to find out what harem life was like, you know And then there was a perfect dear—I believe that's what they called him of a customs officer, who let in a lot of gowns at a ridiculously low price and wasn't a bit anxious to inspect the luggage of the A. E. F., and a few other things, which indicated that the trip might not have been altogether so prosaic as the girls would depict it no w that they are back on the parental front porch.

"I have never known, though, that there were so many Americans in the world as there are in Europe right now," said Miss Alice Stearns. "When we landed in Naples we saw them in droves. I heard more English than Italian spoken in Rome and all through Switzerland, Holland and France. It was the most difficult thing in the world to picture that there was anybody back home making the United States travel in its accustomed orbit. It seemed that everybody was on the other side."

"We had no trouble in the world with languages until we reached England," chimed in Marion Stearns "Alice couldn't make the cockney girls understand her English. I must have spoken better cockney than Alice, for even in England, I could make my English understood."

"What dukes, lords, marquises, peers of the realm, ci-devant princes, baronets or belted earls followed in your train and may be expected in Atlanta this winter?" I asked.

What Was Her Title?

"Well, one time, we thought that we were going to see a princess," said Miss Stearns, "but something went wrong with her schedule or ours and we had to go out and look at a mountain instead. But we did see and talk to a lady who had been in a harem of a maharajah. I don't know ex-

STABBING VICTIM EXPECTED TO DIE

Two Soldiers Held by Police, After Jim Argo Falls Victim to Six Knife Wounds.

Jim Argo, a taxicab driver and mechanic, who for the past two weeks has been living at the Broadway hotel, 41-2 Broad street, is in Grady hospital in a critical condition from six knife wounds.

Two soldiers from Camp Jessup, C. Glenn and Ruben Tibbs, both aged 20, are in a cell at police headquarters charged with being drunk and stabbing. Physicians at Grady hospital state that Argo is not expected to live.

Police assert that the two soldiers, apparently intoxicated, entered the lobby of the hotel, on the second floor of the building it occuples, shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday night, and lounged about the lobby.

Tibbs approached Argo, seated reading in the lobby, and asked him for a match, and Argo replied that he did not have one. Tibbs withdrew, and soon afterwards Glenn approached Argo and asked for a match. When told that he did not have a match, Glenn, it is charged, struck Argo in the mouth with his fist.

Argo stood up, and in the struggle that ensued Argo and the two soldiers went down the stairs. About ten minutes later Argo was found lying in Marietta street, just around the corner from Broad, suffering from six knife wounds.

The two soldiers were seen running by Patrolmen Cole and Cartwright, who arrested them. Arthur Green, aged 19, a negro porter employed at the hotel, is held at police headquarters as a material witness. He is said to have seen the soldiers running.

REPEAL OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX SET FOR JANUARY, 1922

Senate Committee Denies Mellon Proposal and Supports House Bill Provisions on Tax.

PRESIDENT MUST PAY SALARY INCOME TAX

Many Changes Made in House Bill—Road Expenses of Salesmen Not Exempt.

BY JOHN GLEISSNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, September 13.—The senate finance committee definitely has decided that the repeal of the excess profits tax shall be made effective January 1, 1922.

This means the tax will apply during the current year.

The committee, in reaching this decision, concurs in the provisions of the tax bill as passed by the house. It repudiates the recommendations of the administration, made through Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, that the repeal be made retroactive to January 1, 1921.

The argument for retention of the tax is that the year has so far advanced that the tax already has been passed along to the ultimate consumer, and that its repeal at this late date would be of no benefit to the taxpayer.

Republicans United.

Republicans on the committee were united in favor of the repeal for 1922, with the exception of Senator Lafollette, of Wisconsin; Senators Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Calder, of New York, and perhaps others, favored making the repeal retroactive, but when the vote came it was unanimous from the majority. Democratic members of the committee refrained from voting.

Other important decisions of the finance committee include the following:

Imposition of a 15 per cent tax on corporations, instead of 12 1-2 per cent tax as the house bill provides, effective January 1, 1922.

Repeal of the capital stock tax, effective July 1, 1922.

President Must Pay.

Elimination of the house provision exempting the salaries of the president and officers of the judiciary from the income tax.

Agreement on a clause compelling all persons having a gross income of $5,000 or more to file an income tax return. Whether the income is taxable or not.

Elimination of house provision allowing corporations to deduct from taxable income contributions made to charity.

Elimination of house exemption of $500 on income received from building and loan associations.

Other Acts Pending.

The important question of the transportation tax remains to be decided at a later meeting of the committee. Although it is indicated this tax will remain in effect as the house bill provides. In addition, there is virtual agreement that the taxes on express packages and the transportation of oil, repealed by the house, will be restored. These taxes would bring into the treasury about $30,000,444. It is indicated also that the tax on candy will be restored to 5 per cent from the 8 per cent to which it was reduced by the lower chamber. The tax on tobacco will probably be left as it is, although this is regarded as a source of revenue that can be tapped if there is need.

According to Senator Penrose, committee chairman, the bill will be completed by Friday, giving specialists an opportunity to prepare it for presentation to the senate.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, meantime, has been asked for specific information on economies, so the expected yield may be made to agree with expenditures. At present, the bill is being designed to bring in $3,200,000,000, a figure somewhat under that contemplated by the house.

WOMAN MAY LIVE AFTER POISON DOSE IN POLICE STATION

After drinking about half a bottle of lysol in the matron's ward at police headquarters at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. H. E. Meyers, who had earlier in the afternoon been fined $15 and costs in the recorder's court for disorderly conduct, and who was being held for transfer to the stockade for medical treatment, was rushed to Grady hospital, where physicians say she probably will recover. Mrs. Meyers, who states that her home is in Columbus, Ohio, had been living at a local hotel.

The bottle of lysol was struck from the woman's hands after she had drank half of its contents by a young woman named Mamie Williams, who was near her at the time. Mrs. Meyers' face and hands were burned by the fluid as the bottle was struck from her mouth.

TESTIMONY GIVEN SEEMS FAVORABLE FOR THE DEFENSE

WOMAN ENTERED ROOM FIRST, SAYS WITNESS

Mrs. Delmont Also Repudiates Implication That Arbuckle Tore Clothes. Lehrman Is Named.

San Francisco, September 14. An indictment charging Roscoe C. Arbuckle with manslaughter, in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, was voted late last night by the San Francisco county grand jury.

San Francisco, September 13.—Two of the blackest charges against Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, film comedian, in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, picture actress, were repudiated in testimony before the coroner's inquest here Tuesday.

Mrs. Jean Jameson, nurse, whose affidavit was the primary cause for the charge of murder against Roscoe Arbuckle, film comedian, in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, movie actress, late Tuesday gave evidence before the coroner's jury which attorneys for the actor declare will insure his acquittal.

She testified that Miss Rappe told her before she died that she did not know whether she had been assaulted or not, and that she had been suffering for six weeks from an ailment.

Together with this testimony, Mrs. Bambino Maud Delmont, another member of the party, repudiated former statements that she had seen Arbuckle drag the woman to his room, and that Miss Rappe had told her that he had torn her clothes from her body.

Charges to Fail.

Al Semnacher, manager for Miss Rappe, also gave testimony favorable to Arbuckle.

The turn of the coroner's inquest and the failure of the county grand jury to indict Arbuckle on the available evidence indicate that the murder charge against him will fail.

Following a long conference between District Attorney Brady and Miss Zey Peyvron, who Monday night threw a bombshell into the grand jury session by reversing her testimony on certain important points regarding Arbuckle's "party," Brady called the grand jury into session again late Tuesday night.

The principal witnesses called were Miss Peyvron, who will attempt to clear up the contradictions in her previous testimony, and Miss Alice Blake, who Monday night could not be found when she was called to testify regarding her previous statements.

Sweetheart Responsible.

"Miss Rappe told me of her relations with a sweetheart and of an ailment from which she had been suffering," Mrs. Jameson testified. "She was very anxious that the party and what had occurred there be kept from Henry Lehrman, who, she said, would throw her down if he found it out.

"She said that she had been suffering for six weeks from internal trouble. She frequently asked me, 'What could have broken inside of me?' She asked me several times to determine if she had been assaulted. She said she was unconscious.

C. F. von HERRMANN,

her was that she was hysterical from a drunken party.

"At first she wouldn't tell me the truth about her condition. But when I was reluctant to believe that it was caused by what may have taken place in the room with Arbuckle, she told me the truth.

Planned to Sue Arbuckle.

"She asked me to be her witness if she sued Arbuckle for the money it would take to recover from her illness.

"'I am going to make Arbuckle pay for this because it is his fault,' she told me.

"Our case is won," said Attorney Charles Brennan for Arbuckle, as Mrs. Jameson left the stand.

Miss Vera Cumberland, who was employed as Miss Rappe's night nurse, was next called.

"The patient admitted to me that her relations with Arbuckle in the room had not been proper," she said. "She did not say whether her actions had been voluntary or involuntary.

Quarreled With Lehrman.

"She said that she had been living with Henry Lehrman for some time and that several months ago she and Lehrman had had a quarrel and that he had gone to New York. She was very anxious that what had happened be kept from him."

Miss Cumberland testified that she had had differences with Dr. Rumwell, who was attending Miss Rappe, because the doctor did not take certain tests, and that she had left the case.

Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont, who is the chief witness against Arbuckle and who filed the complaint charging him with the murder of the young woman, who died following a wild party in the corpulent actor's hotel suite, also repudiated statements she is said to have made.

In previous statements, Mrs. Delmont charged that Arbuckle dragged Miss Rappe into his room, and that the dying woman had told her that Arbuckle had torn her clothes from her body. Her testimony Tuesday did not bear out these charges.

Together with the refusal of the county grand jury to indict the comedian, the defense scored heavily during the day.

Woman Entered First.

"Virginia went into the bathroom and Roscoe followed her shortly after," she testified. "When they came out, Virginia went into the bedroom. Roscoe followed her. The door was locked.

"When they had been there for about 15 minutes I called to Virginia several times. I did not think it nice for her to be in there alone with Roscoe.

"There was no answer and I got angry and kicked the door with my French heels as hard as I could. There wasn't any answer.

"Then I got very angry and called Mr. Boyle, the hotel manager When he got there Roscoe opened the door.

Wearing Girl's Hat.

"He stood there in his pajamas which were wringing wet and clinging to him. He was wearing Virginia's hat.

"We all rushed in and saw Virginia lying on the bed tearing at her clothes and moaning that she was dying.

"We tried to revive her. I gave her a cold bath after she had been taken to another room."

This testimony was so at variance with affidavits made by Mrs. Delmont previously, that Coroner T. W. B. Leland cautioned her to "consider her statements well."

"Maybe I am leading you," he said at one point. "Sometimes people go to sleep and just say 'yes?'"

"Oh, I'm not asleep," Mrs. Delmont replied. "I've had a little hypodermic before I came here and I am all right."

Borrowed Pajamas.

She told of the "party" prior to the tragedy, of the liquor that was consumed, and the costumes of the persons present.

"I borrowed a pair of pajamas myself from Lowell Sherman and danced," she said.

Throughout the testimony of Mrs. Delmont, the comedian, whose visage denoted anything but comedy, kept his eyes glued on her every second, except for a word now and then with his attorneys. His face seemed ruddier than ever and his eyes were slightly bloodshot.

Al Semnacher, manager for Miss Rappe in her moving pictures, was called to the stand. Semnacher, admittedly the lightest drinker at the party, told of visiting Miss Rappe the day after the "gin jollification."

"It was the first I knew that anything was the matter with her except a little too much to drink," he testified. "'Roscoe hurt me,' she said to me."

Refused to Leave.

Semnacher testified that he had advised Miss Rappe at the party that if it was "getting too rough," that she had better go.

"She wouldn't leave," he stated.

The witness then identified the dead woman's clothing. It consisted of a green overwaist, green skirt and black lace garters.

"I took her clothing with me when I returned to Los Angeles as a joke," Semnacher testified. "I thought I would kid her about how wild she had been at the party the next time I saw her.

"Her skirt wasn't torn when I took it. The lace had been torn from the garters. Her stockings were torn to shreds, so I didn't take them.

"I don't know how Miss Rappe and Arbuckle got in the bedroom. I wasn't there then. I returned when Boyle (hotel manager) was called by Mrs. Delmont.

"Mrs. Delmont told me that Miss Rappe was in the other room suffering. I went in."

Didn't Even Wear Beads.

Evidence had been taken to show that the dead actress had worn a string of ivory beads.

"When you saw her with her clothes torn off when she was lying on the bed did she have on the beads?" asked Coroner T. B. W. Leland.

"No, she had absolutely nothing on, not even the beads," Semnacher replied.

Semnacher, in reply to questioning, said the party had been "very informal" all afternoon.

"It was just a party with a lot of clowning around and jokes and drinks," he said. "Arbuckle was the center of all the fun-making. We were having a royal good time, dancing and kidding and drinking. I never heard anything wrong while I was there.

At adjournment of the jury session, it was announced that Mrs. Delmont would be called again. The inquest may be continued for several days, it was stated by Coroner Leland, in order to complete the evidence.

State Charges Tampering.

During the day District Attorney Brady charged that Mrs. Sidiwirt Spreckles had given doctors permission to perform an unofficial autopsy on Miss Rappe's body. This unofficial autopsy, performed by Drs. M. E. Rumwell and William Ophuls, Brady declared, had hampered the prosecution. Mrs. Spreckles denied the charge.

"I don't even know what an autopsy is," she said. "In no sense can I be considered as having given permission to have one performed."

Mrs. Spreckles was one of the last to visit Miss Rappe before she died.

Miss Alice Blake, another member of the fatal "party," was brought to the inquest rooms while Mrs. Delmont was being questioned. According to District Attorney Brady, Miss Blake disappeared Monday night, shortly before the grand jury began taking evidence. Her disappearance, together with the complete reversal of the story of Miss Zey Pryvon, another member of the Arbuckle party, has led the prosecution to charge that the witnesses are being tampered with.

BROTHER DEFENDS ACCUSED COMEDIAN.

San Francisco, September 13.—Arthur C. Arbuckle Tuesday came to the defense of his brother, "Fatty," charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, movie star.

"A lot of bad things are being said about Roscoe now," the brother, who is an electrician here, said. "I will let them pass now, but when all these charges are proved false, I will have my inning with those who are slandering my brother.

"One of the most despicable features of the attacks on Roscoe are the slurs against his father—my father. I never saw my father drunk in my life. Neither have I ever seen Roscoe drunk."

Arthur Arbuckle is the opposite of his brother. He is tall, slightly slim and has gray hair.

NEILAN RESENTS QUICK CONDEMNATION.

Chicago, September 13.—The black eye given Hollyood, the famous motion picture colony, as a consequence of the escapades of a comparative few, was deplored by Marshall Neilan, motion picture director, who passed through here Tuesday on his way to New York to attend a conference.

"It is an injustice to the thousands of hard-working film people there," he said. "The residents of Los Apgeles themselves have been unfair in their criticism of the picture people."

Neilan expressed resentment at the public's repudiation of "Fatty" Arbuckle, under arrest in San Francisco on the charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe.

"It was the public that made 'Fatty,'" he said. "It was the public that handed him its money. I am sorry the public did not stand by him at least until he was proved guilty. If Arbuckle committed the crime with which he is charged, it was the fault of bad liquor; and prohibition laws are to blame for bad liquor."

The famous director said he knew Arbuckle since the early days when he was in vaudeville. "He was the kindest man in the world," Neilan said. "He wouldn't have harmed a fly."

PRODUCERS ALARMED BY BAN ORDERS.

New York, September 13.—Ben Hampton, the Hollywood movie director and incidental publicist, will find no strong support in New York for his censorship and regulation of the private conduct of motion picture people, stars or otherwise.

"I'm not looking for any rotten publicity," said William A. Brady, president of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, here Tuesday afternoon, when asked whether he or the association would attempt to "clean up" the social life of Hollywood and the Long Island colony. Brady was informed that Hampton was undertaking to use public opinion as a whip on actors in Los Angeles whose "parties" are as famous as their films.

"Another thing," Brady added. "I live by the rule never to kick a man when he's down, as Arbuckle is, or to judge a man before he has been judged."

The association, which is the largest in the industry, including Adolph Zukor, William Fox, Brady and many other leading producers in its membership, probably will discuss next Friday the general effects, if any, of the Arbuckle case on the motion-picture business. Harried by censors who, in some states, have almost absolute powers over film investments of great value, the producers are alarmed by the arbitrary action of authorities in various cities in ordering Arbuckle's pictures suppressed. In New Jersey, for instance, without legal authority to suppress Arbuckle's work, a local commission frankly used its power to intimidate two producers who chose to test public sentiment by continuing to present one of the "Fatty" films.

Brady said he never participated in any "wild life" among movie people, and therefore wasn't an authority on the subject. Unofficially, the attitude of the association seemed to be that, except in cases of notorious misconduct, the private life of the movie actor is none of the public's business.

WITNESSES DIFFER ON WRECK CAUSE

flash of the explosion. He said Engineer Morris, who was killed in the wreck, was a careful man and courageous. He declared the engineer had just shown him a message instructing him to be careful and use every precaution on his run.

"I was reading this message when Adam Wilson, the brakeman, began joking with me about something going to happen. Adam asked me what I wanted him to tell my wife if I got killed. I was just getting ready to say something, and looked out and window a minute toward the front, when there was a sudden explosion. I saw a flash of red fire shoot out from under the left truck in the front of the engine. The engine then jumped along, and then bumped over toward the side. I was deafened by the explosion, and when I fell out of the engine I stumbled into a hole where the brakeman found me later," he said.

Explosion Was Louder.

Wilson said he was fireman on a train on the line that was wrecked near Cordele, Ga., in the spring, and that the explosion in the recent wreck was much louder and had more force to it.

Adam Wilson, the negro brakeman, who was in the cab at the time of the wreck, said he heard a loud explosion and that the engine jumped up and down two or three times.

"I don't know whether I jumped off the engine or not. All I know is, I found myself out in front of it when it was all over," he testified.

L. Wilson, special agent of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, introduced as evidence several slats from the pilot of the locomotive. He testified he picked up one of these slats 429 feet from the spot where the wreck occurred and two of them he said he picked up 400 feet distant. He also testified concerning the position of the front wheel of the "pony truck" and described a course he believed it took. He told of marks he found on the side of the cut to sustain his theory that the wheel was blown off by an explosion and could not have reached the position it was found in in any other manner. He testified all the brass part of the locomotive adjacent to the pony truck was blown away and that he had been unable to find any traces of it.

Dr. Dumas Testifies.

One of the features of the testimony produced by the railroad was the statement of Dr. Dumas, who declared the explosion was that of a mixture of chlorate of potassium with sugar fired by a dynamite detonator. He said he visited the scene of the wreck Thursday and found a hole in the roadbed which he said was made by the discharge of a high explosive. After examining the hole he took from it parcels of earth from twenty-five different places. These he examined in his laboratory, making an analysis of the contents of the parcels of earth.

In the hole which was about three feet in diameter and about eighteen inches deep he said he found fragments and splinters of crossties and other debris. In his analyses of the debris he said he found evidence of the presence of chloride, potash and burnt sugar. This combination produces a deadly explosive, which, however, is not used for commercial purposes, he testified. Microscopic examinations were made by Dr. Dumas, which showed beyond question, he testified, that a high explosive caused the wreck.

At the request of Attorney Arnold, Dr. Dumas gave a detailed statement of the manner in which the chemicals he described could produce an explosive of high power and gave various details of the evidence which caused him to form the opinion that the wreck beyond any doubt was caused by an explosion.

Heard an Explosion.

Conductor W. M. Ross, who was in charge of the wrecked train, testified he heard an explosion and that its shock was distinctly felt in the caboose, where he was at the time. He said he thought the train was being robbed and discharged his shotgun to warn robbers that he was armed and putting out his light made his way to the engine. He was emphatic in his statement that the engine was wrecked by a high explosive.

During the testimony of Conductor Ross a tilt between Attorney Arnold and Examiner Patterson arose. Examiner Patterson asked the conductor if he had an air gauge with him on the night of the wreck. Attorney Arnold objected to this question. Mr. Patterson then explained that he was not asking the question with any purpose to start a federal prosecution of the road. Chairman Candler then explained to Attorney Arnold that the commission is not sitting as a court but simply to elicit all information possible concerning the cause of the wreck.

Harry Huddleston, assistant superintendent of the Manchester-Birmingham division, testified the train was traveling under instructions to use every precaution as it was feared some one had tampered with the track. He told of hearing about the wreck at 9 o'clock Wednesday night. He went immediately to the scene with a wrecker and gave a detailed description of the wrecked train.

Witnesses for Machinists.

Attorney Hutcheson, who is assisted in the case by T. L. Slappey, former machinist but now a well-known lawyer of Atlanta, introduced several witnesses just before the conclusion of the Tuesday session. He stated he had not had much time to confer with witnesses but would have between twenty and thirty expert machinists on hand Wednesday to testify as to the causes of the wreck.

All of the witnesses introduced by Mr. Hutcheson testified that, in their opinion, the wreck was not caused by an explosion. J. W. Fretwell said he examined the wreck Thursday. He said he was not permitted to inspect the locomotive but examined the front wheel which was on the side of a cut some distance from the wreck. He expressed the firm opinion that the wheel was a "loose wheel" and that it came off the axle. He said he was of the opinion the train was running about 50 miles an hour.

W. A. Love, instructor of machinists at Camp Jessup, said he found grease in the inside of the wheel which confirmed his opinion that it was a "loose wheel." He said the grease could not have reached the inside of the wheel if the fit had been tight. He said it is possible to break a cast iron wheel with a sledge hammer and said if dynamite or other high explosive had been used it would have blown the wheel and axle to fragments before it would have blown the wheel off the axle, as contended by witnesses for the railroad.

J. S. Price and W. T. Tipman, both machinists, agreed that a "loose wheel" caused the wreck. Both declared it would be impossible to blow a wheel off an axle as stated by witnesses for the railroad without fracturing the axle or causing damage to adjacent parts of the locomotive. Under cross-examination Mr. Tipman admitted that his brother is one of the strikers on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic.

SUTTON SAYS SCHOOLS MAY FACE DISASTER

period, while the attendance has almost doubled, there have been only four or five buildings constructed. It can not last, that's all. "Validation of the bonds, so that the school money may begin to serve the purposes for which it was voted, and the immediate inception of an extensive building program—these are the only things which can save Atlanta the disgrace of being utterly unable to open the doors of her schools in the fall of 1922. I believe we can worry through this year and do good work, but we've reached the limit."

The most crowded condition, it was found after the second day had opened, exists in the grammar schools. Boys' High, with 605 enrolled, is in good shape; Girls' High, though crowded, with 1,154 pupils, can "manage," said Mr. Sutton; Tech High, having recently added a three-story building to its inadequate quarters, has accommodated its enrollment of 1,511, and Commercial High, with 1,165 enrolled, has only 40 vacancies with almost twice that many applications already in for admission.

The tabulated reports prepared Tuesday showed a total atendance of 34,098—this representing the high schools, the grade schools, the night schools and the Normal Training school. These figures include both white and colored institutions. The growth of attendance in the high schools, which is more pronounced than in the other schools, may force the board of education to rent extra buildings before the first term has expired, said Mr. Sutton. The finance committee will hold a meeting some time this week to consider the advisability of purchasing four more portable annexes for the grade schools to take care of the overflow.

Work in the grade schools began in earnest Tuesday morning after the patriotic exercises, which opened them. These exercises consisted of the singing of "America," raising of the flag, recital of the American creed and addresses to the children on the obligations of citizenship, as applied to them. These exercises are a part of the Amercanization program of the Georgia Parent-Teachers' association, and were the suggestion of Mrs. J. E. Andrews, chairman of that work for the state association.

Mr. Sutton stated that the increase in enrollment exceeded all anticipations, and indicated not only a marked increase in Atlanta's population, but an increased desire on the part of parents to provide their children with an education. Particularly is this noticeable in the high schools, he said, where the gain is still greater than in the grade schools.

Children on their way to school Tuesday morning, loaded down with their arms full of brand-new books, were kept orderly and safe in their crossings of crowded streets by the policemen detailed for this purpose, and no accidents were reported, although in the early morning hours many places in the city were fairly thronging with tots bound for their first day of school in its reality.

HOWLING OF WOLF DISTURBS SLUMBER

wolves in that neighborhood—or hunting a wolf, it doesn't matter which. Several negro women were attacked by a specimen of this sectionally obsolete animal a few nights ago and, but for the heroism of several negro men, equipped with heman shotguns, would have been torn to shreds—so they say.

The monster golf goes the thrilling episode, charged the posse of men who had dared death to finish his carnivorous career. Just as they remembered their history and saw the white of his wolish eyes just as he made his last powerful lunge for one of them—he got his body full of buckshot and died a quick death.

One is gone. But the people of the community aver that in the stilly hours of the night they still hear the weird cries of the pack, and people who walk the wooded ways in the light of the moon have heard the pad of stealthy feet and the crackle of sticks in the underbrush. Shotguns stand by the head of the bed, loaded with an extra charge. The sporting instinct of the plantationers there is up and the wolf is on the run.

So don't be too sure that those are cats you hear fighting in the back yard of your apartment house. Panthersville is not so far away, and wolves don't know anything about police protection. Others have managed to make their way from Panthersville to Atlanta, so why not a wolf?

Or Burn the Bridges.

Giant Is Led to Cell From Operating Room; Had Resisted Arrest

Six feet five inches in height and broad in proportion, hand-cuffed and with blood oozing between stitches in his torn scalp, M. T. Tunnington, charged with resisting arrest and suffering the consequences of such resistance, was late Tuesday night led from the operating room in Grady hospital to a cell at police headquarters. Tunnington gives his address as Cleveland, Ohio.

Tunnington's protests at his detention did not end even after he had been placed upon the operating table to be treated for the effects of his initial resistance. No sooner had his consciousness thrown off the fogs of the ether than he leaped from the operating table, police declare, and it was necessary that he be again subdued. It was not until then that the handcuffs were applied.

Call Officers McDaniel and Bullard Tuesday night answered a call from a restaurant near Bonaventure and Ponce de Leon avenues. Tunnington, they allege, was acting in a disorderly manner, and before his arrest, they assert, broke a quart bottle of liquor on the sidewalk. He would not submit to arrest until struck over the head with a black jack.

THREE ARE SHOT IN VAIN EFFORT TO FLEE PRISON

Jefferson City, Mo., September 13. Three of four convicts who attempted to escape from the state penitentiary at 10 o'clock today were shot by the guards. One is not expected to recover. All were brought back to the penitentiary.

The quartet attempted its getaway after knocking a guard and a shop foreman unconscious.

The four were employed in an overall factory. They are Joe Kenny, Dick Kennedy, Sam Taylor and Dan Hogan. Kenny was shot through the body and wounded dangerously.

Kennedy and Hogan were shot through the legs and Taylor was uninjured.

LOCAL BANK HELPS TO BOOST COTTON

Fourth National's Advertisement of Easy Loans Helped Rise in Futures in New York.

Advertisements of the Fourth National bank, of Atlanta, in state papers that it would advance 75 per cent of the market price in loans on all cotton in Georgia played a prominent part in the recent rise of futures in New York Tuesday, according to advices received last night. At the close, net gains of 41 to 58 points were registered in New York, while spot cotton in Atlanta was sent to 20 cents.

Following the decline, which was checked by the fluctuation rule Monday, cotton started for lower levels early Tuesday. After Liverpool had closed, the market in New York turned firm. Reports of continued poor weather conditions in the southwest and that an Atlanta bank was advertising loans on cotton on easy terms started the market upward again.

December sold up from 19.10 to 20.10, closing at 20.02. New Orleans followed to a large extent the course of the New York market during the early trading, bullish reports on crop conditions being in evidence during the noon trading. When the advance started in the Louisiana city, it continued until at the close net gains of 40 to 60 points had been registered.

AUCTION OF JOBLESS MAY INCLUDE WOMEN

New York, September 13.—Urbain Ledoux, also known as "Mer Zero," who auctioned off jobless men on Boston Common, said today he would hold a similar auction next Monday near the New York public library after a parade of the unemployed up Broadway. He said that not only would he put jobless men on the block, strip them to the waist and sell their services to the highest bidder, but that he also would auction off the services of any unemployed women who might apply.

Asked if his methods with women would be the same as with men, he said, "why, certainly, if necessary," and called attention to the modes of dress of women in Broadway musical comedies and on Fifth avenue.

"Mr. Zero" will lead the parade under an old umbrella, which he has decorated with red hearts and embellished with his motto, "Lift up your hearts." He will provide the hungry with coffee and doughnuts before putting them on the auction block.

'BLUE LAW' AUTHOR SENATE CANDIDATE

Nashville, Tenn., September 13.—Beginning an address to the democracy of Tennessee with the quotation "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets," Noah W. Cooper, of Nashville, champion of the proposed Sunday blue law, stopping numerous activities on the Sabbath, including trains and newspapers, today entered the race for the United States senate.

Sensatorial primaries will be held at the August election, 1922, with the election following in November. Mr. Cooper's is the first formal announcemen., though the candidacy of Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, whose successor is to be chosen, is assured. Former Governor M. R. Patterson has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

WILL URGE M'ELROY CAMP PLAN IN HOUSE

Efforts will be made to introduce the plan whereby world war veterans undergoing vocational training at Camp McElroy, at Lakewood, are supporting themselves and maintaining discipline under their own officials, into all fourteen vocational training districts of the United States, according to statements by Congressman W. D. Upshaw, in a talk at the camp Tuesday night.

Congressman Upshaw said that upon his return to Washington he will take the matter up on the floor of the house, and that he will also confer with the officials of the veterans' bureau. He declared that he was much impressed with the unselfishness of members of the camp in forming their organization whereby they are enabled to support themselves and do constructive work for the fellow veterans who were wounded during the war.

The camp is supported entirely by the veterans composing it. It is governed by a camp director, G. H. Asbell, who is himself undergoing training, and by an executive committee composed of five trainers. It has its own constitution and by-laws, and its charter.

Congressman Upshaw commended highly the work of the veterans composing the camp, and urged that they continue their good work of improving their bodies and minds, to the end that they might make better citizens of America.

Officials of the camp Tuesday night announced an invitation to all vocational trainers to visit the camp and inspect the system whereby it is supported and governed.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES MAY SUE NEWSPAPER

New Orleans, September 13.—The executive council of the National Federation of Federal Employees today began consideration of the advisability of a libel suit against an Ohio newspaper for the alleged circulation of statements to the effect that the organization was surreptitiously opposing reorganization of the government departments.

The matter was referred to the executive council by the convention of federal employees after an extended discussion of the alleged misrepresentation of the organization's stand. During the discussion prominent delegates declared the federation's avowed aim has always been to secure better methods of administration of the departments, as well as better employment conditions for the government workers.

Adopting a resolution introduced by Miss Marie J. Donahue, of Dubuque, Iowa, the convention went on record as favoring a limitation of armaments, sending to President Harding a message expressing its interest and hope in the outcome of the approaching international conference for limitation of armaments.

The first business at today's session was the presentation of the preliminary report of the resolutions committee, which has been in session for several days, and the appointment of committees.

actly what her title would be—anyhow she wasn't there but six weeks.

"Her story was thrilling, though. She is an American—tremendously wealthy and has lived most of her life on the continent or rather the continents, for according to her story she's been on all of them, including Australia, which some geographies maintain isn't a continent, if I haven't been out of school too long.

"The maharajahess—I guess we'll call her—was invited to a state dinner given by the maharajah. She attended garbed in a daring native dress. I don't know what the dress was a native of, unless it was the traditional fig tree, but, anyhow, the maharajah was tremendously impressed. 'You seem to be a very daring lady,' he told her. 'I do the things I wish to do,' she replied. 'You have honored me tremendously,' said his Hindoo highness. 'I intended to,' she said. 'What can I do to show my appreciation?' asked the maharajah. 'You may take me into your harem,' she said, taking him at his word. 'The boat leaves at 3 this afternoon,' replied the gallant maharajah.

"And she went with him, leaving a husband behind and seemed to think him silly because he divorced her for that little act of playfulness. But she didn't mind. She's had five husbands and doubtless thinks they're easy to get."

"How did she escape?" I asked, having simple Anglo-Saxon ideas of harem procedure.

Good Way to Reduce.

"O, she didn't have to. She was at liberty to leave at any time she saw fit. She intended staying three months in the harem, but couldn't stand it but six weeks. It grew tying on her nerves. She said that if one harem beauty grew jealous of another, she slipped tiger hair into her rival's food. The tiger hair, she says, has about the same digestive results as ground glass. So every time the maharajah went out gunning and brought in a new tiger, she would become suspicious of her dinner and was losing weight right along.

"But there really wasn't much jealousy, the maharjahress explained, "and the life became deadly monotonous. We were going to ask more about harem life, but, of course, there had to be a man along and that ruined everything, but she showed us a string of pearls the maharajah had given her. The pearls were magnificent. We thought it rather strange how the lady could afford to reduce about a hundred pounds, and her face is frightfully enamelled, and she doesn't know how to do her hair."

The battle fields, the tourists say, are all pretty well grown up in wheat, but there are some ruins on the northern end of the line in a splendid state of preservation, probably for tourististical edification. "But European prices are frightful, still," they say. "We were told that the rate of exchange would give our dollars tremendous purchasing power, but the French have recognized this, and everything, accordingly, costs an appalling number of francs."

Both the Misses Dodd made the aeroplane trip from Amsterdam to London, as did the Misses Stearns. Nellie Dodd said that she had never expected to fly over London in a German plane and be greeted by anything but "archies," but so time flies.

Thanks to the courtesy of that customs officer, Atlanta is going to see something ravishing in gowns this winter. Even the girls admit that they brought back "a few little things to wear."

And, of course the longer they are back home, the more exciting their trip is going to become, particularly when they are telling it to someone, who doesn't look like he lives on a daily diet of printer's ink.

But all the girls have one piece of advice to give to their compatriots here at home. If you are looking for wickedness, stay at home and find it. It doesn't blossom overseas. If it does blossom, it doesn't blossom for Cook's tourists.

Real Estate Sold.

Macon, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—J. N. Talley, referee in bankruptcy, today sold the land and residences of the Montezuma Realty and Agricultural corporation, bankrupt, for $80,000, to E. G. Jacobs and T. W. Hooks, both of Macon. Charles B. Lewis, of Macon, and J. B. Guerry and Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, were the trustees. There were five residences and four tracts of land, aggregating 2,208 acres, appraised at $84,002.

American Victims In Airship Wreck To Arrive Friday

New York, September 13.—Comrades-in-arms today were preparing to pay their last tribute to the American officers and men who plunged to their death with the ill-fated dirigible ZR-2.

The British cruiser Dauntless will bring the bodies of the 16 American sailor men to the New York navy yard from England Friday afternoon. There American bluejackets will receive their own dead and the following afternoon will accord them the full naval honors due those who give their lives in line of duty.

A fleet of destroyers, aircraft and possibly several battleships will put out from the base at Newport, R. I., and escort the Dauntless into a port.

A special chapel is being built to receive the flag-shrouded caskets.

There two guards of honor, each a hundred strong, picked from marines and seamen, will watch over the dead until the memorial service.

The victims of the disaster will come home as a unit. It originally was planned that the Dauntless should pause on the high seas to consign to the deep the body of Lieutenant Commander Emery Coil, in accordance with his oft-expressed wish. It was decided, however, that his body should first rest on native soil to share with his dead comrades the sorrow of the homeland before it is laid to rest in the Atlantic. When the burial later is made, it will be from the deck of an American warship.

Three of the dead—Commander Louis H. Maxfield, who was to have commanded the ZR-2 on her flight to this country; Lieutenant Valentine M. Bieg, senior engineer officer, and Chief Machinist's Mate George Welch—will be buried at Arlington. The others will be sent to their homes for private burial.

WARM MEETING HELD BY 11TH WARD CLUB

Fireworks blazed frequently last night at the meeting of the Eleventh Ward Improvement club, which was held in the clubhouse on Whitefoord avenue and was featured by attacks on city and county officials.

Homer D. Denton started things popping when he paid his respects to Councilman Henry Olson, his successful opponent in the eleventh ward councilmanic race in the recent primary. He stated that now the election was over he had no desire to knock his opponent but he added that he didn't mind saying that the campaign tactics of his opponent did not meet with his approval.

This was followed by a statement made by Paul Gresham that the councilman had sent a message to a club member that the people of that section had lived in mud for the last two years and would probably live in mud for the next two.

Then the question of paving came up and President R. E. Freeman announced that H. L. Collier, commissioner of public works, had failed to keep the promise he is said to have made to have Fair street sidewalks ready in time for the opening of school. It was then decided to appeal to Commissioner of Roads L. T. Y. Nash, of DeKalb, to pave the street from the city limits to South Moreland avenue.

Commissioner Nash came in for further notice when T. B. Johnson arose to speak on the question of paving Boulevard, reasserted that Nash had promised to have the thoroughfare paved, and scored his denial as a "lie."

"More than 400 children of this community are forced to crowd six neighboring schools," said J. T. Hunt, secretary. "They should be provided with a school nearby. An acre lot has been generously donated for the purpose. They have been juggled enough," he continued.

Cebran Weights told of the deplorable condition of Hardee street, saying that the sidewalk was three feet above the street. Committees were appointed to work for improvements.

A big entertainment celebrating the completion of the street work on Whitefoord avenue will be held within the next three weeks. An elaborate program is being arranged. Mayor Key, Superintendent Sutton and others will be horor guests and speakers.

CARTER ON TRIAL IN MURDER CASE

Waycross, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Major and Roy Carter were indicted by a special grand jury of the Pierce county superior court today on the charge of the murder of Sheriff J. W. Roberson, August 23, and the trial of the former was begun.

The first witness examined was John Aspinwall, Jr., who was arrested at the time of the shooting. He testified that he had seen Major and Roy Carter and Ben Axson a short while before the shooting took place at the moonshine still. He stated that he had heard three shots.

Axson on Stand.

The next witness was Ben Axson. The negro stated that he had gone to the moonshine still with Major and Roy Carter on the morning of August 23. Both the Carter boys carried shotguns, he continued. He stated that he was the first to see the sheriff when he approached the still, and commanded him to halt. Major Carter, who was hiding behind some barrels, picked up a shotgun and fired twice at the officer, he declared, who fell forward in a pool of water.

Says Roy Fired.

The negro gave as his opinion that Roy Carter also fired at the sheriff. He stated that after running a short distance he was overtaken by Major Carter, and that they sat down to rest.

"'Ben, I believe I have shot the sheriff,'" Axson testified.

Major asked him to take the blame on himself, the negro said, and that a good lawyer would be employed to try to get him out of trouble.

At first he agreed, he said, but later while in jail at Savannah he declined the idea of taking the blame on himself. The counsel for the defense was unable to alter the testimony of the negro.

DR. CAMPBELL MORGAN ARRIVES IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, the noted English divine and scholar of the Bible and for many years pastor of Westminster chapel in London, together with his wife, son, and two daughters, reached Athens Tuesday where he will make his home.

Dr. Morgan has entered his daughters in Lucy Cobb institute and his son is contemplating entering the University of Georgia on its opening next Wednesday. It is understood that this son of Dr. Morgan's will enter the ministry on the completion of his education just as his brothers have done.

In discussing his new home on Tuesday, Dr. Morgan stated that he is highly pleased with Athens and that he thinks it an ideal place in which to live and educate his children.

Dr. Morgan and his family made the trip to Athens from Winona, Ind., by automobile where Dr. Morgan has been conducting a Bible conference for the past few months.

U.S. Judge Scores Secret Societies That Ignore Laws

New York, September 13.—Judge William B. Sheppard, of Florida, sitting in federal district court today, told the federal grand jury it had the power and authority to investigate secret societies "which are reported to be interfering with the "Any organization," he said, "which holds its meetings by the light of bonfires in secret places, and the members of which wear white suits and masks, which attempts to prevent orderly citizens from the employment of their constitutional rights, freedom of speech, conscience and right of trial by jury, is a proper subject for investigation by a grand jury. That is because such behavior on the part of a secret society is a conspiracy, and the law can be brought to bear upon them."

Continuing his charge, Judge Sheppard said, in part:

"There is a law here that can be brought to bear upon any group of people or secret organization which administers justice in the woods.

"It is not within the province of secret societies to say who is or who is not a desirable citizen. When they, by a demonstration of power, seek to prevent others from the enjoyment of their constitutional rights, they are amenable to prosecution in the federal courts through presentment or indictment by the grand jury."

Judge Sheppard remarked that, according to newspaper reports, "there is a certain organization now in existence, the members of which are undertaking to censor the conduct of their fellow citizens.

"When you get to that state of affairs, one may well ask what difference there is between the United States and bolshevism in Russia," he added.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP RAPS PROHIBITION

Says Morality Can't Be Legislated Into People, and Ten Commandments Are Enough.

San Francisco, September 13.—A vigorous attack on the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act was delivered here by Bishop Thomas F. Gaylor, president of the national executive council of the Episcopal church, who arrived here Tuesday from Los Angeles. Bishop Gaylor was recently harshly criticised by the drys, following a speech in Salt Lake City in which he attacked the manner of passage of the Volstead act.

"The amendment regarding prohibition should never have been placed in the constitution," declared Bishop Gaylor. "It is an overnight experiment.

"Such laws as these try to legislate morality into people. It can't be done. Its precipitate passage took no account of the work of the churches to bring about the same result voluntarily. It would have taken a little longer time to do it. The drinking evil was eliminating itself.

"The law just shows what a strongly organized minority can do. There is trouble enough in obeying the ten commandments without trying to make an eleventh one of this. I feel like a lawbreaker every time I administer the sacraments in my church.

"If prohibition is to come it should be spontaneous."

RESOLUTIONS ON LIFE AND SERVICES OF BISHOP FLIPPER

Resolutions Unanimously Passed by the Annual Sunday School and Allen Christian Endeavor League Convention at East Macon, Georgia, on Saturday, September 10, 1921.

The Annual Sunday School and Allen League Convention of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, assembled in East Macon, Ga., desirous of placing upon record our esteem, appreciation and confidence in a religious leader whose signal services in the ministry and episcopacy has brought inestimable and spiritual benefits to our denomination, and realizing that the rise to this distinction would reasonably bring about competitive agencies, almost self-assuming, as he faces these vast and far-reaching responsibilities, the ministry and laity of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, representing a membership of nearly two hundred thousand in the state of Georgia, realizing while we cannot bear the brunt of a responsibility so vast and far-reaching, we can express our appreciation and confidence in a religious leader so rare and meritorious, especially when there rests upon his shoulders so much of vital life to a great church and race.

We, therefore, assure the Rt. Rev. J. S. Flipper, D. D., LL.D., that a faithful constituency, not only delights to honor him, but register our approval of his counsel, wise lead, so that our Educational institutions, missionary agencies, young people's organizations, the ministry and churches reveal a growth, both phenomenal and unparalleled, certainly a distinction of which but few men can boast.

The Convention, therefore, is unwilling to wait for others upon this occasion in Annual Convention assembled, surrounded by the official representatives of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the state of Georgia, with nearly one thousand delegates, the very flower of the church and race, we here and now register our approval of the untold benefits which have come to African Methodism, and believe the continuation of his leadership will yet open doors to race opportunity of which the past is but a beginning.

Resolved, first, That the council of Presiding Elders, the representatives of our schools, the entire membership of the Annual Sunday School and Allen Christian Endeavor League Convention pray that the Holy Spirit may enlarge his vision, strengthen his intellect and gird him for the leadership which this great century imposes upon men who stand in the forefront of a great church and race;

Resolved, second, That we delight to note his quiet and genial spirit under the most trying circumstances, all indative of a safe and strong leader, whose life for over forty years as a minister and fourteen years as Bishop, makes him a man and religious leader worthy of confidence and respect.

Resolved, third, That we pledge Bishop Flipper, as loyal African Methodists, our confidence and support;

Resolved, fourth, That as the religious leaders of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the state of Georgia, we assure the Episcopacy, the ministry and laity of African Methodism throughout the world, that we shall allow no interest, branch or department of our great denomination to suffer under his administration and leadership.

Chaplin Revisits Scenes of Poverty Days in Londontown

London, September 13.—The people living in the tiny top-floor front room of a particular little house in Kennington are still telling the neighbors about the pleasant, smart-looking little fellow who dropped in on them late Monday night without any fore-announcement at all, perched on their bed and chatted with them about the good points and the defects of the premises as a home.

The little fellow was Charlie Chaplin. He went down into the neighborhood where he spent his boyhood, accompanied by a couple of friends, unrecognized by anyone. He dined on stewed eels in a very unfashionable restaurant and then set out afoot to tour the old haunts where he got the inspiration for the funny walk that made him a millionaire.

Returning to the west end in a taxi, Charlie dismounted at Hyde Park corner and lunched at a coffee-stall at 3:30 in the morning.

REPORTER CALLED BY GRAND JURORS IN KENNEDY CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., September 13.—Chandler Sprague, a Los Angeles Examiner reporter, the newspaper announced today, is under subpoena to appear before the county grand jury to testify regarding the case of Arthur C. Burch and Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, indicted for the alleged murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

Sprague said he expected to be questioned regarding a conversation he said he had with Burch in the jail August 14.

Sprague declared Burch made statements to him regarding the case which he said were to be kept in confidence until Burch gave him permission to make them public or until Sprague was required to make them under oath. Sprague said he regarded his subpoena to appear before the jury as releasing him from his pledge of secrecy.

Burch, when questioned at the jail today about Sprague's statement about the alleged conversation, said:

"It's a lie."

Mrs. Obenchain said: "There's not a word of truth in it."

TRIAL OF REEVES BELIEVED POSTPONED

Lawrenceville, Ga., September 3 (Special.)—Gus Reeves, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Lee Clark, near Norcross last May, will not be tried at this term of the Gwinnett superior court, according to present indications. Reeves is at liberty now under a bond of $2,500.

Will Harbin, who is charged with shooting Ray Landers, the wound resulting in death, is expected to be placed on trial within the next week.

MATEWAN JURORS VIEW FIGHT SCENE

Williamson, W. Va., September 13. The jury trying Reece Chambers and Fred Burgraff, two of 24 defendants originally held in connection with the gun fight at Matewan in May, 1920, returned to Williamson late today from Matewan, where this morning it viewed the battle scene. The jurors were accompanied by the defendants, counsel for both sides and Judge R. D. Bailey.

Chambers and Burgraff are charged specifically in this case with the killing of W. J. Ferguson, one of seven Baldwin-Felts detectives who met death in the fight. The jurors were shown where the fight started, within a few hundred yards of which place half a dozen men fell, including Mayor C. C. Testerman. They were shown also, the route followed by Ferguson from the center of the town in an attempted escape to the home of Mrs. Mary Duty, a few blocks away, where he is declared to have been killed by armed men.

After the jury returned to Williamson, court was resumed and four state witnesses were placed on the stand.

Judge R. D. Bailey said tonight there was no indication as to when the prosecution would rest its case nor could he say how long the trial would take.

MINE WAR PROBE DELAY IS ASKED, PENDING TRIALS

Washington, September 13.—The senate special committee investigating mine labor troubles in West Virginia was urged in a telegram received from Z. T. Vineer, general counsel for the coal operators in that state, to postpone its investigation of conditions in Mingo and Logan counties until after the murder and arson trials in Mingo county and the grand jury investigations in Logan county were concluded.

Chairman Kenyon, of the committee, received the telegram. In it Mr. Vinson stated that "the presence of your committee here to carry on its further investigation at this time would seriously embarrass the trials in Mingo county and the grand jury investigations in Logan county." As another reason for asking delay Mr. Vinson said, "all the lawyers of the operators who are acquainted with the details of the conditions in Mingo county are now engaged in the trials."

The committee will meet tomorrow, when a decision probably will be reached. Should the committee decide against hearing now, Senator Kenyon said he and probably other members would go individually to the scenes of the recent trouble.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM ARKANSAS DIES AT CAPITAL

Washington, September 13.—Representative Samuel M. Taylor, of Arkansas, died at his home here early today after an illness of several weeks with pleurisy and pneumonia.

Prior to contracting pneumonia, Representative Taylor, who was 69 years of age, had been in declining health for several months and had not attended sessions of the house since about July 1. Elected to the sixty-second congress in 1912 to fill the unexpired term of Joseph T. Robinson, now senator, following his election to the governorship, Representative Taylor represented the sixth Arkansas district in congress continuously up to the time of his death. He was ranking democratic member of the rivers and harbors committee and devoted much of his attention to legislation coming before that committee.

While a representative from Arkansas, Mr. Taylor had the distinction of having served in the legislative body of another state. He was born in Ittawamba county, Mississippi, and began the practice of law in Tupelo, Miss., in 1876, when he was 24 years of age. Three years later he was elected to the Mississippi house of representatives. He moved to Pine Bluff, Ark., his home, in 1887.

Lamont to Visit Mexican Capital On Debt Problem

New York, September 13.—Thomas W. Lamont, of the house of Morgan, is going to Mexico City to see what he can do towards collecting, liquidating, or refunding Mexico's debt of $200,000,000 plus $50,000,000 interest, to citizens of the United States.

Lamont is going at the request of the international committee of bankers on Mexico, and will be the sole "negotiator" in the financial conferences that are expected to take place. Just what his relations to the American government may be are not disclosed, although Lamont admitted Tuesday afternoon that "the department at Washington is cognizant of the fact that the international committee's representative will shortly visit Mexico.

With Lamont will go a secretarial staff and economic experts.

The New York banker does not know, at present, whether he will confer with President Obregon or with one or more of the government officials. He will leave New York on or about October 1.

The indebtedness of Mexico to other countries is far greater than to the United States. In discussion of Mexico's financial affairs, therefore, Lamont will consider Mexico's obligations to the entire world, acting as representative not only for America, but for British, French, Swiss, Dutch and Belgian financial interests.

The following brief statement of the purpose of Lamont's visit to Mexico was given out Tuesday:

"The international committee of bankers on Mexico has requested its action chairman, Thomas A. Lamont, to accept the invitation extended some time ago by the Mexican government officials, and at his convenience to proceed to Mexico for the purpose of discussing there the status of the outstanding external obligations of the Mexican government.

"Mr. Lamont has been asked by the other sections of the international committee, namely the British, French, Swiss, Dutch and Belgian, to represent their interests during the pending discussions at Mexico City.

"The department of state at Washington is cognizant of the fact that the international committee's representative will shortly visit Mexico."

TRIP DECLARED "NOT OFFICIAL."

Washington, September 13.—Thomas Lamont is going to Mexico on "personal business" and his trip has no official or political significance, according to state department officials here.

Lamont, representing an international committee of bankers into whose hands private investors in Mexican securities have placed their interests is complying with a suggestion of President Obregon, it is stated, to arrange measures for taking care of the investments and delayed interest payments involved in these Mexican securities.

Lamont informed the state department recently of Obregon's invitation and is making the trip with the tacit sanction of Secretary of State Hughes.

TRYING TO RESCUE HORSES, SAVANNAH NEGRO IS DROWNED

Savannah, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Tom Barren, a negro, in an attempt last night to save two horses which had fallen into the Ogeechee canal, was drowned, becoming entangled in the ropes and gearing upon the animals. Both the horses were saved.

TWO NEGROES SOUGHT, OF BRUTAL ATTACK

Greenwood, S. C., September 13.—Using railroad spikes tied together with strings for clubs, two unknown negroes about dusk yesterday beat almost to death H. Johns and his wife, an aged couple, in their store at Vaughnville, and are said to have robbed them of more than $3,000 in cash. The negroes escaped and have been sought today by officers and citizens.

THREE INVOLVED IN AUTO KILLING

Chicago, September 13.—Three "hanging" indictments are expected to be returned Wednesday in connection with the strange and brutal murders of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Ausmus, automobile salesmen.

The indictments will be asked, it was said, against Harvey W. Church, Leon Parks and Clarence Wilder, all of whom have been apprehended.

Confessions detailing the double slayings have been made by Church and Parks. A confession is expected from Wilder in the morning.

Parks, in his signed confession, told of the murder plot hatched, arranged and executed within a month's time. He told how Daugherty and Ausmus were lured to the basement of the Church home, where they were slugged with baseball bats and hatchets while they lay on the ground, garrotted and helpless; of burying one of them, and then sitting on the grave while they planned disposition of the other body, which they finally dumped into the Desplaines river.

Reform of Fiscal System Is Urged By J. A. Hollomon

Rome, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Speaking with great force and earnestness for better support for the educational and humane institutions of Georgia, which he declared could only result from a reconstruction of the state's fiscal system, James A. Hollomon, of The Atlanta Constitution, addressed one of the largest and most representative bodies of citizens here today ever gathered in Rome at a noonday luncheon.

He was the guest of the Kiwanis club, and members of the Rotary and other civic organizations were present by special invitation.

Praises Georgia.

"I yield to no man a greater love for Georgia than I have," said the speaker, "and it is that love, keenly sensible as I am of Georgia's sacred history, present-day opportunities and wonderful future possibilities that makes me plead for the young men and women and boys and girls of the state, upon whom the responsibilities of the coming years must necessarily rest."

"Education," he said, "must be bought and paid for. The more we spend the more we get. And it is the very fundamental of a free government to make the acquiring of an education, and fitting vocational training, as nearly free to the individual as economically practicable.

"Our constitution demands it, and it is only by this system, met by taxation, that the poor—and the great majority of all people are poor—can be lifted from ignorance, which of itself breeds vice; and from darkness, which of itself is employed to put down the ideals of clean, healthy citizenship."

Compares States.

Mr. Hollomon referred to the tax systems in vogue in the various states of the south, describing them briefly, and compared at the same time what the other states are doing for their state institutions, every one of which is supporting with at least a double and in some instances treble and quadruple appropriations the support that is given the Georgia institutions.

"What is the trouble?" he asked. "The tax commission is working upon that problem, and it is composed of able men who will give the state earnest and intelligent service."

He declared The Constitution had no pet scheme to suggest or promote. The purpose of his recent assignment, he said, was to lay before the Georgia public, for their own appraisement, the systems in other states, "to educate them to the trials and tribulations that our neighbors have either passed through or are now experiencing, and this as a matter of education, beacon lights of either safety or danger to help us in finding the way."

Mr. Hollomon declared the condition the state was in financially was not chargeable to any individual.

"It is not Governor Hardwick's fault. It was not the fault of Governors Dorsey or Harris or Slaton or anybody else. It is the fault of not finding enough revenue to meet the legitimate and crying demands of the state.

"Nobody blames Governor Hardwick," he said, "for wanting to hold the appropriations within the income. That is sound business. But there are some reasons which appeal to me that are at least partially responsible for our fiscal status. One of them is throwing the major burden of common school support upon the state treasury. We are not doing as much for our common schools as we should. We have a good system and a good administration, as far as the money goes, but we stand almost at the bottom of the list, and yet one-half of the gross income into the state treasury goes into this activity. What we need is an equalizing fund of, say, a million dollars, and then a bonus or state aid fund of another million. The major support should be met by local school taxation, and the Elders-Carswell bill should be amended by withdrawing the 5-mill limitation and making compulsory a millage on a sliding scale based upon the taxable valuables of the respective counties.

"The law is a great forward step, but is yet seriously lacking in teeth and backbone."

Pension Laws.

Mr. Hollomon declared the withdrawal of the property restrictions from pension eligibility had opened the flood gates, and that Georgia was paying almost twice more in pensions than any other confederate state.

"It takes one-fourth of the entire income to pay pensions. I am the son of a confederate veteran, and God knows I would increase tenfold rather than withdraw one from the needy veterans and widows of the confederacy, but there are pensions paid to millionaires and to rich men and women in every section of the state, under the new law. I don't blame the veterans who are rich from being on the rolls. They have no other method of keeping their service record clear for their children and children's children; but it is not right to tax the poor to pay pensions to the rich, and the restrictions should be re-established so that every soldier and widow could show his or her record—the proudest heritage they can leave to their posterity—but at the same time save the state and themselves the embarrassment of paying pensions to those who do not financially need a dollar."

Mr. Hollomon declared strongly for a thorough budget system, and for a state auditing department.

He declared it was unnecessary, in his judgment, to withdraw the constitutional limitation against a greater than a 5-mill rate.

"If Georgia will bring her intangibles to the tax books, as Virginia has done, and impose a mild net income tax law with large exemptions, and then assess her property at a 100 per cent cash valuation, rigidly enforced, she can lead the south in institutional support, and do it with a nominal tax of not more than 25 cents on the hundred dollars, or 2 1-2 mills, on property.

"This will distribute taxation, materially lessen the state burdens upon the people, and at the same time raise $15,000,000 a year income."

Mr. Hollomon was introduced by Hon. Lee Langley, of the Rome bar, and was applauded frequently.

Three Weeks' Food For Million Kids Goes to Moscow

Riga, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—A fortnight after the first American food shipment was started over the congested Riga-Moscow railway, the American relief administration officials in Riga expressed satisfaction at the manner in which the soviet officials are assisting in the task of transporting bread to the starving Russians.

Notwithstanding the temporary delay, due to lack of rolling stock, 26,502 tons of food, or sufficient to feed a million children for nearly three weeks, has been unloaded and started for Moscow from Riga alone. Six small ships were being unloaded here today and tonight it was promised that the docks would be clear. In addition, several ships are being unloaded at Petrograd.

Up to the present, except for the occasional stealing of a can of milk from a broken box car by workmen, there has been no looting of American supplies, according to reports received at the Riga headquarters of the relief administration.

Dr. Vernon C. Kellogg, former director of the commission for relief in Belgium, left for Moscow yesterday to spend a month investigating the situation. He will report his findings personally to Herbert Hoover. Colonel William N. Haskell, director of the American relief administration work in Russia, is expected shortly. He will go immediately to Moscow.

Women of England Asked to Demand Prohibition There

London, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Appeals to English women to demand prohibition in Great Britain were made by Mrs. Norman Sargent, Wesleyan church, and other speakers at this morning's session of the World's Methodist conference.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, Canadian Methodist church, asserted the church had failed to help women solve their problems. Other speakers on topics relating to women's work were the Rev. Thomas Sunderland, United Methodist church, and Miss Belle Davis, Methodist Church, South.

GUARDING SWIMMING POOL IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—The city is this week taking special precautions guarding Daffin park swimming pool, to prevent a repetition of the accidents occurring there in the last few days. About a dozen near drownings have occurred, the Red Cross volunteer life guards preventing several deaths.

One lad is crippled hopelessly from a dive in shallow water, and today the body of 15-year-old LeRoy Bell whose death occurred yesterday at the big pool, was found. The lastnamed had died in the water after an attack of heart trouble which seized him after he dived.

The most marvelous machine in the world—and how it is neglected

AWAY back in the school books was a lesson on physiology.

Rather dull as a lesson. Yet it was the story of the most marvelous machine ever created—and how the machine gets its power and does its work.

That machine is the human body.

Some day the mechanical expert of this machine—the doctor—finds out for us where we have missed the lesson and neglected the machine.

GRAPE-NUTS food was made in accordance with the school book lesson on what the body needs and how its needs may best be supplied.

It is possible for a delicious food to be a scientific, "power" food. Grape-Nuts is such a food.

Perfecting Natural Gifts

Twenty hours of continuous baking has done certain wonderful things to the nourishing properties of whole wheat and malted barley flour, from which Grape-Nuts is made—and has produced a food in the form of crisp, golden-brown granules.

You chew Grape-Nuts thoroughly.

The rich, sweet flavor of Grape-Nuts is the reward of chewing. Nature meant the teeth to be used. Primitive people, who keep the natural teeth sound and perfect to old age, are eaters of food which requires chewing. Grape-Nut gives the teeth work to do.

Perhaps you remember a little of the physiology lesson, now—how the salivary juices respond when the food is thoroughly chewed—and the first important step in digestion is taken.

Life-Giving Properties

Wheat and malted barley are richest of all grains in the food elements required for human use. In Grape-Nuts all the essentials provided by nature in these grains are retained and perfected. The long, slow baking process which produces Grape-Nuts turns the grain's starches into natural sweetness and breaks up the nutritive solids into forms easily assimilated by the body.

Penalties for Mistakes

When the doctor, as the mechanical expert of the bodily machine, comes to give advice in case of trouble, he finds that harm as well as good, often has resulted from food.

"Starchy" foods have been the subject of many warnings. Food which passes too slowly through the digestive tract causes disturbances to which much of the slowing down, wearing out, and failure of the bodily machine is traced.

A characteristic of Grape-Nuts is that it digests quickly and completely—without fermentation in the intestines.

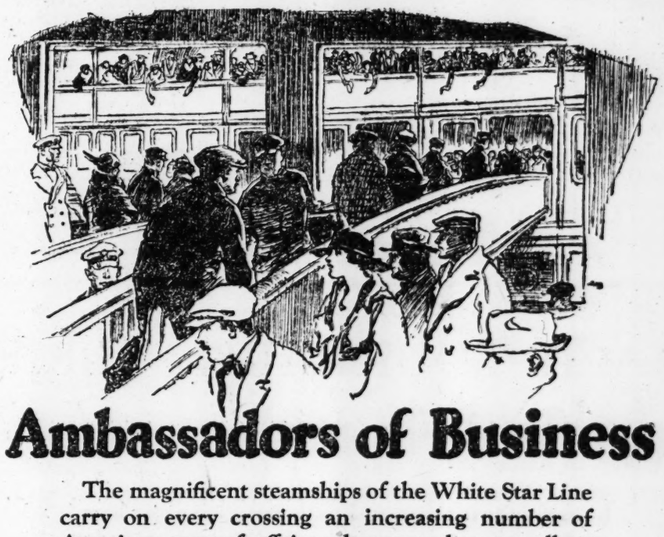

A World Service

There is, therefore, a reason why, throughout the world, Grape-Nuts has steadily grown in favor these many years, as a food for fitness, as well as charm to taste.

You can apply that reason to your own benefit.

Ready to eat from the package, always crisp, naturally sweet—served with cream or milk and a little sugar if desired—Grape-Nuts is an ideal dish for breakfast or lunch.

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

Ambassadors of Business

The magnificent steamships of the White Star Line carry on every crossing an increasing number of American men of affairs who go to buy or sell or otherwise participate in the reviving business opportunities of Europe.

Autumn and winter bookings for such important travelers are now being made. The great commercial centers of London and Paris always appeal at these seasons to business men. Then there are many special events, as the great Commercial Fair at Lyons, France, October 1 to 15; the International Sample Fair at Naples, September 8 to October 15, and the International Aeronautic Exposition at Paris, November 12 to 27.

To these ambassadors of business, the White Star Line with such far-famed steamers as the Olympic, Adriatic, Baltic, Celtic, and Cedric is an indispensable transportation service.

RED STAR LINE
New York to Plymouth, Cherbourg, Antwerp

WHITE STAR
New York to Cherbourg and Southampton
New York and Boston to Azores, Gibraltar, Naples and Genoa
Philadelphia to Liverpool

AMERICAN LINE
New York to Hamburg via Cherbourg

LEYLAND LINE

FITZPATRICK CITED FOR PART IN CASES

Names of 113 Persons Revealed in 26 True Bills Returned in A., B. & A. Strike Probe.

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—One hundred and thirteen persons, including Val Fitzpatrick, of Atlanta; O. D. Gorman and other prominent strike leaders, were charged with conspiracy and intimidation against employees of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, in indictments returned against twenty-six of these individuals for interfering with the service of the company.

This was disclosed here late this afternoon in the trial of O. C. Fairfield, the first of the twenty-six men indicted, to be placed on trial, when the indictment was read in open court. Neither Fitzpatrick nor Gorman were indicted, but were mentioned in the indictments as having taken part in the conspiracy.

A session of the Ben Hill superior court was held tonight in an effort to place the case of Fairfeld in the hands of the jury before tomorrow.

Kolp Takes Stand.

B. C. Kolp, employed at the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic shops, the first witness called today after selection of the jury, testified that Fairfield told him he had no right to come there and work.

"He drew a pistol and pushed it against my belt," said the witness.

The defense objected to Kolp testifying as to what W. H. Benton, another of the men indicted, is alleged to have said to him, but Judge Gower overruled the objection.

"Benton said we were taking bread out of the mouths of strikers and their families," said the witness.

Samuel Shell, shop employe, said that on the morning of July 5, after the shooting of Engineer W. T. Reed, he was driving in a car when Fairfield, in another car, crashed into his machine.

Tells of Assault.

The witness told of an alleged assault upon him by a gang. He said that pickets on duty at the shops were armed with rifles and pistols.

B. A. Richards, yard foreman, testified that "someone struck me with a rock near the Lee-Grant hotel," and said he recognized Fairfield in the crowd.

L. D. Wright, yard foreman, said that 24 of the indicted men had not worked since March 5.

J. E. Sasser said he went to work in the shop a week after the strike began.

"I met Fairfield and 25 others in front of the shop," he said, 'and Fairfield flashed a pistol and poked it in my side."

He said that he was in an automobile with others and Fairfield shouted:

"If the wheel moves another inch I'll blow every last one of your heads off."

As the machine was started the strikers grabbed the wheels, the witness stated, choking the engine, but they finally reached the shop.

W. E. Boney, hostler, said he was standing on the pilot of the engine when Engineer W. T. Reed was shot, July 5. He said Fairfield and others, all armed, were at the picket post.

"Fired Upon Many Times."

"We were fired upon many times," he said, "two of the bullets lodging in my jacket. We returned the fire but could not see the people who were shooting. Engineer Reed was fatally wounded."

W. J. Morris, car builder at the local shops, brother of Engineer Joe T. Morris, who was killed in a wreck near Atlanta a few days ago, was permitted to tell of several alleged explosions and shooting affrays and also of the alleged tampering with switches, although the defense objected strenuously.

In the course of defense cross-examination, conducted by Attorney A. J. McDonald, the defense made an effort to establish the probability of the wrecks being caused by defective machinery, or of the roadway. Morris was offered by the state as an expert witness on matters relating to explosions and wrecks. He declared some explosive caused the wreck near Atlanta.

Jury Selected.

Shortly after opening of court Tuesday morning, Judge O. T. Gower denied the plea in abatement raised by attorneys for the defense in the case of Fairfield, after several members of the special grand jury had testified in regard to the method of securing indictments before the special grand jury Friday.

A jury to try the defendant was soon empaneled, being made up mostly of farmers. They are J. D. C. Bell, Reagan, Middlebrooks, W. S. Jarcow, W. L. Gaines, A. A. Harvey, J. M. McNeil, T. W. Gaines, W. H. Smith, S. J. Walker,, R. J. Smith and L. J. Burough.

Judge Gower has issued an order for all men whose names are in the jury box of the county and are qualified to serve in these cases, to remain out of the courtroom to conserve jurors.

GRAFT IS CHARGED AGAINST DISABLED

Washington, September 13.—What is said to be a conspiracy to defraud the government and disabled ex-service men out of $250,000 has been uncovered by a federal grand jury here.

Four former employees of the bureau of war risk insurance and an attorney of New Britain, Conn., were indicted and charged with conspiracy. They were William F. Salisbury, of Buffalo, N. Y., and David W. Griswold, of Brooklyn, who are serving prison terms for conviction under similar charges last January; Tenola Graves, a negro; Ben R. Taylor and Daniel E. O'Keefe, an attorney of New Britain, Conn. All of the men except Taylor were arrested on similar charges in July, 1920. A bench warrant for Taylor's arrest was sporn out Tuesday.

The indictments charge that the war risk employees, by forgeries and fraud, obtained and pocketed compensation of dead men; took a large percentage of compensation due disabled veterans for "putting through" their claims, when they were certain to be approved, and otherwise took advantage of their offices to graft large sums. O'Keefe, it is charged, conspired with the government employees by sending to them disabled men from Connecticut who were defrauded out of money due them.

Three Sentenced To Electrocution For Taxi Killing

Lexington, S. C., September 13.—J. S. Kirby, C. O. Fox and Jesse Gappings, convicted of the murder of Willaim Brazell, Columbia taxi driver, were sentenced today by Judge Thomas Seahe to be electrocuted Friday, October 21. The three men were brought to Columbia this afternoon immediately after receiving sentence and were taken to the state penitentiary where tney will be confined until the day of their execution.

Fox and Gappins were placed on trial following the conviction of Kirby. In a monotone, without excitement, Fox told of the killing of Young Brazell. He said that he was tne man who had struck the young chauffeur in the head wtih a blackjack and that it was he who had stabbed him in the breast, turning the knife around in the flesh.

The signed confessions of Fox and Gappins also were put in evidence.

Kirby's wife and daughter were in the court room as was also Fox's father, and Gappins' wife, mother and sister.

CURRAN LEADING G. O. P. PRIMARY FOR N. Y. MAYOR

New York, September 13.—Early returns from the municipal primaries today gave Henry H. Curran, organization candidate, a lead of three to one over his nearest rival for the republican mayoralty nomination. Mayor John F. Hylan was unopposed for the democratic nomination.

Returns from 175 election districts out of 2,733 in the city, gave Curran 6,294; William M. Bennett, former state senator, 267; Judge Rueben L. Haskell, who was running on a wet issue, 1,574, and F. H. Laguarda, running on a "home rule" platform, 1,951.

SUCCESS REPORTED FOR SPANISH ARMS

Melila, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—General Berenguer, the Spanish high commissioner, who watched Monday's operations against the Moors from the royal yacht Giralda, reports that the first Moroccan guard was surprised by the attacking Spanish column and killed, the forward movement of the Spanish continued without incident.

The Spaniards went forward, preceded by a bombardment from gunboats steaming along the coast, while motorboats maintained a continual flanking fire. The Moroccans, except for isolated shots from riflemen, did not resist.

Beyond the wounding of two men on the cruiser Bonifaz, the Spaniards suffered no casualties.

14 Correspondent To Plan Publicity For Disarmament

Washington, September 13.—A council of fourteen Washington correspondents, composed of officers of the seven newspaper men's clubs and departmental organizations here, was formed today to advise and assist government officials in the arrangement of publicity facilities at the conference on limitation of armament.

The new organization adopted the name of the American Press council and arranged to confer in the near future with President Harding and Secretary Hughes to outline suggestions regarding the allotment of press space at the conference. The housing and entertainment of visiting correspondents, the issuance of correspondents' credentials and similar problems. Both the president and Mr. Hughes have expressed a desire to hear recommendations on the subject.

R. V. Oulahan, of The New York Times, president of the overseas writers, was chosen chairman of the council; Robert T. Barry, of The Philadelphia Public Ledger, who is head of the standing committee of correspondents of congress, vice chairman, and Avery Marks, of The Washington Times, president of the National Press club, secretary.

U. S. S. ALABAMA GOES TO SCENE OF BOMB TESTS

Philadelphia, September 13.—The battleship Alabama, once called "queen of the American navy" and until recent years flagship of the reserve fleet, started its last cruise today.

Short of its shining deck plates and the big guns that years ago earned for the vessel the reputation, "the terror of the navy," the Alabama was taken in tow at the Philadelphia navy yard by two tugs, bound for a point off the Virginia capes. There a squadron of army airplanes will attack and probably send the one-time great fighting machine to its grave in a series of bombing tests.

The last important service performed by the Alabama was in 1916, when it was ordered to protect America's neufrality against British and French warships lying off the Virginia capes waiting for the German raider Prince Eitel Friedrich to come out.

In 1898, soon after being launched at Cramps shipyards here, the Alabama won world-wide comment by setting a speed record of 17 knots an hour. Again in 1913 her great batteries smashed the world's gunnery record, making bull's-eyes and targets at the rate of 1.26 a minute.

GEORGIA IS SHIPPING FERTILIZER TO ILLINOIS

Savannah, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Georgia is shipping fertilizer to Illinois. More than 300 carloads of fertilizers are now moving from the Hitchinson Island plant of the Southern Fertilizer and Chemical company over the Seaboard Air Line railroad via Montgomery, Ala., to the corn country in Illinois.

More than 100 cars have already been shipped. Following the long period in which the fertilizer plants have been shut down the announcement of this movement is of unusual interest. The company's officials give national advertising credit for the sale which is today reported.

MELVILLE GOODRICH DIES IN HOSPITAL

Omaha, Neb., September 13.—Melville F. Goodrich, former president of the United States Motor Transportation company, of Boston, who was stricken with pneumonia recently while being taken from Los Angeles to Boston on a larceny charge, died in a hospital here today.

Mr. Goodrich was 43 years old. He was taken to an Omaha hospital September 5, a few days later his condition apparently improved and he said he was anxious to get back to Boston so he could clear himself of the charges against him.

The company, of which he was the former head, was petitioned in voluntary bankruptcy.

Luncheon Thursday of Juvenile Court Committee

Plans for the erection of a new juvenile court detention home will be discussed Thursday at a luncheon of the juvenile court division, public welfare committee, of the Atlanta Woman's club, at the club's home on Peachtree street. Mrs. S. F. Boykin is chairman of the division.

Mrs. Boykin announced Monday that the Fulton county commissioners, Paul Etheridge, Oscar Mills, Charles Turner, George Hope and Dr. W. L. Gilbert, will attend the session to join in the discussion. In addition to these, George Watts and C. B. Howard, of the boys' committee of the Rotary club, will attend and the chief speakers of the session will be Dr. Ashby Jones, Garland Watkins and Burr Blackburn, of the state board of public welfare.

Among the club members who will attend the luncheon are Mrs. B. M. Boykin, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. F. H. Goodhart, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, Mrs. Kendall Weisiger, Mrs. Joel Hunter, Mrs. W. F. Trenary, Mrs. J. S. Brogdon, Mrs. Clarence Bemis, Mrs. Rupert Hall, Mrs. W. H. Toole, Mrs. I. C. Smullian, Mrs. Carl Fischer, Mrs. A. W. Hodnett, Mrs. Louise Spalding Foster, Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. R. A. Grier, Mrs. John Cooper, Mrs. Emily McDougald, Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Mrs. Joseph A. Moody, Mrs. Ashby Jones, Mrs. W. O. Foote and Mrs. D. B. Donaldson.

Miss Pratt Is Honored.

Miss Ellen Newell was hostess at a pretty bridge-tea Monday afternoon at her home in Clifton road, in compliment to Miss Telside Pratt, who will leave very soon for the Ward-Belmont school in Nashville.

The reception rooms and the terrace, where the game was played, were artistically arranged with quantities of old-fashioned flowers from the garden of the hostess; and tea was served at the card tables after the game.

Top score prize was hand-embroidered handkerchiefs, and the guest prize was a dainty piece of lingerie. The consolation was an incense burner.

Miss Newell, who leaves soon to resume her studies at Lucy Cobb, Athens, was gowned in a fall model of brown cloth, trimmed with embroidery in shades of darker brown. She was delightfully assisted in entertaining her guests by her mother, Mrs. Alfred Colquitt Newell, and her sister, Miss Anne Lane Newell.

The guest list comprised: Miss Telside Pratt and her guest, Miss Louise Carruth, of New Orleans; Miss Virginia Thomas, Miss Ida Sadler, Miss Dorothy Bryant, Miss Edythe Coleman, Miss Rebecca Ashcraft, Miss Constance Cone, Miss Edith Carpenter, Miss Lucy Elizabeth Harper, Miss Louise Phinizy, of Athens; Miss Margaret Elder, Miss Frances Poole, Miss Will Hawkins, Miss Elizabeth Coker, Miss Elizabeth Putnam, Miss Julia Black, Miss Theodosia Owens, Miss Martha Boynton, Miss Douglas Paine, Miss Annette Gay, Miss Mary Brown Spalding, Miss Mary Ann Lipscomb, and Miss Anna Harriet Shewmake.

Miss Turman Honored.

Miss Helen Turman, a bride-elect of October, was honor guest at a barbecue given by Dr. Robert E. Latta at Stone mountain Monday evening. The party left early in the afternoon for their destination.

The guests included only the close friends of the honoree and those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Turman, Miss Helen Turman, Miss Frances Powell, Miss Margaret Mitchell, Miss Grace Berryman, of Macon; Miss Henrietta Davis, Miss Lothea Turman, Miss Laura Belle Turman, Miss Louise Cooper; Willis Everett, Jr., Morris Markee, Frank Stanton, Jr., Henry Angel, Val Staunton, Charlie Belleau, Edmond Lockridge, Roy Flanigan and Stephen Mitchell.

Noted Opera Singer To Give Two Concerts.

Marie Tiffany, of the Metropolitan Opera company, will open the artist concert season of the Atlanta Music Study club, her recital at the Capital City club on Saturday afternoon, September 24, to combine social interest with its artistic importance.

This event will be open to members of the Atlanta Music club and to subscribing members of the club's concert course. Tickets for two dollars will also be on sale at the door if there are any seats left.

Regular memberships in the club are now being received by Mrs. Ewell Gay, 117 East 17th street.

Brilliant Social Side To Coming Concert Season

A concert season of the sensational character as to artistic personnel which the All-Star Concert series has announced for the fall and winter naturally pre-supposes a brilliant social side, and this will be heightened by the co-operation and support of the Atlanta Music club.

Mrs. Charles Dowman, acting president of the club, is in charge of the sale of the boxes, and many of the box holders whose names are appended had made their reservations even before the season seat sale opened on Monday.

They are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brownlee, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dowman, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Morgan, Mrs. D. A. McGuirk, Colonel and Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Scipie, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lamar Smith, Miss Daisy Martin, Miss Frances Stephens, Miss Nan Stephens, Robert G. Stephens, Mrs. Theodora Morgan Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thornton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Willis.

Rachmaninoff, McCormack, Warrenrath, Cincinnati Symphony with Ysaye, Braslau, Alda and Casini, Pavlowa and her ballet—such a list warrants audiences of grand opera proportions and distinction. The early sale of seats, even with many regular patrons of music still away on their vacations, indicates that the season will prove as great a success in popularity as in artistic value.

Today's Calendar

Social Events

Miss Margaret Elder will give a bridge-luncheon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue for Miss Telside Pratt.

Mrs. George E. King will give a bridge-tea at the Druid Hills Golf club for Miss Virginia Lyons and Miss Betty Startzman, of Baltimore, guests of Mrs. W. Julian Thomas.

Miss Elizabeth Whitman will entertain the members of the Pi Pi club, of Washington seminary, this afternoon at her home in the Juniper Terrace.

Dinner-dance at East Lake Country club.

Masonic dance at Roseland hall this evening.

Mrs. C. K. Ayer will entertain at bridge-luncheon for her sister, Mrs. Rogers Jones, of Selma, Ala.

Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie will entertain at a matinee party at the Howard theater this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Joseph Madison High, just returned from Europe.

Women's Meetings

The regular monthly meeting of the Travelers' Aid will be held at the Central Congregational church, Ellis street and Carnegie way, this morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the parlors upstairs. Reports of the work at the railorad stations will be given. All interested are invited to attend.

A regular meeting of Oglethorpe chapter, No. 122, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held in the Masonic temple, Buckhead, this evening at 8 o'clock. There will be work in the degrees. Visitors welcome.

ranged by the committee in charge of the entertainment. It varies from the usual programs for occasions of this sort in that practically every number will be professional, and the affair will be vaudeville in its nature. Besides the many interesting features on the program refreshments will be served free to all who attend.

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, and the proceeds of the entertainment will go into the charity fund of Martha chapter.

A large number of tickets have already been sold, and a large attendance is assured.

Miss Rainey to Lecture.

Miss Ada Rainey, of Washington, D. C., president for the district of Maryland International New Thought Alliance, is in Atlanta to give a series of lectures in divine science. Miss Rainey will speak at Edison hall, and on the same days at 8 o'clock in the evening at room 713 Transportation building.

Miss Rainey has a charming personality, and is a fluent and forceful speaker. The public cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Dean Entertains.

Mrs. Frank Dean was hostess at a bridge-luncheon yesterday given at her home in Druid Hills in compliment to her sister, Miss Margaret Lewis, of Boston, and Miss Penelope Clarke, of New York, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clarke.

The honor guests were presented with corsage bouquets and novelties were given for the prize. Garden flowers decorated the apartments, where bridge was played.

Mrs. Carter, Hostess.

Mrs. Katharine Carter and Miss Katherine Stewart, who leave soon for their respective schools, were honor guests at the bridge-tea yesterday afternoon at which Mrs. Frank Carter was hostess.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. E. C. Stewart, Mrs. E. V. Carter, Sr., and Mrs. E. V. Carter, Jr.

Vari-coolred flowers decorated the reception rooms. Hand-painted vanity cases were presented the honor guests, and French novelties were given the winners of top score and consolation.

Mrs. Green, Hostess.

Mrs. William Lee Green entertianed Tuesday at a luncheon and spend-the-day party for the members of her sewing club.

Quantities of summer flowers in shades of pink and white decorated the reception rooms. In the dining room the luncheon table was overlaid with a lovely hand-embroidered luncheon set, having for its center decoration a low silver basket filled with delicate pink and white dahlias. Silver candlesticks, holding pink unshaded tapers, encircled this centerpiece. The places of the guests were marked by dainty little colonial maids dressed in pink and holding pink parasols. Covers were laid for six.

Mrs. Green received her guests wearing black satin gracefully draped with black Chantilly lace and showing touches of cell blue.

For Virginia Visitor.

Miss Susie McCutcheon, of Alta Vista, Va., who is visiting Mrs. C. W. Lane, is the recipient of pleasant social attention.

Mrs. Berry Collins entertained inforamlly at bridge, at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue, Monday afternoon for Miss McCutcheon.

Yesterday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, Miss Julia Bell entertained at tea for Miss McCutcheon and for Miss Martha Bell, who leaves for Hollins college, at her home in Druid Hills.

The rooms of the home were dcorated in roses, golden glow and dahlias, shades of yellow predominating as a color scheme. The tea table was lace-covered and adorned with a large silver basket of white and yellow dahlias, surrounded by smaller baskets of the same flowers. These were alternated with silver candlesticks, holding yellow unshaded tapers.

Compotes held yellow and white mints, and the buffet and serving table held platters of dainty sandwiches. Punch was served in the sun parlor from a bowl embedded in a mound of yellow and white garden flowers and ferns. Serving punch were Miss Mildred Summerlin, Miss Laura Bell, Miss Ida May James and Miss Eloise Lewis.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. J. G. Bell, mother of the hostess; Mrs. B. F. Bell, Mrs. V. H. Cocke, Mrs. R. N. Berrien, Mrs. J. N. Malone, Mrs. W. B. Reeves, Mrs. T. G. Woolford, Miss Cuvey Bell, Miss Leila Ponder, Miss Kathleen Law and Miss Venice Mayson.

Miss Bell received her guests wearing a gown of yellow satin, fashioned with a bodice of sequins and a corsage of Ophelia roses.

Miss Martha Bell was gowned in a frock of rose taffeta, and her flowers were pink roses.

Mrs. J. G. Bell was handsomely gowned in black Georgete crepe, beaded.

A large number of guests called to meet the guest of honor on this occasion.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Van W. Wilkinson will give a bridge-tea at her home on Myrtle street, for this charmig visitor from Virginia.

Other affairs are being planned for her, and will be announced later.

In Compliment To Mrs. Hughes.

Mrs. S. W. Foster will be hostess Friday afternoon at the Woman's club, at bridge-tea, in compliment to Mrs. C. C. Hughes, of Little Rock, Ark, the charming guest of Mrs. A. H. Erwin.

Sixteen friends of the guest of honor will comprise the guest list.

Bridge Club Is Entertained.

Mrs. J. A. Higgins was hostess to the members of her bridge club yesteray morning, at her home in Ansley Park.

Bright summer blossoms adorned the rooms where the game was played, and luncheon was served at the card tables at the close of the game.

Mrs. Sharp Gives Lovely Bridge-Tea.

Miss Vrginia Lyon and Miss Betty Startzman, of Baltimore, Md., who are visiting Mrs. Julian Thomas, were honor guests yesterday afternoon at a bridge-tea given by Mrs. Norman Sharp at the Piedmont Driving club.

Hand-painted fans were given as top score and guest prizes.

After the game, tea was served on the east veranda, from a table adorned with a French wicker basket of lovely garden flowers. Covers were placed for Miss Lyon, Miss Startzman, Miss Edna Horine, Miss Lillian LeConte, Miss Telside Pratt, Miss Mary Shedden, Miss Harriett Shedden, Miss Margaret White, Hiss Martha Boynton, Miss Christine McEachern, Miss Florence Boykin, Mrs. Irving S. Thomas and Mrs. Sharp.

Mrs. Sharp was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Irving S. Thomas.

"Beauty Special" Will Carry G. N. I. C. Girls to Milledgeville

Milledgeville, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—The Georgia Normal and Industrial college begins its fall terms Thursday morning. The student body will arrive on Wednesday. It is the custom of the administration to map out for the students the route of traveling to Milledgeville, and a tag be sent to each student written on it their name and the number of the room in their dormitory that has been assigned them.

Extra conveniences in the way of special coaches are added to the trains leaving Savannah, Albany, Columbus, Augusta and Atlanta and other points. At Macon, which is the concentrating point of a large number of the student body, the Central of Georgia will make up a solid train for the accommodation of these young ladies and their baggage.

This train for years has been known as the "Beauty Special," and will leave Macon in the late afternoon for Milledgeville.

PRESIDENTS' CLUB MEETS ON THURSDAY

The Presidents' club will meet Thursday night at 7 o'clock at its usual meeting place, room 123 Piedmont hotel. President Wilkinson desires a full attendance of the members as plans for the fall will be discussed.

DISCONTINUING STOPS OPPOSED BY CITIZENS

Protests against the petition of the Southern railway to discontinue stops of its trains Nos. 9 and 10 at five stations between Atlanta and Macon were submitted to the state railroad commission Tuesday by citizens of those towns. Delegations were present representing Jackson, McDonough, Stockbridge, Flovilla and Locust Grove, the five towns affected. The petition was taken under advisement by the commission.

HARRIS TO ADDRESS WESLEYAN STUDENTS

William J. Harris, United States senator, left Atlanta Tuesday night for Macon, where he will address the students of Wesleyan college at their opening exercises Wedensday morning. Since leaving Washington at the beginning of the recess, he has addressed forty gatherings of Georgia farmers and merchants. Senator Harris attended the ceremonies in honor of the hero dead in Atlanta Tuesday morning.

Mr. Harris, in speaking of the conditions he found in the farm districts of the state during his recent visit to various towns, said:

"There is not one good stalk of cotton in the thirty counties I have visited on my tour. The boll weevil has certainly done its work well, and were it not for the good food crops in south Georgia this year, the farmer would, indeed, be in a deplorable condition.

"They are encouraged somewhat by the sudden rise in the value of cotton, but the price of 25 cents a pound for cotton would not be nearly enough in proportion to the shortage of the crop."

After his Macon speech, Mr. Harris will return to Atlanta to deliver an address to the independent oil companies of Georgia at the Ansley hotel in the afternoon. On his return trip to Washington he will stop over to talk in Rome and Cedartown.

MOVIE CENSORSHIP SCORED BY KIWANIAN

Attacking censorship of moving pictures as unconstitutional, U. T. Koch, of the Consolidated Film and Supply company, addressing the Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Peacock cafe, declared that moving pictures should be as free from censorship as the press of the nation.

Mr. Koch discussed various phases of the film industry, which he said has been developed from what was a novelty 20 years ago to what is now America's fifth greatest business.

Predicting that it will be only a short time before every schoolhouse in the nation will be equipped with a modern film projector, Mr. Koch said that a child can learn more readily from seeing a film than from books. He pointed out a number of advantages in using moving pictures for teaching history, geography and science.

A feature of Tuesday's meeting was the presentation of trophies to the winners in the recent Kiwanis golf championship. The championship cup, held since last year by Lon Credelle, was surrendered by him to Dr. E. G. Ballenger. Many other cups were presented to the winners and runners-up of the various flights. A novel award was made to John Aldredge. He was given a beautiful cup for "good behavior" during the match. The golf committee announced that he completed the tourney at Ansley Park without using profanity and stronger than "O shucks!" The presentation caused much merriment.

Fred Cooledge, Jr., chairman of the "On-to-Macon" committee, reported that arrangements are being completed for the state convention to be held in Macon the first part of October. He urged the Atlanta members to make the trip if possible.

No Change Forecast In Temperature Here; Fair Weather Expected

Fair weather, with no change in temperature, is slated for Atlanta Wednesday by the local weather bureau. The predicted moderation in temperature failed to make its appearance Tuesday, when a mean temperature of 81 degrees was recorded. Birmingham, Ala., was the hottest place in the country, with a mean temperature of 85 degrees.

Helena, Mont., continue to record the lowest temperature in the United States, and Tuesday morning the barometer there dropped to 28 degrees. Helena's mean temperature was 32 degrees. During the last week, 25.40 inches of rain precipitation was recorded at Taylor, Texas, while San Antonio, the scene of the recent disastrous flood, received a rainfall of only 7.40 inches.

TUBERCULOSIS TALK AT LIONS' CLUB LUNCH

"Ninety per cent of you present can sleep between tuberculosis victims for the remainder of your lives and never catch the disease," declared Dr. E. C. Thrash, ear and eye specialist, to the members of the Lions club at their regular Tuesday luncheon in the Piedmont hotel. Dr. Thrash's subject was "Why We Are Well and How We Get Sick."

A feature of the meeting was the music rendered by Richard Lope and Misses Inez Marvin and Jean Leonhardt. P. Thornton Marye, first vice president of the club, presided.

"Germs are absolutely necessary for life," said Dr. Thrash, "and there is no use parading life with a continual fear of them. In the alimentary track of each human being there are so many germs that if each represented $1, the world war debt of every nation could be paid twelve times over."

T. C. ERWIN TO MAKE TRIP TO LOS ANGELES

T. C. Erwin, vice president of the Citizens and Southern bank, leaves Atlanta today for New York, as his first step in a jaunt westward to Los Angeles, where he will attend the convention of the American Bankers' association, in session in the California city October 2 and a week afterwards.

Mr. Erwin will join in New York the New York bankers 'special train and will make the trip to the west in that company. He will go through the Pacific northwest, touching Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence to Seattle and Portland and down the coast to San Francisco, the last stop before Los Angeles. The party will "take in" all the points of interest along the route, and, before their return, will visit Yosemite valley, the Grand canyon and other natural phenomena of the lands west of here. Mr. Erwin expects to return to Atlanta October 16.

REMARKS ON MERGER EXPLAINED BY KEY

The statement that Mayor Key had offered Mayor Bryan, of Kirkwood, the place of alderman if that suburb were taken in as a corporate part of Atlanta was explained Tuesday in a letter from Atlanta's mayor to R. F. Gillam, chairman of Kirkwood's general merger campaign.

Mayor Key explained that the statement was absolutely unofficial and only a suggestion arising out of a friendly discussion of the matter. Mayor Key also said in his letter that the question of Kirkwood's annexation is a question to be settled by the inhabitants of that city alone. He said that the statement to Mayor Bryan was purely perfunctory and grew out of a casual meeting with Mr. Bryan, who, said Mayor Key, would have naturally been the logical candidate for alderman if the merger took place.

ANIMAL INDUSTRY INSPECTOR TO TAKE CALIFORNIA POST

Dr. William M. MacKellar, inspector in charge of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, who for the past five years has supervised the work of tick eradication in Georgia for the federal department of agriculture, in co-operation with state and county officials, has been transferred to Sacramento, Cal., according to an announcement Tuesday by federal officials. Dr. MacKellar will assume charge of the field work in California on October 1. He expects to leave Atlanta for his new post the latter part of this week.

Showing that remarkable progress has been made in the elimination of the cattle tick during the time he has worked in Georgia, Dr. MacKellar stated that in 1917, 71 per cent of the state was held under state and federal quarantine because of the tick, and that to date 73 per cent of the state has been released from quarantine.

"I feel sure that it is only a question of a short time until the tick, which is unquestionably the greatest barrier to a prosperous cattle industry in the south, will no longer be found in the state," Dr. MacKellar said. "At present the cattle owners in 122 Georgia counties are in a position to sell their cattle without quarantine restrictions and thereby derive the benefits of an open range.

"In this connection," he said, "it may be mentioned that a glance at the market quotations in Florida, where tick eradication has been abandoned, as compared with quotations listed at Georgia markets, will provide a convincing argument as to whether or not tick eradication pays."

REFORM ASSOCIATION MAY MEET IN ATLANTA

In connection with bringing to Atlanta a great world convention, a committee of the National Reform association is here interviewing leaders in public life. The well-known Sam Small is taking a leading part, and with him are associated Dr. James S. Martin, of Pittsburg, general superintendent of the association, and John Royal Harris, of Nashville, manager of southern headquarters there. The latter is a guest this week of his brother, T. C. Harris, president of the Queen Mantel and Tile company. Dr. Harris was formerly superintendent of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon league and later of the Pennsylvania Dry Federation. He is a Presbyterian preacher and a writer or prominence.

Speaking yesterday of the effort his committee is making, he said: "Atlanta is strong on conventions, and if she knew what this event means she would go after it with all her might. The preceding ones have brought delegations from practically all the nations of the earth, made up of distinguished people in every realm, many of them public officials and some belonging to the nobility. Attendance of American people, especially in the section of the meeting, has been very great and representative.

There is a wide and insistent cry now for a return to old Christian principles, and the object of this gathering is to hold up and direct the Christian settlement as the only one for our public ills. The report of your grand jury the other day calls for the very thing we are after. To put into the civil sphere the program of our churches is in brief what we are trying to do, and to assemble the world's experts to find out how to do it and to create enthusiasm for it.

"Our association is the oldest and strongest of the Christian citizenship bodies, and has on its immense staff such men as Colonel Small and such women as Lula Loveland Shepard, who is remembered here for her work against Mormonism. The departments of our association look after the Bible in the public schools, law and order, divorce and social impurity, bolshevism, race troubles, peace between the nations and all the principal matters which underlie our civilization, including sane observeance of Sunday. All these things will be covered in the proposed world conference.

"Those of us who believe in the old-fashioned principles of the south and its gracious customs which have made us known all over the world for patriotism, honor, chivalry and real religion, ought to rejoice at this chance to give added dominance to the old ways through up-to-date application of the social gospel. Everybody seems ready for this. I am on my way to address the Mississippi State Federation of Labor at Hattiesburg, as I recently spoke to the Alabama Federation at Albany. Bringing the Golden Rule settlement to labor difficulties, with practical procedures outlined, is just one aspect of our work, and of this coming conference that of itself would make it worth while. When you consider the promise in such wide and big work as we propose, it ought to awaken and enlist everybody who boosts Atlanta, loves the world, and feels that if it is to be saved the south is going to have a large part in it with just such a sound, conservative, aggressive, promising crusade.

"Our south is the place to stage that which she best represents of any land in the whole world."

A complimentary luncheon will be attended by many ministers and business men at the Ansley hotel at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday to consider the proposed convention.

PUBLIC UTILITIES CONVENTION PLANS NOW BEING MADE

Members of the railroad commission of Georgia are planning with the help of the Atlanta Convention Bureau and other civic bodies and citizens generally to give the National Association of Public Utilities Commissioners a royal good time when they meet here in October for their annual convention.

James A. Perry, vice chairman of the Georgia commission, was honored last year with the presidency of the association.

This association is composed of the members of the state commission sin charge of railroad and utility rates in the several states. Its membership, though few in number, is among the highest in personnel of any national association. Practically all utility rates of a local nature in the United States are controlled by state commissions, and likewise all intrastate rates of freight and passenger traffic.

The sessions here will be held on the Hotel Ansley roof, beginning Monday, October 10, and running four days, concurrently with the big convention of the fire chiefs, which will be a leading convention of the year. Colonel F. J. Paxon, president, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, have been appointed by Mr. Perry as chairman and secretary of the general committee in charge of entertaining the commisisoners, and are engaged in formulating a program.

SLEEPY'S WIENERS CAUSE TWO TRIALS

Judge Johnson will resume hearing on the case of Mike Sleepy, proprietor of a wiener shop on Edgewood avenue, in which Sleepy avers he sold two wieners to Patrolman Whiddon, who tried to walk off without paying for them. When he made the officer pay, he charges, the policeman, out of spite, arrested him for not having a tail light on his automobile. Judge Johnson fined Sleepy $6.

While going downstairs to pay the fine Sleepy is said to have made some caustic remark to the officer, who then brought a charge of interfering with an officer. This case will be heard Wednesday in recorder's court.

NONE BUT SHRINERS AT LAKEWOOD TODAY

Potentate "Buys" Park and 1921 Shrine Card Is Admission Ticket.

Mothers in Shriners' families will not have to call the kiddies early this morning; tomorrow morning—well, that is another matter. This is the morning of the great basket picnic for Shriners and their families at Lakewood, and for two weeks the kiddies have known that it is to be their great day, with everything free at the great Atlanta amusement park, and they have "pestered" mother for days about the big basket of lunch that is to give them "steam" to enjoy to the limit the wonderful opportunity given them when Potentate Henry C. Heinz "bought" Lakewood for today and turned it over to the members of Yaarab Temple, the only requirement being that they show the 1921 Shrine card at the gate to gain admission for themselves and family.

At 6 o'clock last evening Potentate Heinz and General Chairman Oscar Mills held their last session with sub-committees and went into retirement to rest up for today, the past week having been one of high-tension for these capable organizers; but with everything ready for the opening of the park today at 11 a. m., from the handling of the little ones from the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's hospital, to the settling of the dispute as to whether George Argard and Doc Lawshe would ride or drive their mules in the fierce contest over the burning sands of the Lakewood track, the "pote" and Oscar just disappeared—but they will be in evidence at 11 a. m. at Lakewood, where they will take orders from the kiddies and do just what they are requested by these monarchs of Lakewood.

The big family contest, it appears, is to be more hotly contested than the horse races in which Scott Hudson and Walter Candler will appear as rival owners and drivers, while the antiquated Ford car race with 1921 straw hats as the entrance fee, the rube band, bathing beauty contest, and other events will vie in interest with the concerts of the band, chanters, oriental band drill by the patrol and dancing by Mirzala, the Armenian beauty.

The big eating contest, when thousands of spring chickens and stacks of pies and sandwiches will disappear, occurs between 5 and 6 p. m., following which there will be a moving picture show and fireworks.

The last thing "Pote" Heinz said last evening when he disappeared was: "Tell them to come early and stay late; and have a good time by seeing that the ladies and kiddies thoroughly enjoy themselves."

Lakewood is closed today to all but Shriners and their families.

Oglethorpe to Have Record Enrollment, Declare Officials

A record enrollment at Oglethorpe university when the fall term opens, September 21, will find the institution in excellent shape to take care of all phases of its work, according to officials of the school.

In addition to the work which has been steadily going on in an effort to complete Lupton hall, Hermance field, the athletic ground of the university, is ready for the cleated shoes of the football squad. Lupton hall, near completion, will house the university library and the Cheston King library of English just as soon as shelves can be installed.

Much satisfaction has also been expressed at the arrangement which continues the twenty-minute schedule of street cars to the school and with the fact that cars bound for the Peachtree road institution now bear the word "Oglethorpe." W. J. Barnes, a well-known accountant, formerly with the firm of Joel Hunter & Co., has accepted the post of bursar at the school, but otherwise no change has been made in the faculty personnel.

Western Union Employees Receive Report of Expenses

Employees of the Western Union telegraph office received from the New York headquarters Tuesday a copy of the company's annual report to employees, showing that its expense for pensions, life insurance, and health and accident insurance amounted during 1920 to $920,028.54, an increase of $140,000 over the previous year's disbursements.

Sickness insurance is the heaviest single item, with an expenditure of $414,749 for 8,757 cases of illness. The next in size is the cost of pensions, 588 employees being carried on the Western Union's pension roll; then $105,000 for life insurance payments, averaging $1,000 in each case, and $116,000 for salaries and medical expenses of injured employees. Only $11,000 was paid for state compensation insurance premiums, as the company's own plan is said to give the employees more liberal benefits than the state compensation laws.

The Western Union makes these expenditures from a fund of $1,000,000, which it restores each year to the full amount. Steady increases in the number of employees have resulted in using almost the entire million dollar fund each year.

FIRING AT COLLECTOR CHARGED TO NEGRESS

Charged with shooting at a bill collector during an altercation involving 25 cents, Dairy Cooks, a negro woman of 44 Rhodes street, was Tuesday afternoon held in a cell at police headquarters in default of $100 bond.

The arrest was made at the woman's house following charges preferred by the collector, W. G. Waggoner, of College Park. Waggoner stated that in August he sold the woman a bottle of perfume valued at $1, and collected 50 cents. Two weeks ago, he said, he collected 25 cents more, and on Tuesday afternoon had gone to the woman's house to get the remainder.

In the argument which resulted,

GRATEFUL WOMEN

Gratitude and appreciation for health restored by that good old-fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is what prompts so many women from all parts of the country to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., the letters of praise which we publish from time to time. Women who have always had their health cannot realize what it means to others, many of whom have suffered months and even years from such ailments, and are now well and happy through the use of this natural restorative, Lydia E. YOU CANNOT HAVE BEAUTY

If Your Complexion Is Marred By Blemishes

It is a well known fact that beauty cannot be if the complexion is in any way marred by pimples, dark, sallow discolorations.

If you suffer any of these skin blemishes begin at once the use of Black and White Beauty Bleach.

This delightfully perfumed cold cream compound will make the skin clear, smooth, delicately tinted and remove unsightly blemishes. When applied it forms an invisible coating on the skin. The regular use of Black and White Soap will keep the skin in perfect condition.

Ask your druggist for a free copy of the new Black and White Birthday and Dream Book. If he can't supply you, send his name and address to Black and White, Memphis, Tenn., and a Dream Book will be mailed you postpaid.

"The Old Nest."

(At the Howard)

Rupert Hughes has done it again. His "Scratch My Back" and "Hold Your Horses" has a successor that surpasses even these delightful comedies. It is "The Old Nest," a film version of the author's story that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, now on view at the Howard theater. It is the photoplay of the year.

"The Old Nest" is a series of dramatic episodes that reveal the life of an American family. The theme is mother love, and the audience is privileged to look into the home and into the hearts of a typical family. All the little joys and sorrows that every one of us remember are flashed on the screen, and bring tears and laughter in quick succession.

In the story, the mother lives to see her family of six children gradually drift away from the old home. But in the end, they remember the old nest and come home to roost.

"The Match Breaker."

(At the Metropolitan.)

"The Match Breaker," a piquant story by Meta White, has been made into a picture, with Viola Dana in the stellar role, and is now being shown at the Metropolitan theater, as the feature attraction.

It is a Dallas M. Fitzgerald production for Metro. The story is of a young girl who runs away from home rather than marry an undesirable old man, and who becomes a match breaker. Her adventures lead her to accept money to break the match of a woman who happens to be no less a person than herself.

DETECTIVES IN PROBE PUT IN UNIFORMS

conferred with the chiefs and if they cannot recommend the best then we had best get rid of the chiefs. What we need is policing, real policing such as the people have been demanding recently, and if we don't get policing in some way or other, we ourselves may lose our own positions."

One recommendation passed unanimously. It was that "the mayor and council do not abolish the detective department." Mayor Key spoke in favor of this recommendation.

Petitions for reinstatement by Patrolmen T. P. Black, R. B. Haynie and E. W. Ball were refused. F. M. Powers, who was suspended for 38 days on a charge of being intoxicated, was ably represented before the commission by Paul Etheridge. His petition for immediate reinstatement was passed upon favorably by the commission in executive session. During the open session Chief Lamar Poole testified regarding Powers as follows: "I don't think I have a more efficient officer; he has done good work and has a good record." W. H. Evans, who also petitioned for reinstatement, will be allowed to come back by filing an application, and passing the civil service examination.

A resolution asking an appropriation from the mayor and council for the purpose of establishing a telephone switchboard was also passed on favorably.

Burns Petition Causes Clash.

A heated debate and free use of invective marked the first petition presented before the commission. Aldine Chambers read a petition asking that the commission grant a permit for a branch of the Burns detective agency to operate in Atlanta. Commissioner McClelland opposed the proposal immediately, stating that only the men back of the movement knew that it was to be presented. He moved that the petition be referred to a special committee for investigation. Mr. Chambers stated that Commissioner McClelland was under a misapprehension, and asked the commission to hear the local representative of the agency. Mr. McClelland then opposed this action.

Mayor Key also entered the argument and related what he heard Mr. Burns say in a speech in Atlanta. "Once Detective Burns spoke in Atlanta," stated the mayor, "and he declared that 90 per cent of the detective agencies in the world are absolute frauds. His statement was appropriate to his own concern, and I think with candor that Detective Burns is an absolute fraud. I hope this petition will be referred, and then killed!"

Commissioner McClelland asserted that Detective Burns is a man who specializes in breaking up strikes, and who is an opponent to labor.

Mr. Chambers then got a word in and declared that Burns is not now connected in any way with the agency which bears his name, and then asked why objection was made to the agency on the supposition that it is against labor, when the city has already granted a permit to the Pinkerton agency to operate in Atlanta and when everybody knows, he said, that it is notoriously against labor.

Plea for Agency.

Mr. Whitefield, local representative of the Burns agency, was then questioned by Commissioner McClelland. "Burns has no connection whatever with the agency at present," he declared. "Big concerns throughout this section have been asking our agency for a long time for help, and in order to do most good for them it is necessary that a branch of the agency be established in Atlanta where quick service can be rendered."

The vote was then taken and a permit was granted the agency.

A resolution that the special investigating committee of the commission be continued was adopted unanimously. It was also proposed that the committee attend the meeting of the councilmanic committee Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock when it meets at city hall to discuss the ordinance calling for the abolishment of the detective department and the first and second assistant chiefs of police. The members of the commission's special committee are Commissioners Inman, Harper, McClelland and Vaughn. Commissioner McClelland is chairman.

Charges Against Officers.

The charges of incompetency against Waggoner and Arthur followed evidence before the bunco committee purporting to show that they furnished attorneys for Floyd P. Woodward with an affidavit which was used in Chicago to defeat extradition proceedings against a man under arrest there as John H. Strosnelder, a confidence man wanted in Atlanta. It was added that they "demonstrated entirely too close relations to Woodward and his counsel."

Jones and Whatley were charged with incompetence because, it is alleged, after they had been assigned to aid two strangers in Atlanta who had been fleeced, they advised the victims to find the swindlers, steer them into a crowd, grab them, and yell "robber, murder," or else steer them to a traffic policeman.

League Discusses Bench Personnel For World Court

Geneva, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The competition among about thirty-five out of forty-eight states, members of the league of nations, for the eleven seats on the bench of the international court of justice and for the four seats in the council of the league gave more life to the sessions of the assembly today than has been shown all through the dragging debate on the work of the league.

The aims of the league leaders to have represented on the bench of the international court all the principal geographical divisions of the world, as well as all races, have been somewhat complicated by the ambitions of most of the states to be represented. Siam wants a member both on the court and in the council, while South America announces that it will be content with one member in the council, but desires not less than three on the court.

There remain 80 names of the list of nominations, including that of Elihu Root, who is not regarded as having officially declined. Only about thirty-five of them, however, are expected to receive votes. Six of these are regarded tonight as practically certain of election. They are Viscount Finlay, Great Britain; Dr. Andre Weiss, France; Yorozu Oda, Japan; Commendatore Dionizio Anzilotti, Italy; Dr. Ruy Barbosa, Brazil, and Dr. E. P. C. Loder, of Holland.

John Bassett Moore, of the United States, is regarded as a strong probability. Competition for the four remaining seats is very likely between South and Central America, Scandinavia, the Slavs, the Czechs and the British dominions.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY LOUISIANA MOB

Columbia, La., September 13.—Gilmon Holmes, a negro, arrested today on a charge of murdering Sidney Manheim, station agent here, was hanged by a mob at 11 o'clock tonight, the body then being riddled with bullets and set afire. The oil-soaked corpse still was burning at midnight.

Holmes is alleged to have confessed to the posse that captured him. He had been trailed with bloodhounds from here to Riverton, where he boarded a train. He was captured at Grayson, another small town nearby. He had in his possession a bag of money taken from the station.

The negro, Sheriff McClannahan said, stated that he had promised to share the money with his father, who was to meet him in another town. The sheriff with three deputies, started towards Selma, where the elder Holmes was supposed to be, when a big force of citizens met the party. The negro was taken from the officers, hurried back to Columbia and lynched in front of the railroad station he had robbed.

Manheim was killed by being hit in the head with a heavy stone. He was a married man with several small children.

TWO ARE INDICTED IN HICKMAN DEATH

Jacksonville, Fla., September 13.—John Pope, local attorney, and Frank Rawlings, of Chicago, were jointly indicted for murder in the first degree this afternoon by the Duval county grand jury as a result of the shooting to death by Rawlings a week ago Sunday night of George H. Hickman, manager of a local vaudeville theater, during an attempt to rob Hickman of the box office receipts.

Irwin Novitzky, electrician, arrested Saturday with Jennie Novitzky, his wife, and Pope, on warrants charging them with having been accessories before the fact, was ordered held for further investigation, which was being held this afternoon. All charges against the woman were dismissed. She will be held as a material witness, however, it was stated.

Pope and Rawlings will be arraigned tomorrow morning. Rawlings previously had been indicted for murder and his trial set to begin yesterday, but his alleged confession implicating Pope and Novitzky, and their arrest, resulted in a postponement of the trial until next Monday.

Acting State's Attorney McNeill announced Sunday that Rawlings, in an alleged written confession, said Pope planned the robbery of the theater and was waiting in Novitzky's automobile a block from the theater to pick him up after the holdup. In a statement Sunday to the state's attorney, Novitzky was quoted by Mr. McNeill as declaring he knew the robbery was to be attempted, but did not inform the authorities for fear he would be harmed by Pope.

Bridge and Golf Occupy Afternoon Of Harding Party

New York, September 13.—President Harding spent the afternoon at the Piping Rock club, Locust Valley, played a foursome at golf and at 6 o'clock tonight steamed away on the Mayflower for Gardiner's bay. He will land at Southampton in the morning, go to the National Golf club for another round on the green, then plans to start the return trip to Washington in the afternoon on the presidential yacht.

In the foursome this afternoon the president was paired with Howard F. Whitney, president of the United States Golf association, against J. L. Replogle and Percy R. Pyne. It is understood that the chief executive and his partner lost. While the golf match was in progress, Mrs. Harding, Secretary Weeks, Secretary Hoover and a number of club members played auction bridge.

Attorney-General Daugherty, who, it is learned, is suffering [illegible] to go maine poisoning, was unable to go ashore with the party, being confined to his stateroom on the [illegible] flower. His condition is not considered serious.

When you look up at a star in the heavens you may think you see the star as it is at present. This is not true, and Isabel M. Lewis, writing in St. Nicholas, says that a little star known as 61 Cygni, in the constellation Cygnus, the first star to have its distance from the solar system determined, is about eight light years removed from us. In other wards, its light takes about eight years to travel the distance that separates it from the solar system, and as a rresult we see it, not as it is tonight, but as it was at the time when the light now entering our eyes first started on its journey, eight years ago.

Battle Is Staged After Discovery Of Murdered Man

Lynchburg, Va., September 13.—The disappearance of William Lewis Johnson, Campbell county farmer, from his home nine miles east of Lynchburg, November 7, last, was cleared up this morning about 2 o'clock when a posse headed by Campbell County Magistrate William H. Steele, dug up the body from a shallow grave in a secluded ravine several miles from Johnson's home.

Sidney J. McCormick, who claims to have been in possession of information relative to the murder from the time it was committed, gave the information which led to the recovery of the body. The badly decomposed body was brought this morning to a local undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held tomorrow.

Following the finding of the body, on warrant sworn out by McCormick against R. T. Shields and Lonnie Moran, Magistrate Steele and five special deputies went to Shields' home and attempted to arrest Shields and Moran. There a battle ensued in which probably fifty shots were exchanged. Shields being shot through his left thigh and Moran in the chest, Moran's wound probably being a fatal one. After exhausting their ammunition and when Shields called to his family, inside the residence to bring rifles, the posse withdrew. Later Sheriff R. L. Perrow with a posse went to arrest the men who had been engaged in the battle, and were expecting to take them, when captured, through the country to the county jail at Rustburg, this afternoon.

In the battle Magistrate Steele had his hat shot through and a bullet, grazing one little finger, leaves its mark there. None of the posse was shot.

This afternoon without experiencing further trouble, Sheriff Perrow arrested R. T. Shields, his brother Hanly Shields, and Lonnie Moran, on charge of shooting at Magistrate Steele and his posse. R. T. Shields and Moran were wounded so they could not be moved, and they were left in Shields' home under guard of two deputies. Hardy Shields was taken to the county jail. R. T. Shields and Lonnie Moran are also to answer the charge of the murder of Johnson.

HITCH DEVELOPS IN IRISH PARLEY

London, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—An unexpected hitch has arisen in the Irish negotiation. Premier Lloyd-George, who is at Gairloch, Scotland, today received Harry Boland, secretary to Eamonn de Valera, and Joseph McGrath, another Sinn Fein representative, according to an official communication issued tonight, and Messrs. Boland and McGrath are returning to Dublin with the prime minister's explanation of certain points in the government's proposals for consideration by the Dail Eireann. It is said that Mr. de Valera's reply to the invitation to a conference will not be delivered until Friday or Saturday.

It is understood the letter which McGrath and Boland bore to the prime minister asked for a fresh explanation respecting the British government's latest communication and that there points are of vital importance, necessitating the return of Mr. de Valera and his colleagues.

Today's conference lasted an hour or more, the delegates leaving immediately for Ireland. The new developments will delay the proposed conference between the government and the Irish plenipotentiaries beyond September 24, the date suggested by Mr. Lloyd-George. Apparently nothing has been definitely decided as yet on the composition of the Irish delegation, Michael Collins, commander of the Irish republican army, is mentioned now as a possible delegates, and it is still possible that Mr. de Valera will consent to head the Irish delegation.

Face Homage.

(From Cartoons Magazine.)

Fair maid, those rosy lips of yours
I love in every mood,
Now uttering honeyed words, and now
Impertinently rude!
I love them, when I see them smile,
As my greetings pay;
I love them, when they droop with grief,
I try in vain to stay.
One shape alone from these fond eyes
No approbation wins—
To see those ruby lips pursed up
To hold a row of pins!

Visit of George To U. S. Depends On Irish Parley

Washington, September 13.—Should the status of the Irish question permit the temporary absence of the premier from England in November, it was said today in informed circles here to be reasonably certain that David Lloyd-George will head the British delegation to the Washington armament conference and that he will have as his principal assistant Andrew Bonar Law, who retired from the cabinet because of impaired health, but who now has recovered.

The British delegation is expected to be completed by the addition of Sir Meamington Worthington Evans, secretary of war, and Lord Lee, of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty.

The desire of the British dominions for representation in the conference is expected to be met by placing the names of certain of their statesmen such as Premier Meighan, of Canada; Hughes, of Australia, and Massey, of New Zealand, and perhaps General Smuts, of South Africa, on the list of advisers to accompany the delegation.

SANITATION AND LIFE.

A report made public by the health commissioner of New York the other day conveys an idea of the possibilities of modern sanitation methods in the conservation of health and human life.

It shows that the healthiest place in the metropolis today is on the lower east side, which was formerly the breeding ground for all sorts of disease and pestilence; that the ten square blocks between avenues A and B and Third and Ninth streets, known as Sanitary District 26, with a population of 33,373, or more than 3,000 to the square block, have a mortality rate of 6.44 per thousand.

The infant mortality rate in this district is 52 per thousand, as compared with 85 for the whole city.

This extraordinary showing is attributable, according to the commissioner, "to the willingness of the foreign-born people to follow health department instructions," and their careful and systematic observance of the sanitation rules and regulations.

It goes to prove the value of scientific measures for the prevention of disease, and that congestion of population is not necessarily destructive of health.

The main element in sanitation anywhere is cleanliness, both of person and of premises; and isolation is not a prerequisite to keeping clean.

A community need not be wealthy in order to keep clean and healthy.

Food that is clean and free from contamination, though it may be of the common and cheap varieties; clean lodgings, however humble; plenty of pure water for domestic purposes; sufficient clothing for comfort, and artificial heat when necessary; ample sanitation equipment, with good drainage, clean streets and adequate breathing space, are the main essentials of good health—and health goes hand in hand with happiness.

These things are possible of attainment in any part of any city in the country; and every family, regardless of its social status, is entitled to them.

Every city, too, should operate under rigid sanitation regulations, and see that they are enforced and obeyed.

The gratifying record that has been made in New York's east side, formerly notorious for its squalor and filth, should prove a valuable object lesson to sanitation authorities everywhere.

THE BLIND TIGER.

Recently a supposedly respectable and law-abiding citizen of the state of Washington was arrested for making moonshine whisky.

Seeking to make a virtue of necessity he pleaded guilty and asked to be shown mercy on that account also on account of his past good record.

But instead of his being permitted to walk from the court room a free man upon payment of a fine as he had expected, he was sentenced to pay $500 with a term of six months in jail on top of that.

Now the uphappy culprit has nothing to do for six long, wearisome months, except to sit in his cell, count the laggardly days, and think it over!

To a man who is accustomed to a free, active life out of doors—especially to a man of outward self-respect and of pride—such a sentence would seem almost unbearable.

But from the "home papers," at least, this fellow is receiving little sympathy or consolation.

Commenting editorially upon his plight, The Spokesman-Review, Spokane, voiced the general sentiment of the press, and of the prisoner's upright and right-thinking fellow citizens, when it said—

"Men who engage in this vicious business enter deliberately upon a career of crime. They are primarily to blame for the maddened acts of men who are driven insanely drunk by imbibing the fiery product. A recent notable and horrifying instance was the slaying of a young girl in a hotel in this city by a man who was maddened from the drinking of moonshine whisky. In every instance, where proof is clear, courts and juries owe it to the public to lay upon these guilty persons the severest penalties of the law."

The moonshiner, like the bootlegger and blind tiger, is entitled to no mercy at the hands of the court.

Once criminals of that class are shown that they may not expect mercy, if captured, and that ultimate capture is reasonably certain, the unwholesome business in which they are engaged will quickly lose its allurement—and the prohibition laws will mean something!

BUY HOME PRODUCTS.

An idea of the extent to which rural and industrial development in Georgia is being retarded by Georgians who habitually buy imported merchandise, especially foodstuffs, in preference to similar goods produced at home, is presented in an impressive manner by a recent advertisement of the Atlanta National bank:

"There is enough foodstuff raised within the borders of Georgia," runs this advertisement, "to make the importation of food unnecessary except in very rare instances;" and continues:

"Yet the State College of Agriculture says Georgia spent last year $65,000,000 for food raised outside the state.

"For instance, condensed or evaporated milk sells in the south—the finest natural dairy country in the world—in quantities sufficient to make it possible to take the accompanying photograph of Condensed Milk cans in a small southern town, (the photograph showing an enormous pile of empty condensed milk cans bearing western, northern and eastern labels.)

"Cantaloupes from Colorado and California are purchased in preference to Georgia raised melons—not because they are better melons, but because they come wrapped up in tissue papers and at a higher price.

"The farmer is urged to diversify, and he HAS responded.

"He is told to market his products through associations, and he is making progress along that line.

"But the farmer can't do it all, and we have no right to expect it.

"It is the farmer's duty to raise the crops, and it is most distinctly the duty of the rest of us to see that a ready market is provided."

There is truth, logic and sound advice in every word of this.

No other state in the Union is more capable, not only of feeding itself, but of clothing itself and providing all other life-necessities for its inhabitants, than is Georgia.

Yet Georgia is not even approximately measuring up to its possibilities in this respect, not because of a lack of willingness on the part of producers, but simply because the masses of Georgia consumers buy imported products in preference to home products, thereby discouraging home production.

There is no more reason why milk, meat, potatoes, apples, etc., should be shipped into Georgia for Georgia consumption than that the south should import its cotton from Egypt, or Pittsburg its steel from Birmingham.

If the buying public of Georgia would encourage Georgia farmers and Georgia manufacturers as they should, by creating a growing demand for local products in the manner suggested, it would have a wonderful effect in stimulating home industry and enhancing the development of Georgia's matchless natural resources.

President Harding set a good example in refusing to eat from golden dishes. Let us haste to follow it, and stick to honest-to-goodness old home-raising!

Tourists who return home to sober up give the impression that it's really impossible to drink Cuba dry.

Some people seem to have the idea that Henry Ford puts in his time now listening for railroads to ask him to buy 'em.

If science succeeds in harnessing the sun, the easy sons of rest in this old world will never think it's up to them to stir a blaze.

The American dollar goes so far now, we're wondering when it will get back home.

Even the street corner pessimists are showing signs of the business move-on feeling.

The clear and ringing call of cotton is, "Come on up—the weather's fine!"

Mrs. Hamilton is one of the most cultured and accomplished ladies of the land, and the doctor has won a wide reputation as a thorough educator of the young. He has quit his scholastic labors for a time and is now connected with an important public interest, which he will push forward with Napoleonic energy and success."

GOMPERS TO ADDRESS LABOR LEADERS HERE

For the purpose of acquainting himself with southern industrial conditions and making suggestions to union leaders in the southeast, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will arrive in Atlanta Thursday morning, and while here he will make two addresses on industrial problems.

Thursday night he will speak at the Auditorium-Armory before the seventeenth biennial convention of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, and on Friday morning at 11 o'clock will confer with the presidents and secretaries of local unions, and the presidents and secretaries of the state federations of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, in the Labor Temple on Central avenue.

New York, September 13.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, planned to leave New York today for Atlanta, Ga., where he will aid in inauguration of a campaign on Thursday to check wage cuts in the textile mills of Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama.

Plans for the campaign were announced by Mr. Gompers last night in an address at the twenty-first convention of the United Textile Workers of America.

"We aim to accomplish our results day by day, not by a cataclysm of revolution, but by orderly processes," Mr. Gompers said. "We wish to go in peace, but if there is to be talk of battle, we will not turn away from the battle imposed upon us.

"The management of the textile industry will have a fight on their hands unless they treat with the representatives of this organization, recognizing the right of the men and women who labor to speak through representatives of their own choosing—collective bargaining."

Mr. Gompers declared that since textile workers had accepted a 22 1-2 per cent wage cut a year ago employers had "tried it again and again until they have driven the manhood and womanhood of the textile industry to desperation."

SWINDLE CHARGED TO BIRMINGHAM MAN JAILED HERE

Calling at the general delivery window of the Atlanta postoffice Tuesday afternoon for his mail, C. G. Hill, of Birmingham, Ala., sought by federal authorities for several months on an indictment charging him with the operation of a fraudulent produce business in Alabama, was taken into custody by local postoffice inspectors. He was arraigned before Commissioner W. C. Carter, who held him under $500 bond for the Alabama district court. Late Tuesday he expected to furnish the bail required for his release.

Hill is said to be under indictment in Alabama on four indictments. It is alleged that he has counts. to pose as a dealer in scheme was eggs and country in chickens, licit shipments produce and solicited from truck farmers. According to the indictment, knew he the orders when he mitting had no intention of receiving for them. After disposing other consignments of poultry and he farm products, it is charged, pocketed the proceeds to his own personal use.

The alleged swindling scheme is similar, according to postoffice inspectors, to one which was operated in Atlanta several months ago.

Kerosene and Booze Help Destroy House, Detectives Believe

Detectives Tuesday continued their investigation of the apartment for negroes at 15 Maple street, which was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning, as the result, it is said, of a combination of kerosene and corn liquor. The fire is believed by detectives to have been of incendiary origin. Five other houses in close proximity to it were badly damaged by the spreading flames.

It was reported that investigation had disclosed evidence that kerosene had been used and that a large quantity of whisky had been destroyed.

THURSDAY FINAL DAY TO PAY INCOME TAX

Thursday, September 15, is the final day for payment of the third quarterly income tax installment, and delinquents will be subject to penalty, Collector A. O. Blalock announced Tuesday. It was stated that from indications the percentage of delinquents will be comparatively small.

By agreement of counsel representing railroads of Georgia and shipping interests of Georgia a continuance was granted the railroads Tuesday by the state commission in a rule nisi issued by the board directing the carriers to file copies of their tariffs with the commission September 13 as a first step toward a revision of all discriminatory rates in the state. The case will be heard September 26.

This case is one of the most important rate cases ever heard in the state, according to information obtained from E. M. Price, rate expert of the commission. It involves rates in which discriminations or apparent discriminations affecting 2,000 Georgia towns and cities are found. The discriminations are in favor of about thirty traffic centers.

The tariffs cover long and short haul rates and it was announced that sufficient number of the new tariffs would be printed for distribution to the public. The continuance was sought by the railroads on the ground that more time was needed to compile the information sought.

In this case the Georgia commission is acting with the sanction of the interstate commerce commission. J. J. Burke, of the Interstate commerce commission, was at the office of the state railroad commission Tuesday and explained that his commission would hold up action in a similar rate dispute between Jacksonville and Charleston until the Georgia commission could render its decision on the important questions involved.

Railroads were represented by N. B. Wright, of the Central of Georgia, and J. A. Streyer, of the Georgia and Florida. Shippers were represented by Harry T. Moore, Charles E. Cottrell and J. Prince Webster, of Atlanta.

GOVERNOR HARDWICK WILL SPEAK AT FAIR

An invitation to deliver an address at the Southeastern fair on "Governor's day," Monday, October 14, was accepted Tuesday by Governor Thomas H. Hardwick. The invitation was extended by a committee from the junior chamber of commerce headed by Warren H. Toole, Jr., and Paul Crutchfield. The junior chamber will aid in promoting a large attendance at the fair this fall.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR COLLIDES WITH TRUCK

Sam Maddox, a negro truck driver, and E. Jarrad, a white man, were injured Tuesday morning, when a truck in which they were riding, at Elizabeth corner of Highland avenue and street car, collided with a Grady hospital with a fractured arm and possible internal injuries, while Mr. Jarad was given medical treatment for painful injuries, after which he went to his home, 894 West Peachtree street.

Sergeant Reed and Call Officer Carter investigated the accident. A case of reckless driving was docketed against the motorman, Peavy. It was reported that the truck was going north on Highland avenue and the street car was coming south.

METHODIST MINISTER RETURNS FROM TOUR

Rev. E. G. Tomason, well known in local ministerial circles and pastor of Martha Brown Memorial Methodist church, returned Monday from a ten-day evangelistic tour in north Georgia. Revival services were conducted by him at Lyerly, a small town 18 miles west of Rome, in the little Prospect Methodist church. A large crowd from miles around came. Rev. Tomason also preached to the people of Menlo Sunday morning, and at Summerville that night. A passing automobile picked him up in time to arrive at the station just in time to board the train.

In the prelude of his sermon next Sunday he will discuss matters observed while in the mountains.

SERVICES FOR IVEY TAKE PLACE THURSDAY

Funeral services for John P. Ivey, 45 years old, who died at his home 23 Longley avenue, Tuesday morning, will be conducted at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Payne's Memorial church by Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben. Interment in Mount Carmel cemetery.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Cecil and Miriam; his stepmother, Mrs. E. F. Ivey; one brother, T. P. Ivey, and four sisters, Mrs. R. S. Beachun, Mrs. Mae Allen, Mrs. A. A. Reeves and Miss Callie Ivey.

SERVICES CONDUCTED FOR REV. R. P. MARTYN

Funeral services for Rev. R. P. Martyn, aged 74, of College Park, who died at his home there Monday, following a long illness, were conducted at the home, 213 West Princeton street, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The body will be taken to Milner for interment Wednesday.

He is survived by one son, R. P. Martyn, Jr., of Havana, Cuba; six daughters, Mrs. I. M. Van Dyke and Mrs. Snapp, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. O. M. Abbott, of LaGrange, Ga.; Mrs. W. T. Shockley, of Apalachee, Ga.; Mrs. J. Donald Rung, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Miss Mildred Martyn, of Cannon, Ga., and a brother, William Martyn, of Taylorsville, Ill.

Mr. Martyn served during the civil war as chaplain in the North Carolina brigade. He was a member of Camp No. 159, United Confederate Veterans.

Hiram's Great Help to Diplomacy

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

CANCER OF THE STOMACH.

Little has been added to the treatment of cancer from about the time of Christ, according to Dr. Charles H. Mayo, until the recent development of serum therapy, endocrine (ductless gland) treatment, X-ray treatment and radium emanations.

"From what has been accomplished in the brief period of their use," remarks Dr. Mayo, "I predict the possibility of surgery becoming an adjunct to these methods—especially to radium treatment—instead of the major method of treatment."

But there can be no misunderstanding—the important or major method of treatment for stomach cancer is operation.

In 1915 Dr. William J. Mayo called attention to the probable influence of hot foods and drinks taken in civilization developed, a change from the natural food intake to primitive people, the degree of heat often being greater than the tender epithelium lining the stomach can bear.

Often patients apply at the Mayo clinic for a general examination because of loss of appetite, loss of weight and strength with increase of pallor, and are found to have extensive cancer of the stomach without distress or appreciable bleeding. In 1,529 cases in which a diagnosis of cancer of the stomach was made, in 1919 and 1920, the conditions were considered too far advanced for operation in slightly over half the cases.

Any one of 40 or older who begins to have "stomach trouble" or "dyspepsia" or some kind, which fails to respond to the ordinary medical and dietic treatment, associated with loss of weight and increasing weakness, must bear in mind the possibility of cancer as the cause. Other causes may become cont for such impairment of health, such as chronic nephritis, (Bright's disease), diabetes, tuberculosis, or syphilis, but cancer is a very common disease and no family is immune to it.

Certain popular ideas concerning cancer of the stomach are rather misleading. Altho tenderness or a lump or a hardened place may be felt by the examiner, and the patient may find evidence of fresh blood ("coffee grounds") in material vomited, these signs occur rather late in the disease.

Dr. Mayo comments on the frequency of cancer developing in the side of an old stomach ulser. The patient may have had the gastric ulcer or ulcers for several years, and then experience some of the suggestive symptoms above mentioned. This is in line with what we know of the exciting factors of cancer in various situations. Cancer of the tongue from burns of smoking or from the irritation of broken or decayed teeth; cancer of the skin from some prolonged slight irritation; cancer of the neck of the womb in mothers of several children; cancer of the breast among women; prolonged slight irritation seems to arouse the anarchy of cell life which constitutes cancerous degeneration.

By the time a man or woman is 40 or more he or she ought to know enough not to trifle with a case of alleged "stomach trouble."

Corns Are Not Bunions.

Please give me the receipe for curing corns and bunions that you published some time ago. (A. M. S.)

ANSWER—A bunion is a partly dislocated great toe joint, perhaps covered by an inflamed or infected bursa (sac). Operation is the only cure for established bunion. This was the formula I printed for corns:

Flexible collodion, ½ ounce.

Keep tightly corked or it will thicken. Paint the corn every night for a week or more, when it will soften and easily come away.

Poor Circulation.

ANSWER—I do not suggest symtoms.

Sweating in the Armpits.

In your department I found a formula for a liquid for excessive perspiration in the armpits. I used it and found it very good. I have mislaid the formula. Please repeat it and oblige. (V. M. D.)

ANSWER—Aluminum chloride ½ ounce. Distilled or rain water, 3 ounces. Mop the armpits with the liquid on a brush or cotton, and allow to dry before dressing. Use this daily or alternate days for three or four times, as needed.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, September 13.—The Bowery mourns the passing of Doc Shuffield. He was a scholarly gentleman who, dragged down by drink, cast his lot with the flotsam and jetsam spewed up by Chinatown and the East Side. His "office" was in the Alligator, where for 5 cents in the old days one might buy a shot of third-rail liquor and occupy the "flop room" in the rear at night.

His patients were those sodden wrecks who heard strange whispers at night as the result of drink and the victims of the "black smoke" of the Chinese opium joints. He ministered, too, to the white wives of Chinese who bore half-caste children, for he once occupied a chair of obstetrics in a London hospital.

Near the Alligator was Callahan's mission. John Callahan was a drunkard and thief who had gone straight and devoted his life angling for lost souls in that wayward quarter. His mission was once McGuirk's Suicide hall, so named because soiled doves so often quaffed their last drink there and left in clanging ambulances, their mouths burned with acid.

Doc Shuffield would never go into the mission to join the coffee cup mourners—who came to mourn and get free coffee—but he often staggered to the entrance with some blear-eyed sinner and showed him in. Doc never lost his gentlemanly demeanor.

At night at the Alligator, surrounded by befuddled denizens and in an alcoholic haze himself, he would talk of learned topics in the English of the classics. He had known Whistler and many other notables, including Oscar Wilde. Once a drink-crazed dock walloper slit the throat of Pete, the bartender, and Doc stopped the flow of blood and saved his life.

So ever after that when slummers would gather around Doc Shuffield and attempt to make sport of him Pete would leap over the counter with hung-starter in hand. Doc was a picturesque figure with his high hat, soiled white vest and iron-gray side whiskers. He was never known to ask a fee on the Bowery—all he wanted was drink to blot out the past and he managed to get all he wanted of that.

May Robson, the actress, is rehearsing in a hall on Tenth avenue for a new play. She had only half an hour for luncheon the other day and dashed into a small and dingy eating place. She ordered codfish cakes, which were played up on the menu. When they arrived they were unusually salty and she mentioned it to the waitress. The waitress grabbed her folk, scooped up a generous sample that Miss Robson had already tackled and said sympathetically: "You're right. Don'tsha eat 'em, dearie!"

Bootblacks and newsboys along Park Row and in the financial districts are cheered by the announcement that food prices are to come down. Max's Busy Bee shops are selling coffee and crullers at 4 cents. Sandwiches are 3 cents and hot waffles with syrup 6 cents—the pre-war prices. Max's Busy Bees are typically New York institutions. The picture of Max in oils hangs in front of each. He has jet black hair, carefully brushed back, a handsome curling moustache and rosy cheeks. One might expect Max in shirt sleeves to be waiting on customers. But he visits his shops only now and then in a great limousine with liveried chauffeur. His winters are spent in Palm Beach and his summers at his place up along the Hudson.

The largest jewelry store on Fifth avenue indulges in a bit of snobbishness by not having any signs or window displays. One is supposed to know where it is if one is worth while. Nothing can be seen from the street for the windows are curtained and uniformed doormen have no names on their caps.

Traffic Census Prepared to Aid City Congestion

Surprising figures are finding their way into Atlanta's traffic census, being compiled to aid in solving the problems of traffic congestion which will face the city planning commission at its next meeting, when the completed census will be presented to aid in the study of the situation.

The chief idea in the traffic census is counting the number of vehicles which pass a given point during the day and comparing them to the number which pass another given point during the same period. This procedure in Atlanta disclosed that the bottle neck at Peachtree and Ellis street is the most visited by traffic, since it was found that 14,914 vehicles, exclusive of street cars, passed that point between 7:30 a. m. and 8:40 p. m.

H. D. Cutter, Jr., engineer in the Atlanta planning office, is supervising the taking of this traffic census and points out that such a method has been invaluable to other cities of the country in bringing about successful means of handling the traffic with a minimum of congestion. The commission will hold its next meeting soon after next Thursday, when Robert H. Whitten, national expert and consultant to the Atlanta body will arrive in the city.

Between the hours of 7:20 a. m. and 8:40 p. m. on the five streets which make up Five Points, approximately 30,000 automobiles and other vehicles pass. The recent count showed that 7,640 cars passed that point south of Walton in Peachtree, 3,689 passed in Decatur east of Peachtree, 5,184 passed in Edgewood and 5,900 in Marietta east of Broad.

During the same hours, 6,990 vehicles passed over the Whitehall street viaduct, while 7,804 passed over the Forsyth viaduct. While 2,340 vehicles crossed the railroad tracks on Pryor street, 2,382 chose the Central avenue route.

This census is being prepared in line with the commission's policy to make a study of the traffic situation one of its first acts.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE TO BEGIN TERM TODAY

With the opening session of Agnes Scott college, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, the regular fall term of the college will begin under unusually favorable circumstances, with the largest enrollment in the history of the college, and with extensive improvements in the college plant.

The dormitories were opened Tuesday for the reception of students, and the admission committee was kept busy with the classification of the new students. The registration and the classification will continue through Thursday. Classes will begin September 16. The opening session, on Wednesday morning, will be the formal opening, and at that time an address will be made by Dr. F. H. Gaines, the president.

The faculty of the college includes several new professors in the various departments. Miss Lois O. Gibbons, Ph. D., Cornell; Muriel Harn, Ph. D., Johns Hopkins; Miss Edith W. Moses, Columbia university; W. W. Rankin, Jr., A. M., of the University of North Carolina; Miss Louise Hale, A. M., University of Chicago, and Miss Isabel Randolph, until recently head of the gymnastic work at the Harlem branch of the New York Young Woman's Christian association.

The new instructors include Miss Mary E. Goodwin, A. B., Vassar; Miss Margaret A. Culberson, A. B., Smith college, and student at the Sorbonne, Paris, and Miss Gwendolyn Glendenning, A. B., Smith college, and Miss Leslie J. Gaylord, A. B., of Erie college.

An attractive program for the entertainment of the new girls has been arranged by the Young Woman's Christian association, and will include several small affairs, as well as the formal reception in the lobby of Rebekah Scott hall, on Saturday evening.

PRESIDENT MAKES BIENNIAL REPORT

President W. D. Mahon's biennial report of the work accomplished by the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, and suggestions for the association's future policy, marked the business session Tuesday morning of the seventeenth convention of the association here at the Auditorium-Armory.

Another feature of the business session was the introduction of resolutions by delegates from all parts of the country. Fourteen resolutions were introduced, and referred to committees.

A resolution introduced by Delegate A. A. Jerald, of Columbia, S. C., which is expected to cause a warm debate, calls for a campaign on the part of the association to obtain the passage of arbitration in every state in the United States similar to the present law in South Carolina. That state established an arbitration board with authority to compel testimony from anyone examine into any street or electric railway company's books, and hold executive sessions when necessary.

Change Insurance Policy.

A resolution of still more intense interest to the convention was introduced by L. J. O'Conner, of New Haven, Conn. It calls for complete revision of the present insurance policy of the association.

Following the morning business session, the delegates were the guests of the Atlanta division, No. 732, at a barbecue in the afternoon at 1 o'clock at Lakewood park. Immediately after the barbecue, automobile and motorcycle races were given at Lakewood track, while the Georgia Railway and Power company's band furnished music. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sight-seeing. The next entertainment feature of the convention will take place Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, when the convention ball will be held at Taft hall at the Auditorium.

Wednesday morning's session, which will begin at 9 o'clock and end at 12, will be featured by the biennial report of the general executive board, which will be read by R. L. Reeves, secretary of the convention.

Urges Arbitration.

President Mahon, in his address Tuesday morning, advised that disputes between the employees and employers of street and electric companies should be immediately settled by arbitration, because, he stated, public opinion will in the end compel the factions to arbitrate. He also advised that a conservative policy should be followed on the wage question, declaring that wages must necessarily drop following the war, but that they should not fall at a greater rate than the cost of living. He also stated that an eight-hour day and a working week of six days should be insisted upon.

Relative to the working week of six days, Delegate Walter F. Horton, of Rochester, N. Y., introduced a resolution, following the president's report, which calls for the inauguration of a program by the association which will prohibit any subsidiary branch of the association entering into a contract with a street and electric company, unless a provision is included in the contract giving one day out of each week for rest to each employee.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who will arrive in Atlanta from New York Thursday morning, will address the convention Thursday night. His address will be a feature of the twenty-ninth anniversady celebration of the association, and that meeting will be open to the public. The business sessions of the convention are open only to accredited delegates.

So far more than 1,000 delegates have arrived. Full attendance is expected by Wednesday noon.

SEVEN MEN HELD FOR BOLD HOLDUP AND $1,000 THEFT

Another arrest in the daylight holdup of F. T. Kyle, general superintendent of the Rogers chain of grocery stores, which occurred on the afternoon of September 1, and in which $1,000 was stolen, was made Tuesday afternoon when City Detectives Sturdivant, Campbell and Whitley arrested a negro named Will Smith, of 33 Jurt street. He is being held as a "material witness," and detectives stated that he had implicated certain of the negroes already being held charged with complicity in the holdup.

Smith is the seventh man jailed in connection with the robbery. The sixth man, Woodson Williams, was arrested Tuesday morning by detectives. The other five were taken Sunday and Monday.

Williams, it is stated, was an accessory, but his part in the robbery was not revealed. Gilbert Roberts, one of the first arrested, has made a confession and turned state's evidence, implicating Williams, it is stated.

LUNCHEON IS PLANNED FOR VISITING MASONS

The Atlanta Masonic club has extended an invitation to all visiting Masons to attend a luncheon, which will be held this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock in the Peacock cafe. Visiting Masons have agreed to furnish a musical program for the luncheon, and a committee for that purpose, headed by Hubert C. Carpenter, has been formed.

Stewart P. Hatton, of the Bryan-Hatton Business college, has offered a scholarship through the local club to the worthy child of some Mason, and it is expected that it will be awarded at the luncheon.

ALUMNI OF FLORIDA WILL HOLD LUNCHEON

Members of the University of Florida Club of Atlanta will hold a get-together luncheon Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Peacock cafe. Old times at the university, this year's football prospects and other matters of interest will be discussed.

POSSESSION OF BOOZE COSTLY TO J. D. DODD

J. D. Dodd, formerly of Atlanta, now of Jacksonville, Fla., was sentenced Tuesday by Judge Andy Calhoun in the city criminal court, to serve ten months on the chaingang or pay a fine of $500 when tried for possession of eight gallons of liquor.

Arresting officers stated that Dodd had the liquor in his car. Judge Calhoun said that in view of the "defendant's general good character, he would be as light as possible on him."

THREE ARRESTS MADE FOR HANDBAG THEFTS

Detectives Tuesday arrested three negroes believed to have stolen handbags valued at $1,000 from the store of M. Rich & Brothers company several weeks ago. Six bags, said to be valued at $65 each, were recovered. The negroes were Howard Malcomb, of 297 Fraser street; Columbus Ingram, of 195 Washington street, and Will Brown, of 155 Central avenue. Malcomb is said to have recently worked for the store.

TWO NEGROES JAILED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

By the arrest Tuesday of two negroes, Willie Shelta and Hiram Davis, Detectives Sturdivant, Campbell and Whitley say they have the men who held up on Monday night a negro named Clarence Cooper, of 17 Raspberry alley, and, after robbing him of $7 in cash and other articles, cut him in the shoulder and back. Cooper is in Grady hospital in a serious condition. The holdup occurred late Monday evening on Auburn avenue, near Piedmont.

Declares Europe Does Not Trust U. S. Government

That America's credit is bad in Europe because European countries distruet the American government; that the distrust is apparently the result of America's failure to keep faith with the allies in the formation of the league of nations, and that the league of nations will miserably fail to function without the membership and support of this country, is the sum and substance of Europe's attitude toward the United States today as gathered by Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, on his recent tour of Europe. His impressions of the foreign attitude were given Tuesday night in a forceful address at a dinner of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men.

Dr. Jones declared that if American business men had realized in 1918 and 1919 that American interests, honor and future rested with the destiny of the rest of the world, and if they had dictated America's foreign policy, then this country's credit would be good now the world over.

Distinction Noted.

"I found that there is a distinction in the attitude of Europeans toward the American people and toward the American government," Dr. Jones said. "Everywhere I found the kindliest feelings toward individual Americans. The hospitality shown us on the British Isles has never been equalled even here in the south. We found there a warm, sympathetic attitude toward Americans.

"Talking with a respected representative of France, I asked him to tell me frankly the attitude of Europe toward America. He replied that 'America did a magnificent service in 1917 when it sent assistance at the critical moment, and that when President Wilson arrived in Europe with his peace plan he convinced them that his plan for a guarantee of peace was better than any they had, so they discarded a plan devised by the French government and stood by the league of nations plan. But when the time came for the league to become organized the American government refused to be a party to the plan of its own representative.'

"I told him that the president did not represent the majority, and the Frenchman looked at me in amazement. 'Why did not Wilson represent the majority?' He asked me. 'He was elected to the presidency by the majority, wasn't he? He was re-elected, wasn't he? And under your constitution he was the only official of the United States government who had the authority to speak in peace negotiations. So how was Europe to know that he did not represent the wishes of your people? The American people did not go back on President Wilson. They simply went back on their constitution.'"

As to Prohibition.

Changing to other subjects, Dr. Jones said that he was asked in England about prohibition in America. "I told them we have it on the statute books," he said.

"The Britisher would just as soon think of doing without his head as his ale," he continued, "and thus you see it is hard for them to grasp the prohibition idea. They asked me how the Americans stand for it, and I replied that they don't.

"I believe that within ten years England will have prohibition, but a prohibition entirely different from ours. Instead of merely having prohibition on the statute books, England will be a dry and sober empire. One thing we should learn from the British—a country should not put laws on its statute books that it does not put its manhood behind."

The credit men's dinner was in honor of H. S. Collingsworth, former president of the association, who was recently named a director of the National Association of Credit Men. A tribute to Mr. Collingsworth was made by Herbert Choate in an eloquent address.

STUDENTS' RECREATION CENTER FOR GEORGIA

Athens, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—A student recreation center on the University of Georgia campus is being completed and will be ready for occupancy by the time the students being arriving next Monday. The building is being furnished and the details worked out undre the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A.

Reading rooms, writing rooms, billiard parlors, and other innovations that will make it popular with the students have been provided. The recreation center is in the converted building used as a dining hall during the S. A. T. C. period.

The lumber that is used in the building was donated by Athens concerns and the interior furnishings were made by Athens women who are interested in the University of Georgia.

WRIGHT WILL ATTEND INSURANCE MEETING

A. R. Wright, manager of the local office of Metropolitan Life Insurance company, leaves this morning to attend a two days' session of southern managers of the company, to be held in Asheville, N. C., September 15 and 16. Cities from Wilmington, Del., to New Orleans will be represented at the meeting.

ORGANIZING ALUMNI FOR GEORGIA DRIVE

Athens, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Preparatory to the launching of the intensive drive October 11 to November 11, which is to give the University of Georgia an additional million dollars with which to provide an adequate plant and sufficient funds with which to employ additional faculty members, the managers of the war memorial campaign are rapidly perfecting the plans that are to be followed during the intensive period.

During the past few months, the alumni over the state and even outside of Georgia have been organized and a chairman in each community has been appointed who will direct activities in that locality. These various chairmen are already receiving their instructions from the general campaign offices located on the university campus in Athens where experts are mapping out the program that is to be followed.

The war memorial fund, which is to amount to one million dollars, is to be the first step in a $3,500,000 building program that the University of Georgia is to conduct within the next few years. With the first million dollars that is to come about through the war memorial subscriptions certain new buildings are to be erected on the university campus and certain others are to be completed, additional faculty members are to be employed, and other innovations in the work and plants on the Georgia campus are to be brought about.

Among the more important of these buildings that are to be built will be a new science building to accommodate the physics and astronomical departments of the university, a new animal husbandry building, and the completion of the alumni hall, which was begun some years ago. Other buildings and completions will also be made with the additional million dollars.

The first step in the movement was taken last June when the graduating class as a whole gave to the fund $40,000, or $300 per man.

UNION VETERANS' LEGION SESSIONS OPEN TUESDAY

Gettysburg, Pa., September 13.—The annual national encampment of the Union Veterans' legion opened its sessions today in the historic Adams county courthouse, which was used as a war hospital after the battle of Gettysburg. Veterans of the civil war are arriving from all parts of the country and a large attendance is indicated when the encampment gets under full swing. The old soldiers are wearing the army blue of '63. Most of them are also displaying their regimental insignia for identification, so as to make possible various regimental and corps reunions.

TWO BOYS ARE HELD FOR STEALING GOODS

Kirby New and J. D. Harris, two youths, were each held under $1,000 bail by Recorder Johnson in city court Tuesday morning on a charge of having stolen goods from the store of W. H. Bradford, 44 Woodward avenue, early Monday. Lieutenant Detective Bob Waggoner said that they had cut an entrance by using wire clippers, and that they had stolen a large quantity of shoes and hose.

HARDWICK SECURES CHANGE IN ORDER OF ASYLUM BOARD

Milledgeville, Ga., September 13. (Special.)—Governor Hardwick held a conference with Dr. L. M. Jones, the superintendent of the Georgia state sanitarium, while here today. The main object of the conference was to formulate a plan whereby the real distress cases over the state now awaiting admission could be received for treatment. An agreement to admit this class of patients was reached.

The board of trustees of the sanitarium issued a general order to the ordinaries of all the counties in the state, recently, that no more patients could be accommodated at the institution, because of the lack of room and funds, the legislature having adjourned without making appropriation to cover a deficiency in the operating fund for this year or providing for the erection of more buildings.

This, in the board's opinion, necessitated a quick curtailment of expenses. The closing of the doors of the sanitarium, however, has caused a perplexing problem in many places in the state where acute cases of mania were being held, the local authorities clamoring for their admission into the sanitarium for immediate treatment.

These appeals for acutely distressed cases were made both to sanitarium authorities and to Governor Hardwick.

$2,000,000 HOTEL WILL REPLACE OLD HAMPTON TERRACE

Augusta, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Actual work in rebuilding the Hampton Terrace hotel, which was destroyed by fire several years ago, will begin by November 1, according to an announcement made by W. D. Hewitt, of the firm of Hewitt and Ash, architects, of Philadelphia. According to the plans, the hotel is to be one of the finest tourist resorts in the country.

As outlined by the architects, the hotel will have 350 rooms, be fireproof and is to cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. The proposition is to be financed by capital raised outside of Augusta. It is hoped that the structure will be completed well in advance of the 1922-23 tourist season.

The proposition is considered an excellent one, in view of the fact that the facilities for caring for the hundreds of tourists who annually come here was greatly decreased in the burning of the Bon Air hotel during last spring.

The old Hampton Terrace hotel, which was considered one of the finest tourist hotels in the south, was destroyed by fire in 1917. At several times since efforts have been made to rebuild the structure, the grounds and golf links being an extra inducement for such an enterprise. With the burning of the Bon Air hotel, the great need of such a structure was more keenly felt.

Navigation Reopened.

August, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—River navigation between Augusta and Savannah was reopened this morning when the packet Altamaha with a cargo from Savannah landed at its dock here. The boat on its return trip to Savannah is to carry a delegation from the board of commerce and local shippers a part of the way. This is to be done in commemoration of the reopening of the boat line between Augusta and the sea coast, which has not been in operation for several years.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY OF BANK IS FOILED

Shreveport, La., September 13.—Jack Schools, 22, of Bossier City, La., was shot and killed and Ollie Sumlin, 25, was captured today when they made an attempt to rob the Bank of Grand Cane, 20 miles south of here, according to a statement by Sheriff Williams, of DeSoto parish.

Sheriff Williams, with a posse of officers, including Police Chief Bazer, of Shreveport, had been tipped off as to the plans of the alleged bandits, according to the officers, and were concealed in the bank when Schools and Sumlin, both armed, confronted Cashier W. H. Smith and ordered him to hand over the money in the bank. As one of the bandits started to walk towards the door near the cashier, the officers began firing. Schools was the only man hit.

Urges Abolition Of Cotton Raising For One Season

New Orleans, September 13.—The complete abolition of cotton planting throughout the entire cotton belt, through legislative action, for one year, was advocated as the only sure method of ridding the south of the boll weevil, by Paul M. Potts, a planter of Natchitoches, La., in an address before the Louisiana and Mississippi divisions of the American Cotton association meeting here today in conjunction with the interstate farm congress.

"I have tried every method suggested to get rid of the ravages of the weevil," said Mr. Potts, "but they have failed. There is only one sure method. That is for the cotton belt, through legislative action, to prevent the planting of any cotton for one year. The weevil cannot propagate its species unless it has cotton plants to lay its eggs in. If there was no cotton for one year the weevil would be wiped out."

W. B. Thompson, a leading cotton factor, of New Orleans, president of the Louisiana division of the American Cotton association, urged upon the cotton men present the necessity for controlling acreage and developing a chain of bonded warehouses throughout the cotton belt.

"The country will be on the high road to prosperity if the farmers continue to plant only one third or their acreage in cotton and the rest in food and feedstuffs," said Mr. Thompson.

The Birthmonth Stone For September —The Sapphire

"A malden born when Autumn leaves
Are rustling in September's breeze,
A Sapphire on her brow should bind;
'Twill cure diseases of the mind."

Appropriately enough the Sapphire is known as the gem of Autumn, a symbol of truth, sincerity, wisdom and constancy; typifying calm and tried affection rather than ardent passion, the tempered brilliancy of the Autumn season rather than the fiery rays of the mid-year sun.

A fine Sapphire of rich velvety blue, is a stone that appeals to both men and women.

It ranks next to the diamond in hardness.

We have just stocked up some unusually pretty Sapphire rings which we feel you will enjoy seeing.

Pels Score Eight Runs While Crackers Sleep Peacefully

BY JOE HATCHER.

The winds were blowing the wrong way yesterday out at Poncey and not a football signal from Grant field penetrated the resting quarters of the Crackers as the Pels marched ceaselessly by the sleeping posts of the Cracker infield on their way to the plate with their eight runs. The Crackers moved mechanically off the field with wonderful precision at Dan Pfenninger's call of "three," took their turn at bat and marched methodically back for a period of sleep. Johnny Suggs started the sleepy affair and stuck around for two frames, while the Pels got five hits, the Crackers five errors, and the Pels seven runs, sufficient to help the Crackers hold their lead of the second division.

Crackers Cinch Fifth.

Several years ago when the Crackers were exhibiting a good brand of baseball, Caesar was drinking home brew and uttering speeches about "rather be king of a village in Gaul than second in Rome." With that old epithet-in vivid memory the Crackers dealt Wild Elberfeld and the Little Rock clan about the dirtiest blow that has ever been handed out since the friendly relations between the two teams. For the past few days the Travellers have been dropping them two at a time in their desperate fight to take the leadership of the second division rather than trail the first string ball clubs in the league, but yesterday with the Pels as aide-de-camp, the Crackers practically cinched their proud leadership of the second division. Even with the Memphis Chicks taking them from the Travellers for the rest of the week there is little chance that the Crackers will be unfortunate enough to win one over Chattanooga that would put them trailing the real ball clubs in the league. Caesar certainly knew baseball them days, for the Crackers have proudly out-generaled the Kildmen for the place heading the dubb outfits of the league.

Hogart Hitting Star.

It was a great day for Eddie Bogart and Joe Martina, if for no others imprisoned in the park. Eddie only got five hits in five trips, up, including two two-base hits. Then, too, some nimble wit asked Eddie what he did with his bat as he calmly watched two strikes float over in the first inning before swatting the next one to kingdom come for the first hit and the first of an orgy of runs. Martina added a victory to his credit with about as little effort as could be expected on a warmf sleepy afternoon. Gene Sheridan also added a few eyeopeners with seven difficult assists and four putouts in the Pel fielding column.

Continued cheering near the Cracker bench from a chubby fan probably attending one of "Fatty" Arbuckle's gin party, so aroused Dewey Marshall from the sleeping atmosphere of the rest of the team that he relieved Suggs in the third inning and immediately put the Pels to sleep as far as the heavy hitting was concerned for the rest of the day. Of course, Eddie Bogart failed to be upset, but the rest of the Pels settled down considerably with only scattered hits and one run. Dewey whiffed six Pels during the latter innings and performed notably throughout the afternoon. He was originally planned only as pinch hitter for the afternoon, but responded just as enthusiastically to the pinch twirling job.

Sammy Mayer evidently failed to drink the same air as the other Crackers, for Sammy was very much awake as usual in center field with a couple of robberies per usual.

Suggs Not to Blame.

It really was not all Johnny Suggs fault, for with ordinary support in that first inning not a Pel runner would have crossed the plate. As it was the Doobs clan batted entirely around the line-up with their four runs. In that frame "Butch" Schmidt headed the error column with two errors that let in two runs and paved the way for the others. Freddie Graff got the habit and booted an easy roller. Ed Manning booted another and Red Wingo dropped Bert Griffith's long fly. Not a run should have crossed where four really did. A triple and double, a sacrifice fly and another error let over three runs in the second, and Johnny's star had set behind the rising column of boots and misplays.

Stewart Sets Dixie Record.

Birmingham, Ala., September 13.—Memphis cinched the series with Birmingham by taking the third straight game from the Barons this afternoon by a score of 7 to 6. The contest was a free hitting affair, the locals out-hitting the Chicks.

Stuffy Stewart, second baseman of the Barons, stole five bases, and now has 68 pilfered bags to his credit, surpassing the league's second best mark in stolen bases, held by Bob Messinger, with 67.

W. COX WINS BIG PURSE

Syracuse, N. Y., September 13.—Grey Worthy, Walter Cox's grey gelding, won the $10,000 Empire State stakes for 2:12 trotters, the feature event of today's Grand Circuit card, and set a new record for the stake by trotting the second heat in 2:12 1-2.

Greyworthy won the big stake in straight heats. It was the gelding's fifth straight victory. Princess Etawah was second. Jeanette Rankin finished third.

The second heat for the big stake was a thriller and brought the 20,000 spectators to their feet. Greyworthy, on the pole, stepped to the front and led to the half, where Etawah challenged and forged ahead. Princess Etawah was not to stay there long. Greyworthy came from behind with a terrific burst of speed and in the rush to the wire opened up a lead of two lengths.

Tommy Murphy scored his first victory of the meeting in the 2:05 pace, when he piloted Roy Grattan home, a winner. The fast mile was 2:02 1-4 by Roy Grattan in the second heat.

GIANTS HOLD TO MARGIN

Cincinnati, September 13.—New York won from Cincinnati today 4 to 3, in 12 innings. Luque held the Giants scoreless. The ninth when a fumble by Kopf with a double play in prospect, paved the way for three runs. In the twelfth with Kelly on first, Meusel tripled, sending in the winning run.

G. M. C. TEAM LOOKS GREAT

Milledgeville, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—With baseball fast becoming history, the local fans are looking forward to the oncoming football season. Prospects have never been better at G. M. C. than they are this fall.

With nine letter men returning and many new athletes on hand, Milledgeville is expecting a winning team. After they have been all shaped up by Coach Hardage and his assistant, Coach Dowis, a high grade team with pep and ability will be ready for all comers in southern prepdom.

Heavy Schedule.

A hard schedule is ahead of the G. M. C. boys. Tech High, Lanier, Gordon, Riverside and many of the prep aggregations not mentioned will contest with G. M. C. this season, so a hot race for top notch place will surely follow.

At the ringing of the bell for the first football practice at G. M. C., 35 candidates answered the call, all hale, hearty and rearing to go. Coach Hardage is busy sizing up his material and after his first practice in signals, punting and outlining exercises to get his men in condition, he made a temporary line-up of varsity and scrub and every afternoon practice is on for real.

Open With Mercer Scrubs.

The longing of the local gridiron fans will be gratified on the 26th of this month when the Mercer Scrubs come here to do battle with the Coach Hardage outfit. After that the ball will be kept rolling throughout the season.

STODDARD WINS RACE FOR HOMER PIGEONS

The futurity pigeon race from Spartanburg, S. C., flown Sunday, September 11, and consisting of only prize birds competing, was won by W. J. Stoddard's loft, Piedmont drive. Only fifteen birds competed, representing four lofts. The birds were released at 7 o'clock, eastern time, and arrived in Atlanta as follows:

W. J. Stoddard's bird at 11 o'clock 8 minutes and 59 seconds.

Messrs. Bragg & Wrigley's clocked at 11:30.06 and Tabler at 11:20.50.

Bragg & Wrigley's loft shows third position and Tabler fourth on account of air line distance.

A race from Gastonia, N. C., will be flown on next Sunday and is the last of the series of young bird races for season of 1921.

The birds will be flown in spring 1922 as year olds.

MRS. MOLLA MALLORY AFTER NEW TITLES

Philadelphia, September 13.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, woman's national tennis champion, easily won her first match in the middle states tennis tournament which began on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket club today. She defeated Mrs. Gilbert Harvey, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-1 after the latter had won from Miss Sherwood, Philadelphia, in the preliminary round. Miss Eleanor A. Sears, Boston, defeated Mrs. A. Sauers, Harrisburg, Pa., 6-1, 6-2. Miss Virginia Carpenter, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. C. Blanchard, Boston, 6-1, 6-4; Miss Molly Thayer, Philadelphia, won from Mrs. W. Ellis, New York, 6-0, 6-2.

In the doubles, Miss Mary K. Browne, California, former national champion, paired with Miss Louise Williams, California, defeated Miss Anne Townsend and Miss Phyllis Walsh, Philadelphia, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes and Mrs. Tom Paine Win in Title Play

Semi-Finals Match Today Brings Close Contests. Mrs. Lowndes Plays Steady Golf.

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes continued the same steady golf in beating Miss Mai O'Brien, 6-4, in the first rounds of play for the city title yesterday that she used in hanging up the low medalist score in the qualifying rounds Monday with seven strokes to spare before her nearest competitor. Mrs. Tom Paine, another of the topnotchers for steady and brilliant play among the women golfers of the city, had a runaway match in defeating Mrs. J. G. Jagoe, 8-6, in the first rounds. In the championship flight today, Mrs. Lowndes will meet Mrs. T. T. Williams, who drew a bye for the first rounds. Mrs. Paine will meet Mrs. L. H. Beck in the semi-finals rounds in the lower bracket. These two matches today will bring out some of the best golf of the tourney, according to expectations, excepting the finals rounds scheduled for Wednesday's play.

Play in Second Flight.

Down in the second flight Mrs. T. H. Latham defeated Mrs. K. G. Simmonds, 6-4, in the only match scheduled in the upper bracket. In the lower half Mrs. Howard Muse triumphed over Miss V. Morse by the same margin as above. Mrs. Latham will meet Mrs. Inman Sanders, and Mrs. Muse meets Mrs. Reuben Clarke in the second and semi-final rounds today.

Over the nine-hole route Miss Mariam Goldsmith defeated Mrs. Charles Cornell and will meet Mrs. C. T. Dunham in the second rounds today. Mrs. Douglas Paine will meet Mrs. Louis Leonard.

EATONTON AND MACON MILLS PLAY TIE GAME

Eatonton, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—One of the best games of baseball ever played in middle Georgia was the game here today between the Imperial Cotton Mills' team of Eatonton, and a team representing Bibb Mills of Macon, ended in a tie. Frank (Lefty) Williams pitched for the local boys and gave up four hits. Pelham Fuss started the game for the Macon team, but was relieved in the fifth inning by his brother, Ashby Fuss. The hitting of Arnold and Middlebrooks and the spectacular fielding of Harry Middlebrooks, of the locals, were by far the outstanding features of the game, together with pitching of Williams. The Macon team made two runs on an error, earning one, giving thm a total of three runs. The Imperial boys tied the score on three earned runs off both Pelham and Ashby Fuss, both Tims and Royal, outfielders of the locals, cutting off runs by their sensational work in the outer garden.

V. Richards Plays Brilliant Tennis But Loses to Johnston

Yonkers Youth Wins First Two Sets—Spectacular Work Saves Veteran. Tilden Wins.

Philadelphia, September 13.—Playing tennis of a caliber seldom seen even in international competition, William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, and William T. Tilden, II., of Philadelphia, won their way into the fourth round of the national singles championship tournament here this afternoon. As a result of their respective victories over Vincent Richards, of Yonkers and Zenzo Shimidzu, the present and former title holders, will meet tomorrow afternoon in a match which will decide the finalist in the lower half of the draw.

Johnston in defeating Richards 2-6, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7, 6-2, had a much more gruelling five-set battle than Tilden did in eliminating Shimidzu in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. What physical effects these matches will have upon the two leading players of the nation when they face tomorrow cannot be foretold. If appearances can be taken as a criterion, Tilden was more impressive in his play than was the case with Johnston, although the latter showed the same skill, steadiness and bulldog courage which has marked his game in other seasons.

Richards Near Win.

Richards entered the grand stand courts confident that his day to defeat the titleholder of 1915 and 1919 was at hand and the manner in which the youthful Yonkers' player raced through the first two sets made it appear as though his confidence was going to lift his game to the point where he would overcome Johnston and enter the fourth round against his tennis master, Tilden. He failed to count upon the fighting courage and uncanny skill of Johnston, however, and the latter rose like an angry lion to the challenge of the player still in his teens and erased him from the titular tournament after one of the most thrilling and sensational matches staged in many years.

Richards actually outplayed Johnston in the first two sets, his stroking, placements and speed being worthy of an international veteran. The turning point came in the fourth set which was won by the Californian, 9-7. Johnston had previously taken the third at 6-3, and following the ten-minute rest period, Richards made his final bid for the match. The two players fought out every point to the bitter end and it was here that Johnston's perfect change of pace, surety of stroke and wizardry of anticipating returns turned the scales of victory in his favor. He drew Richards well into fore court with low driven short returns and nullified much of his opponent's driving and smashing. Richards' eagerness to stroke these shots as he would a deep court ball caused him to pile up many errors, while Johnston's placing of successful returns repeteadly left his opponent helpless.

Richards was game to the end, and there were numerous rallies, in which the marvelous gets, returns and court strategy brought the gallery of more than 10,000 spectators to their feet cheering en masse.

Tilden Wins More Easily.

In the Tilden-Shimidzu match, the world's champion adopted different tactics against the Japanese player than was the case at Forest Hills in the Davis cup challenge round. Tilden, in place of exchanging comparatively slow-chop stroked balls with the wily Oriental player, went out to win with sheer speed of pace and accuracy of placement. Against an ordinary tournament opponent, this form of tennis campaign in Tilden's hands would have been crushing, but Shimidzu is far above that type. He took the champion's cannon ball service and shot it back without a change of expression; raced after clean placement shots and astonished even his opponet by sending the ball back, as though it were merely a preliminary exercise.

This spirit of trying out everything, and determination to force Tilden to earn every point he made, resulted in a battle even more spectacular than the Johnston-Richards match. Tilden was forced into error-making by the audacity of some of Shimidzu's plays. Speed afoot, reach, variety of stroke and attack, were all with Tilden, however, and in the end his advantage became pronounced. Although the Japanese start out the first two sets, his play was only a few points below Tilden.

In the other more important matches of the day, J. O. Anderson defeated is teammate on the Australia Davis cup team, John B. Hawkes; R. Norris Williams, II., of Boston, former champion, eliminated the Brooklyn veteran, S. Howard Voshell; Willis Davis, of San Francisco, won from Phil Neer, of Portland, Ore., in a four-set match, and F. Gordon Lowe, of Manchester, England, defeated Dean Mathey in three hard-fought sets.

The Kinsey brothers, Howard and Robert, won with comparative ease from W. T. Knight of Philadelphia, and Frank A. Fall, of New York, respectively, although night forced the San Francisician to go 10-8 before taking the third set.

YANKS ONLY HOLD LEAD

New York, September 13.—The lead of the New York Americans was cut to half a game today when Chicago defeated the Yankees, 6 to 2. It was Chicago's thirteenth victory over New York this season, and Kerr's sixth victory over the Yankees in seven games. Hooper's batting featured, as he hit two home runs and a single, drew two passes on balls and scored four runs.

REAL GAME HERE TODAY

The fast Douglasville and Hapeville nines will meet this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park in the first game of a two-game series. The Hapeville team won the pennant in the Suburban league, while the Douglasville nine lays claim to having one of the best amateur teams in north Georgia. The second game of the series will be played Thursday afternoon. Both games will be called at 3 o'clock.

In the outfield they have "Red" Barron from Tech, Roy Carlyle, home-run hitter from Griffin, in the Georgia State league, last year with Oglethorpe, and Essau Settle, from Tech. On first base they have Irvine from Tech; second, Parr from Oglethorpe; short stop, Cosby, local amateur and rated one of the best in Atlanta; third, Gene Kirkland from Hapeville, with Bill Barnhardt, from LaGrange in the Georgia state league, catching. The pitchers are "Lefty" Cowan, who pitched 18 games this summer and won 14 of them, signed by the Crackers for a trial next spring; "Weenie" Collins, from Tech; Farrar, from Georgia last year and who pitched for Copperhill all summer.

This is one of the best teams that could be secured around Atlanta and would make a good showing in the Georgia State league.

LEW TENDLER BATTLES HARD WITH FRIEDMAN

Philadelphia, September 13.—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, won a hard-fought eight-round bout with Sailor Friedman, of Chicago, by a slight margin tonight at the National league park. The fight was fast, both men landing a number of terrific blows. Neither, however, was knocked down.

Tendler was more aggressive than the Chicago boxer and this, with cleaner punches, was a big factor in giving him the popular decision.

It was the third time the two men have met. August 2 they fought an eight-round draw in the same ring in which they met tonight.

SPARTA DEFEATS THOMSON; SCORE 6-5

Sparta, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—In a fast game of ball played on the Sparta diamond this afternoon the locals defeated Thomson by a score of 6 to 5. The visitors had scored fire runs, all that they made during the game, before Sparta was able to get a runner across the home plate. The game had no sensational features, though it was stubbornly contested from start to finish.

A. & M. PLAYER SUFFERS FROM BROKEN LEG

Powder Springs, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—What is probably the first football calamity to happen this year occurred at the Seventh District A. & M. school here this afternoon when Cox, an Atlanta boy, suffered a broken leg, while he was trying out for the varsity team. Gantt, manager of the team, was taking his men through a hard scrimmage when the accident occurred.

LOBBING AND SOBBING.

HOWEVER, ZOO claims she ain't Asiatic champ. Wants another hairpin stab at Molla. Mme. Lingerie is good tennis leaper in Europe. But cream of European tennis is only whipped cream over on our three-mile side of ocean.

MEZZANINE society thinks that Mme. Lingerie's exhibition against Mme. Mallory was rich in oleomargarine tactics. But Molla was two sets of tennis and three sets of hysterics in lead. Zoo didn't have no more chance than hot house in hail storm.

ZOO'S FIRST mistake was crying to opponent under impression that foe was gentleman. She should save those salty showerbaths for boy tennis players. Possible to squawk yourself into victory when you are so beautiful and he is so young. Cleopatra did it. But did it well.

ZOO ASKS for recount. Claims she is combing her hair different way, and thinks she can knock Molla off bough. Zoo is strangeress within our gates and war tax. She is little sister from sister republic, whose bonds of friendliness were woven in peace and war. But there is no peace in tennis. Statue of Liberty hasn't got tennis racquet in her mitt.

NEXT MATCH between querulous champions will be tossed off at Newport, Southhampton or any place where rent is high. Anybody who thinks he is everybody will be there accompanied by his better half of his expense account.

IF ZOO is real champ, she will get a chance to prove clues. But if she wins or cries, Ghunga Dhin is still better man. What Zoo wants to do next time is use more of her racquet and less of her handkerchief.

MOLLA LOOKS like best player on grass, clay or blotting paper courts. But if Zoo can strangle emotion long enough to serve between sobs, there is chance of her copping first prize of one dozen hankies.

Tech-Penn Game Brings Shift

BY WALTER CAMP

Against Shift for Final Test

New York, September 13.—Many eastern football critics seem to be overlooking Michigan in their prognostications of this season's play, but deep-dyed plans for revenge are occupying the attention of "Hurry Up" Yost and his charges and the veteran coach is planning a campaign which will wipe out the memory of last season's defeats by Ohio State, Illinois and Minnesota. Yost will have no chance to get back at his old rival Stagg, as Chicago is not on the Michigan schedule, being replaced by Wisconsin, but from the first day of the season, Yost is going to live up to his nickname.

There are other teams that suffered humiliating defeats last year who plan a 1921 come-back. Colgate is going after its old rivals at Syracuse, Brown and Cornell, with blood in its eye. Doble, the Cornell coach, gets red behind the ears when he thinks of his defeat by Penn last year. Columbia plots revenge against Wesleyan and Stanford is longing for a victory over California, but with little hope of accomplishment this year.

Heisman Shift to Test.

This season is expected to determine the debated value of the Heisman shift which he used so effectively with Georgia Tech. There were times last year when the Penn team showed an uncanny ability to gain ground with the Heisman shift, but it was an inconsistent team and there were days when nothing seemed to go right. Heisman now is drilling his charges in this formation at Cape May and has several old players to form a nucleus for the play. It is not to be expected that it would be mastered by green players the first year. A team that would take a lot of beating could be turned out from the candidates to report for the first week's work of the Yale squad, with Aldrich, Sturm and Jordan in the backfield, O'Hern at quarter, Butler and Cutler on the ends, Quaile and Chamberlain as guards, Croes at center and McKay and Into playing the tackle positions. These men, with the exception of Aldrich and O'Hern, are likely to have little over others of the fifty candidates.

Germans Tax Waistline.

"Business men as well as athletes have recognized for a long time the indirect cost of not keeping physically fit, but the expanded waistline is likely to be a direct charge upon citizens of the German republic. A taxation project has been submitted to the German ministry of finance by which persons with waistlines exceeding normal will be taxed. The plan provides an assessment of 500 marks for the first inch above normal, 1,000 marks for the second inch and 2,000 marks for the third, and so on. It has always been recognized by insurance companies that a long belt was a liability and not an asset, but this is the first time a government has considered making physical unfitness subject to taxation.

GIRLS' NET MEET SEPT. 17

An increasing interest is being demonstrated by girls and young women of this city in the Y. W. C. A. tennis tournament that will be held on the Piedmont park courts with preliminaries beginning next Saturday afternoon, September 17. The trophy will be given by the "Y" for what will be termed "The Y. W. C. A. Tennis Championship."

The following players have registered for the tournament with entries still open: Miss Gertrude Reiley, Miss Mary Mann, Dr. Dorothy Bocker, of the state board of health; Miss Annie Stevens, Miss Rose Adams, Miss Dorothy Morris, Miss Dorothy Fischer, Miss Frances Kern and Mrs. Charles H. Ewing. The tournament is open to all girls of this city who are not professional players. The entrance fee for the tournament is $1, payable at Y. W. C. A. headquarters, Peachtree Arcade. All games will be played on Saturday afternoons to suit the time and convenience of school and business girls. The Y. W. C. A. tennis players are among the best amateurs in Atlanta. They cordially invite a large tournament entry in order that the leading girl amateurs of Atlanta may get together and try out their racquet skill.

PIGEON RACE IS WON BY STODDARD'S BIRDS

The race of prize pigeons from Spartanburg, S. C., to Atlanta, and known as the futurity pigeon classic, was won by W. J. Stoddard, of Piedmont drive. The birds were started on their way at 7 o'clock Sunday in Spartanburg. Pigeons belonging to Mr. Stoddard arrived in the city first. Bragg and Wrigley's birds came second, and Tabler's third.

The final race for the season, it is announced, will be flown from Gastonia, N. C., next Sunday.

DOUGLASVILLE WINS OVER EXPOS. MILLS

Douglasville defeated the fast Exposition cotton mill team on their diamond, 7 to 3, Saturday, September 10, before one of the largest crowds of the season. Feature of the game was the pitching of Baker for Douglasville and the playing of the entire team behind him.

PETE HERMAN MATCHED TO MEET JOHNNY BUFF

New York, September 13.—Pete Herman, world's bantamweight champion, and Johnny Buff, claimant of the flyweight championship, have been matched to meet for the bantamweight title in Madison Square Garden, September 23, Promoter Tex Rickard announced tonight. The boys have agreed to weigh in at 118 pounds at 2 o'clock the day of the contest.

Roy Moore, who was forced to cancel his match with Herman because of an injured right hand, will be unable to enter the ring for two weeks, physicians reported after an X-ray examination today.

Mental Attitude Important Cog in Powerful Tech Machine

Staton Says It's the Mental Stuff That Makes the Difference in Mediocre and Great.

BY AL STATON.

I want to say a word about a side of football that the average man never things about. That side of football is the mental side.

The usual football fan thinks of football only as a game of beef and brawn, where might and power win out. Football may have been that way at some date, but that time has long since passed. Those who saw the last Thanksgiving day game on Grant field witnessed a triumph of skill and brains over beef. A man's mental condition is just as important if not more so than his physical condition. His physical condition may carry him through three-quarters of a hard football game, but it must be the will to go that drags him through the last long stretch. There are many big men who are not good football players.

Have you ever been in the dressing room of a big college team before a game? If you have not, you would be interested immediately, for there is something there which you have not witnessed before, unless you have seen troops going into battle. The first thing you notice is the long line of men sitting dressed around the room on benches. There is no laughing and talking among the men, but every one seems to be in a very serious mood. He is just going out to fight for his school and the things he does or leaves undone may spell defeat or victory for his team.

Real Mottoes Help.

"For Tech my all." "Everybody hates a quitter, but the whole world loves a fighter." "A flunkout is a good player for the other team." "A crab belongs to the ocean." "He who fights and runs away might better have died that very same day." And last, but not least, blazoned across one whole side:

"It ain't the guns nor armament,
Nor the funds that they can pay,
But the close co-operation
That makes them win the day;
It ain't the individual,
Nor the army as a whole,
But the everlasting teamwork

The spirit illustrated by the above epigrams is the spirit which every football coach tries to instill into his men and that is the spirit that sometimes carries a lighter and weaker team to victory over a stronger opponent.

We have something unusual down on the field this year. Plenty of big men. How many football players over 190 pounds can you recall on a Tech team? Today there are just four men who weigh over 225 pounds. These men are Carroll, Holley, Stevens and Werner. All are freshmen and the casual thinker would say, "What wonderful football material," but the records show that their weight will handicap them. If they ever make the team it will be in spite of, and not because of their weight. Our team last year averaged less than 170 pounds to the man just before the Thanksgiving game.

Team Heavier in Line.

Speaking of weight, the team this year will outweigh last year's team somewhat. Here are the weights at present: J. Staton, 172, nine pounds lighter; Charley Johnson, 195, 20 pounds more than Bill Fincher weighed the last of last season; Dave LeBey, 170, the same as last season; Daddy Amis, 180, 10 pounds heavier than last year; Oscar Davis, 185, two pounds heavier than last year; Granger, 165, one pound lighter than I weighed at that tackle last year; Al Staton, 187, one pound heavier than Batterman of last year; Jack McDonough, 165, the same as last year; Frank Ferst, 140; 10 pounds lighter than Buck Flowers; Red Barron, 175, five pounds heavier, and Judy Harlan, 180, the same as last year.

The work today was the lightest we have had since we started. The strenuous line work of yesterday left some of the men bruised and sore and the coaches thought the rest would do them good. New plays were given to the varsity, and we are now in a position to play a game. We now have in operation twenty-two different plays, as many as the average team uses in a season. Before we finish, however, we will run our total up to about 92, which is the usual number that a Tech team carries on its list.

Saturday week and rarin' to go. We are all praying for cold weather, and maybe it will come before the first game, the 24th of September.

JOCK AND JIM SETTING MORE COURSE RECORDS

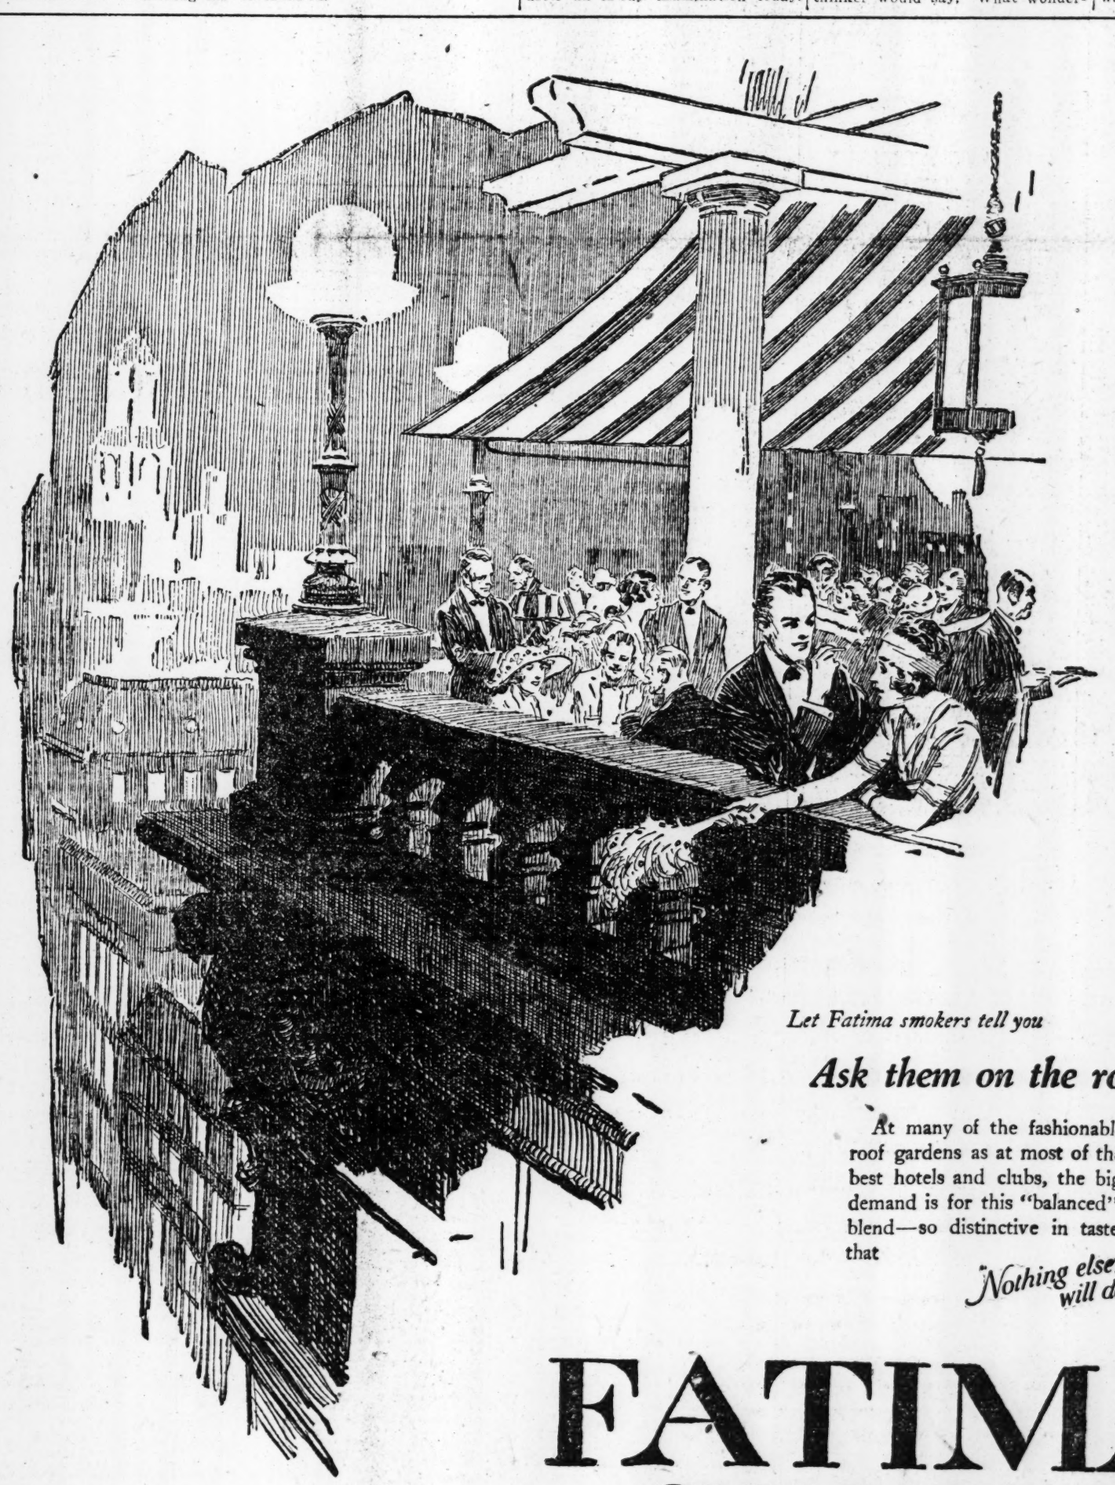

Knoxville, Tenn., September 13.—Jock Hutchison, British open champion, and James M. Barnes, American open champion, today set a new course record for the Cherokee Country club by turning in cards of 69 each in the afternoon round.

In the morning the two professoinals defeated Jimmy Dickson, club professional, and I. L. Graves, holder of the amateur record for the links, 8 up in an 18-hole exhibition match. The visitors finished the first nine holes 1 up, but on the second nine the locals could not stand the pace set by the open champions, who took the last five holes in succession.

During the afternoon round Barnes and Hutchison won from D. M. Rose, Jr., and R. K. Gibson, Jr., two local amateurs, 4 up. Hutchison's score of 33 on the incoming nine and Graves' 34 on the outgoing were the two best scores of the day.

PAL MOORE MATCHED WITH MIDGET SMITH

Chicago, Ill., September 13.—Pal Moore, of Memphis, Tenn., was matched today to meet Midget Smith, New York bantamweight, in a ten-round bout at Aurora on September 23. The match was substituted for a match in which Smith was to have met Jack Sharkey.

Short Selling Invited In Stock Market

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, September 13.—Today's stock market acted as though those who are working for higher prices were inviting short selling. If the upward movement is to continue such tactics would be good leadership. Beyond question the market is now in the hands of a good leader. About four houses again did the bulk of the business, and these four houses are known to have close working connections with Livermore. The opening prices were a fraction lower. Then the market got dull, after which there was an upturn of from 1 to 3 points in Crucible, Wool, Studebaker, Baldwin, Mexican Petroleum. There was another dull period around noon, followed by another upward price movement.

Wheat and cotton acted pretty much like stocks. The late sharp advance in wheat was attributed to buying by Japan at Chicago for the first time in many a long day.

Northern Pacific and Reading were the leaders in the rails. It is now generally believed that Northern Pacific will declare its regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent when the directors meet here on September 21.

Time money for short periods was offered today as low as 5½ per cent, with longer periods at 5¾ to 6. Call money dropped as low as 5, with funds offered on the outside market as low as 4½. The demand for both time and call money was small.

Guaranty Trust company shares, which dropped from around 400 to last week's low price of 148, were 175 bid today and 180 asked. Last week rumors were widely circulated that the quarterly dividend rate of 5 per cent would be passed. Now it is reported that the annual rate will be reduced from 20 per cent to 12.

Conferences are being held here daily by bankers to arrange financing for Cuba cane. It is believed that arrangements for extending the company's floating debts will be satisfactorily arranged. Sinclair Oil now has ten tankers in commission against only six a few weeks ago. This is understood by Wall street to mean that oil exports are looking up.

It is understood that J. P. Morgan & Co. only last week refused to make a bid of par for the $7,500,000 6 per cent railway equipment notes just purchased by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. from the War Finance corporation, that corporation having taken the notes over from the government's holdings of such securities, which amount in all to $310,000,000. The $7,500,000 notes were made up of 1½ millions each of Burlington, Atchison, Northwestern, Jersey Central, Southern Pacific. If a market is quickly found for the notes undoubtedly Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will make additional purchases. And if it works out that way it will not be the first time this private banking firm has shown itself a better judge of market conditions than J. P. Morgan & Co.

New York, September 13.—A continuation of the decline which had been checked by the fluctuation rule yesterday carried the cotton market about 2 to 2 1-2 cents per pound below recent high prices during today's early trading. Offerings then became decidedly smaller and there was a recovery of fully a cent from the lowest. December selling up from 19.10 to 20.19, and closing at 20.02, compared with 19.60 at the close yesterday. The general market closed firm and irregular at a net adavance of 41 to 58 points.

Liverpool was relatively steadier, but the opening here was easy at a net advance of 8 points to a decline of 10 points, and active months sold 35 to 67 points net lower before the end of the morning with October touching at 18.90 and March 19.75. The better showing of the early weather map promoted the liquidation of long contracts and probably some selling for a further reaction on a belief that the attention of the trade was turning from reduced estimates of the yield to the prospect for increasing new crop receipts.

Selling by houses with Liverpool connections was a feature on the break during the first hour, but offerings from that source were light after the close abroad and the market here turned firm during the early afternoon on trade buying, rebuying by old bulls who had taken profits last week and reports that a prominent New Orleans map reader looked for another rainy spell in the southwest.

This view was not shared by local map readers, but it evidently caused some nervousness, while the afternoon advance was also encouraged by bullish private spot advices from the south and reports that one of the Atlanta banks were advertising in Georgia papers that it would advance to 75 per cent of the market value on cotton.

October sold up to 20.00 and March 19.76, while January advanced from 18.90 to 19.90, or about 43 to 65 points net higher on the general list. The close was a few points off from the best under realizing. Private returns indicate domestic consumption 446,000 bales for August compared with 410,000 for July, but the figures attracted little comment.

NEW YORK SPOTS.

HIGHER QUOTATIONS AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, September 13.—Further reports of crop damage in Texas as the result of overflowed bottom lands in some of the richest portions of the state, and the rumor that a private bureau was coming out with a condition report for the entire belt of but 39 per cent of normal, indicating a crop of only 6,555,000 bales, put the price of cotton higher today, following a period of easiness in the early trading, resulting from extensive liquidation of long contracts. At the lowest of the session the trading months were 37 to 64 points under the close of yesterday, from which levels the market worked up to advances of 50 to 73 points over the close of yesterday. Last prices were at net gains on the day of 40 to 60 points. October traded as low as 18.51, rose to 19.65 and closed at 19.55.

The near months were steady at a rise of 1 to 3 points on the opening call, in sympathy with a higher Liverpool than due but the steadiness did not last the call through and immediately after the whole list slumped under pressure from liquidation. There were several partial recoveries from the decline but the recoveries were not sustained until the rumors were heard of a very low private bureau condition report.

In the late trading price movements were much narrower, but the market took on a steadier tone and closed very steady.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS.

New Orleans, September 13.—Spot cotton steady, 50 lower. Sales on the spot 1,002 bales; to arrive, 1,610. Low middling, 17.50; middling, 19.50; good middling, 20.50. Receipts 3,979; stock 399,991.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, September 13.—(Special.)—Refusal of the south to follow our decline of yesterday brought a recovery in this market today after the overnight hedge selling had been absorbed. The market acts well liquidated again, and as on previous declines we find mills picking up contracts. The basis in the south is higher than ever, and reports were received here that southern shippers short of cotton for October were making inquiries regarding the possibility of taking cotton out of New York stock. Advices from all over the south indicate that no undue pressure would be brought to bear on holders to liquidate and we find bankers in other parts of the country agreeing in this attitude. There will not, of course, be the rampant speculation of past years in spot cotton, but the feeling is that the best interests of the country require that the crop be marketed in an orderly manner. We expect an improvement from these prices.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, September 13.—(Special.)—Weakness in cotton this morning resulted from belated liquidation and stop-loss orders being caught. It is notable that Liverpool spot sales were 15,000 again today and futures in that market relatively very steady. Conspicuous in our market on and after the break was trade buying of contracts. The basis for spots is reported at its highest and this seems well founded in view of continued and insistent reports of such a deplorable situation of the crop. Reports of reliable people in scattered sections indicate harvesting only one to two bales to the plow. We will not be surprised to see new high level prices established this week.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, September 13.—Cotton seed oil advanced 18 to 30 points on short covering, prompted by the firm showing in cotton, but later reacted somewhat under selling by the west on the bearish outlook in hogs. Closing bids were 8 to 15 points net higher. Sales, 16,100 barrels; tenders 100 barrels. Prime crude 7.75 bid, prime summer yellow spot 9.80@10, October 9.74, December 9.54 and March 9.75, all bid.

SENOIA HOLDS FARMERS' MEETING

Senoia, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Under the auspices of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, a farmers' business meeting was held at Senoia Saturday to discuss ways and means of meeting the present crisis in crop conditions, with J. J. Brown, state commissioner of agriculture, as principal speaker.

Other speakers were E. H. Tucker, agricultural development agent of the A., B. & A. railroad, and B. M. Drake, county agricultural demonstrator.

The meeting was well attended by farmers from Coweta, Meriweather and Fayette counties, and will be followed by a farmers' local business organization.

Arrested for Murder.

Sergent, Ky., September 13.—(Special.)—Ollie L. Kilbourne, 18, wanted at Lothair, charged with the murder of Wilburn Redey, 16-year-old son of Henry Redey, about a month ago, has been arrested in north Georgia and will be returned to Lothair for trial at once. It is said that Kilbourne struck the Redey boy with a billiard cue while engaged in a pool game, and escaped. The Redey boy is a member of a prominent family, his father being a coal operator and known throughout the south.

STRONG TONE SHOWN IN STOCKS

New York, September 13.—The stock market was hesitant at the outset of today's less expansive dealings, but by noon and for the remainder of the session a firm to strong undertone prevailed, notwithstanding occasional bearish activities.

Relaxed conditions in the money market and subsidence of the recent disquieting fluctuations in grains and cotton probably contributed to the better feeling in speculative circles. German exchange rallied slightly, but most other foreign remittances were inclined to react.

Initial dealings seemed to be influenced by further cuts in wages of steel operatives, reports of curtailed production in the New England textile industry and passing of the United Drug dividend. The latter stock made a new low record, but this was more than retrieved later.

Financial interests seemed hopeful of favorable action by the senate on the railroad financing bill and the vast oversubscription to the new $600,000,000 treasury notes was cited as additional proof of a sound investment situation.

More than half of the day's trading was limited to established favorites, notably the Mexican Oils, General Asphalt, Baldwin and American Locomotives, Crucible and United States Steels and Studebaker. Rails were apathetic until the final hour when news on the regular dividend on Great Northern strengthened most investment transportations and extended to popular junior rails. Gross gains of 1 to 4 points suffered slight impairment at the active finish.

Call loans opened at 5 1-2 per cent on the exchange, but dropped to 5 per cent when it was found that outside offerings were being freely made on a 4 1-2 per cent basis. Time money was more plentiful and merchants paper was in better demand.

Firmer conditions ruled in the broader bond market, convertible rails again being favored. Liberty issues were mainly better, internationals including Mexicans, eased variably. Total sales par value $13,275,000.

Coffee.

New York, September 13.—There was a further decline in the market for coffee futures today owing to the unsettled showing of the Brazilian cables, apprehensions that the recent unsettled ruling of European exchange rates might interfere with any broadening of continental demand for coffee in the primary markets and further liquidation or realizing. September 7.14, October 7.20, December 7.44, January 7.52, March 7.75, May 7.67, July 8.00.

Spot coffee was reported in less active demand, with quotations on the basis of 7⅞ for Rio 7s and 10¾@11¾ for Santos 4s. Brazilian port receipts, 49,000; Jundiahy, 29,000. Rio cleared 5,300 for New York.

MATERIAL UPTURN IN WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, September 13.—Argentine brought advices together with some revival of export business in this country led to a material upturn today in the price of wheat. The market closed firm 2 1-4 to 3 1-2 cents net higher. Corn finished unchanged to 1-4@3-8 higher; oats up 1-4 to 1-2@5-8, and provisions varying from 25 cents decline to 50 cents gain.

Bulls in what were prompt to take advantage of the failure of predictions for rain in Argentina. It was contended in various quarters that the Argentine crop would be able to endure dry weather for 20 to 30 days yet without suffering irreparable damage. On the other hand the apparently increasing likelihood of serious curtailment of the Argentine yield was given as the chief reason for numerous orders to purchase. During the resultant upturn, houses that were conspicuous sellers of late became the chief buyers. Meanwhile, estimates were current that export business for the day totalled 1,000,000 bushels, and there was gossip that for the first time since 1914 Japan was acquiring wheat on a large scale. Only a moderate reaction in prices was caused by late sales to realize profits.

Corn and oats sympathized with the strength of wheat. Rural offerings of corn were said to have fallen off to a decided extent.

White Potatoes.

Chicago, September 13.—Potatoes easy; Idaho whites, sacked, $2.90@3 cwt.; Minnesota Red River, Ohios, $2.85@3 cwt.

Sugar.

New York, September 13.—The raw sugar market was easier and prices were ⅛c lower for Porto Ricos to the basis of 4.25 for centrifugal. Cubas, however, were unchanged at 4.86 for centrifugal. There were sales of 45,000 bags of Porto Ricos to a local refiner at 4.25 for centrifugal.

The raw sugar futures market was easier owing to the unsettled feeling in the spot market and prices sold at new low records. Trade interests and houses with Cuban connections were the principal sellers, and trading was a little more active, with final quotations 4 to 13 points net lower. October closed at 2.63, December 2.44, March 2.34 and May 2.39.

There were no changes in the market for refined sugar, with fine granulated listed at 5.00@5.65. Business was light again, with the demand only of a hand-to-mouth character.

In refined futures there were only a few sales recorded, but the undertone was nervous owing to the unsettled feeling in the spot market. Closing prices were unchanged to 5 points net lower. October and December closed at 5.50 and March and May at 5.45.

Sailings.

Port Eads, September 13.—Arrived: Antonio (German), Tampico; Coppename, Port Barrios; Corozal, Porto Rico; Durango, Amsterdam; El Lago, New York; Fred W. Weller, Tampico; Hibueras (Hond.), Bluefields; Lake Floravista, Tampico; Pioneer, Tampico; Saramacca, Tela; Schoodic, Tampa; Yuma, Frontera. Arrived: Schooner Irages, Tampa. Sailed: Artza Mendi (Span.), Ghent; Carib, Freeport; Headcliffe (Br.), Rio Janeiro; Montana (Nor.), Tampico; Narragansett (Br.), London; O. T. Waring, Jacksonville; Orcus, Tampico; Pencarrow Br.), Emden, Germanp; Penmorvah (Br.), Antwerp; St. Patrice (Fr.), Calais; Schenectady, Manchester.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 13.—Cotton goods sales were small today, except in instances where lower prices were continued in the distribution of stock goods. Yarns advanced sharply. Men's wear lines were dull, owing in part to the mild weather delaying fall retailing. Burlaps were higher. Silks were quiet.

FRIENDS OF IRISH REPUBLIC TO HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The Atlanta branch of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish republic will hold an important special meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Carnegie library, according to announcement of the executive committee. James A. Harvey, secretary of the association and prominent insurance man, who has been in New Orleans for two weeks on account of bad health, will be present.

BAIL WILL BE ASKED FOR MRS. WILLIAMS

Judge John Humphries, of Fulton superior court, will hear arguments today on application for bail for Mrs. Harry Williams, who has been in the Tower since September 9, with her husband, under indictment for the murder of Jack Pierce September 4. Williams has retained Attorneys H. A. Allen and Fred E. Harrison to represent him and his wife, who were jointly indicted. The attorneys filed the application for the release of Mrs. Williams Tuesday, but no application has yet been made for bail for the husband. The two Williams children, aged 2 and 4 years, respectively, are at the Tower with their parents.

The shooting took place on Simpson street, in front of a tent in which the Williams were living.

METHODISTS CALL FOR END TO WARS

London, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The world's Methodist conference yesterday afternoon adopted a vigorously-worded resolution calling for international disarmament and the complete abolishment of war. This action was taken after a spirited controversy over the question as to whether mention should be made in the resolution of the league of nations.

The conference decided to adopt a resolution which did not mention the league, and to ask the business committee to frame a separate resolution dealing with the league which will be voted on later.

The resolution adopted says the conference, "speaking in the name and on behalf of 32,000,000 followers, declares, without hesitation or reservation, its belief in the absolute necessity for international disarmament and the complete abolition of war."

"Sitting in the shadow of the most terrible conflict in human history, with its unparalleled waste in human life and property, and with its inevitable after math of human sorrow and its burden of woe, we declare war an unmitigated curse to humanity," the resolution continues.

"On behalf of millions of youths who suffered and died; on behalf of millions of homes broken by bereavement; in the name of the silent multitudes who still suffer, we insist that our statesmen and leaders find a way for the settlement of international differences by other than arbitrament of arms. We repudiate the doctrine that war is a necessity. Justice, not force, must be the final arbiter of right. Difference must be settled by reason, not by human slaughter."

The resolution says that if there are those who refuse to listen to reason, "then let a way be found by which such Ishmaelites may feel the collective disapproval of the world."

The conference, the resolution adds, advocates no plan, but it calls upon the authorities to "give themselves, without reserve, to the Christian task of finding a substitute for war." It condemns armaments and says the conference especially appeals to the meeting that is soon to be held at Washington to discuss limitation of armaments, "that no word be left unsaid nor deed undone that shall help relieve the world of its burden of armaments and the threat of war."

GIVEN CONCESSION FOR OIL PIPE LINE

Mexico City, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Clay T. Yerby, of Los Angeles, Cal., has been granted a concession to construct a.. oil pipe line from Puerto, Mexico, on the Gulf coast, to Salina Cruz, on the shore of the Pacific. Announcement that this concession has been granted was made here last night by J. Y. Flynn, representative in Mexico City of Mr. Yerby. It was said the pipe line would follow the Tehuantepec railroad, and that the concession gave Mr. Yerby the right to use federal lands, terminals and port facilities.

Mr. Flynn said that more than one pipe line would be laid, but that work on the first, a ten-inch line, would begin at once and would be completed within twenty-six months. The concession will run eighteen years after the work of laying the line is completed.

It is estimated that the cost of the work will be $10,000,000 gold, and it is pointed out that by means of the pipe line the time of transporting oil from the east to the west coast of Mexico will be cut down by eleven days, and the distance covered will be 2,300 miles less than through the Panama canal.

Some months ago it was said that the United States shipping board had made a futile attempt to obtain a similar concession so that it might provide a supply of fuel oil for the Pacific fleet.

Immigration Law Defied by Woman For Sister's Sake

New York, September 13.—Stefania Watrobska, of Westport, Conn., who came here eight years ago from Poland, worked hard and saved her money against the day when she could send for the rest of her family. War and famine swept over her native land and this spring Stefania learned that the only one left was her younger sister Karolina. She sent the passage money and waited anxiously for Karolina's arrival.

When she went to Ellis Island she learned that Karolina had arrived too late; that Poland's quota of immigrants for September had been filled and she would have to return to Poland. Karolina was heartbroken and desperate. She would never go back to the misery she had left. She would kill herself first, she said.

Stefania made a sudden resolve. She would return in her sister's place. She put her American-made hat and coat on Karolina. Then she gave her pass to New York and bade her go to friends who were waiting for her.

Stefania's ruse was discovered after several days when she refused to eat. She was brought before the federal commissioner yesterday charged with aiding an alien unlawfully to enter the country, but was so weak that her case was postponed. The immigration men say she will have to go back to Poland if her sister is not found. But Stefania refuses to tell where Karolina is.

CHALLENGE TO DUEL, AFTER CONGRESS ROW

Havana, September 13.—Disorders arising from a clash between Representatives Juan Espinosa and Lucilo de la Pena, resulted yesterday in a challenge being sent by Espinosa to his opponent in the dispute and brought the session of the lower house of congress to an abrupt close. The encounter began when de la Pena was speaking during the course of a debate.

TWO NEGROES HELD, FOLLOWING MURDER

Columbia, S. C., September 13.—Following the murder and robbery of Sidney Manheim, station agent here, whose body was found this morning, two negroes have been arrested by a posse and are in the Columbia jail.

One of the negroes was trailed down by bloodhounds at Riverton, near here. The other, with a sack of money in his possession, was taken at Grayson. Manheim was killed by being struck in the head with a rock. Sheriff McClanahan stated tonight that he does not anticipate any attempt to lynch the negroes.

ACETYLENE EXPLOSION INJURES POWER PLANT

Fire caused by an explosion of an acetylene tank resulted in considerable damage to the Butler street power station of the Georgia Railway and Power company Tuesday. The tank was being dismantled when the explosion occurred. The flames spread to some woodwork around the windows on one side of the building, and upwards to a portion of the roof. The fire was quickly extinguished.

WHAT ARE KRYPTOK BIFOCALS?
They are a combination of glass, allowing you to see both near and far with one solid glass. No removing your reading glass to see distant objects; no seams, lines or blisters to worry you or attract attention of others to your age. Absolutely invisible while on the face, they have proven a revelation to thousands who have come to us for them. Why are we successful with Kryptoks? Because we are extremely careful in the examination of your eyes, the correct grinding of the glass, and perfect adjustment of frames to each individual face, all of which is absolutely necessary to insure comfort and appearance. If you have Kryptoks bought elsewhere and cannot use them, bring them to us and we will find the trouble. Ask the better oculists or any of our patients what the Ballard service is to the public.

A PROCLAMATION

GEORGIA—By Thos. W. Hardwick, Governor of Said State.

Whereas, official information has been received at this department that James T. Norris was murdered on the night of September 7, 1921, at the crossing of the A., B. & A. railroad by the Fairburn road by unknown parties, who have escaped and are now fugitives from justice.

I have thought proper, therefore, to issue this my proclamation, hereby offering a reward of five hundred dollars for the apprehension and delivery of said unknown parties, with evidence sufficient to convict, to the sheriff of Fulton county and state.

And I do, moreover, charge and require all officers in this state, civil and military, to be vigilant in endeavoring to apprehend the said unknown parties in order that he may be brought to trial for the offense with which he stands charged.

Given under my hand and seal of the state, this the 8th day of September, 1921.

THOS. W. HARDWICK, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. G. MCLENDON, Secretary of State.

Bankrupt Sale of Grocery Stock and Fixtures

For Lease For Term of Fifty Years

The most desirable and centrally located piece of ground in the city of Atlanta, suitable for large hotel, arcade, office building, department stores, or theater, obtainable.

Approximate size of ground 150 feet on Peachtree street, 400 feet on Cain street and 150 feet on Spring street.

The governor's mansion leasing commission will receive sealed bids for the property as a whole, or any part thereof, at the governor's office, state capitol, Atlanta, Ga., on the 12th day of October, 1921, at 10 o'clock a. m., reserving the right to reject any and all bids. Conditions are that bidder or bidders should specify the part of ground bid for, and the character of building and improvements they propose to make. Said improvements to revert to the state of Georgia at the termination of the lease.

The lessees shall be required to keep the building and improvements insured for the benefit of the state as their respective interest may appear. The lessees shall keep the buildings and improvements in repair at their own expense to the satisfaction of the governor, secretary of state and attorney-general and their successors in office. Appropriate penalty for their failure to do so shall be named in contract.

The building and improvements shall be up-to-date. The material and construction of the best in the United States. The actual plans and specifications must be embodied in the future contract to the satisfaction of the commission, the state reserving the right to place an inspector on the building during the construction period, to see that the plans and specifications are absolutely complied with to the letter, cost of inspector not exceeding $200 per month, shall be borne by the lessees.

When the contract is made and plans and specifications are accepted and made a part of the lease no changes or alterations can be made without the written consent of the governor, secretary of state and attorney-general of the state of Georgia.

The lessees shall be required to give surety bond for the payment of the rental during the construction of improvements. The rental shall be payable quarterly in advance; time being the essence of the contract, payment shall be made 12 o'clock, noon, on the last day of December, March, June and September. Failure to pay at the above date and time shall give the right to the state to forfeit the lease and take possession of land and improvements.

Failure of the lessees to pay insurance sixty days after due shall give the governor, secretary of state and attorney-geenral the right, on ten days' notice, to declare the lease and improvements forfeited and forcibly take possession of the premises.

Bidders shall deposit with each bid certified check in the sum of $5,000 as evidence of good faith, and guaranteeing faithful compliance with the terms of the contract, in event lease is awarded to such bidder. All checks to be returned to unsuccessful bidders.
